Agreement Vows Just Canal Pact

U.S., Panama Move To Restore Ties

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Panama are moving quickly to restore normal diplomatic relations and are expected to open talks soon on their differences over the Panama Canal.

3-Month Crisis

A new agreement pledging them to work out a "just and fair" settlement was concluded at a meeting of the Organization of American States Friday. It finally brought to an end the crisis in U.S.-Panama relations which began three months ago with an argument over flying flags in the Panama Canal Zone and erupted into mob violence that cost more than a score of lives. Relations betweeen the countries were severed Jan. 17.

President Johnson said the day of agreement was "a great day for the American people, for Panama, for all the Western Hemisphere and for all freedom-loving people everywhere."

"Panama can be confident, as we are confident," Johnson told Latin - American ambassadors and U.S. officials at the White House in late affernoon, "that we each desire an agreement that protects the interests and recognizes the needs of both our nations."

LBJ, Chiari Talk

After the agreement had been signed with considerable fanfare, Johnson spoke by telephone with President Roberto Chiari of Panama.

A few hours later Panama named Miguel Moreno Jr., its ambassador to the Organization of American States, as its new envoy to Washington.

Johnson is expected to announce a new ambassador to Panama in a day or so. Indications are the appointment will go to Jack Hood Vaughn, 43, Latin-American director of the Peace Corps who has had long experience in international affairs and some service in Panama.

The President already has designated Robert A. Anderson, a Texan who was secretary of the Treasury in the Eisenhower administration, to serve as a special emissary seeking an end to the differences between the two countries.

The long deadlock which several times had seemed close to a breakthrough, finally was broken, it appeared, by the conciliatory public statement Johnson made March 21 and the responsive declaration three days later by Chiari.

Opening for Mediation

This gave an opening for mediation by Juan Bautista de Lavalle, chairman of the OA Council. Associates said he had worked in secrecy until he finally had an agreement nailed down and notified the OAS of his success only Friday, two hours before the accord was

GENERAL DOUGLAS MacARTHUR

Fear Death Near As Coma Deepens

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur is in a coma which is "gradually deepening," and other vital functions are becoming increasingly difficult to sustain, Army doctors announced today.

The report came from Lt. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, who said he was giving "an ominous report," but added that "miracles can always happen."

Heaton is surgeon general of the Army and the chief surgeon in MacArthur's case. His comment about miracles came when he was asked if there was any possibility of recovery for MacArthur. It seemed obvious from his manner and speech, however, that he expected no such miracle in the present case.

Heaton said the fact that he himself had come to make the report to newsmen indicated that it is an "ominous" situation at present. Others on the hospital staff have usually delivered the reports.

Heaton was accompanied by Brig. Gen. Henry S. Murphey, commander of the Walter Reed Army Hospital, and by Col. Thomas Whalen, chief surgeon.

Heaton made this opening statement:

Peaceful Coma

"Gen. MacArthur continues in a peaceful coma which is gradually deepening.

"This is primarily due to a liver failure. The other major vital signs and functions are becoming increasingly difficult to sustain."

It was when a reporter asked Heaton what the outlook for MacArthur was, that Heaton replied gravely "this is an ominous report," and said that if death came it would certainly "not. . . be a matter of weeks."

The 84-year-old general of the Army slipped into a coma Friday night.

Through the night, a medical team was in constant attendance in the double recovery room of which the general is the sole occupant. Earlier in the evening his wife, Jean, was a frequent visitor.

No Obvious Change

Doctors reported as late as 9 p.m. (EST) that there was no obvious change in the vital signs—that the heart beat and

Tornado Kills 7 In Texas, Loss Put at $2 Million

Damage was estimated unofficially at $2 million.

The white and gray twister, viewed in horror by many standing in downtown streets and watching local television, drilled through the city's northwestern suburbs and nearby Sheppard Air Force Base.

An estimated total of 240 homes were demolished in a half-mile swath carved by the funnel, its leaning, S-shaped form weaving like a snake against patches of blue sky.

Cars were hurled through the air. Bed springs, mattresses and household furnishings soared among debris into the streets.

At Sheppard the walls of a hangar collapsed around 300 airmen momentarily trapped. The funnel lifted as it approached Sheppard School where children huddled in halls while debris rained about the building.

"'I just can't believe we managed to come through it," said R. B. Bentley, 30, grocery store owner who saved his wife and daughter, 2, by pushing them into a walk-in ice box.

Gov. John B. Connally called out 100 National Guardsmen to help keep order after the storm.

Alaskans Reeled by New Shock

Tremor All Over Within 30 Seconds

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Another major tremor, the second in a week, lent a wary air to activities in the quake-stricken Anchorage area today.

The temblor, one of some half a hundred aftershocks since the major earthquake of March 27, set buildings asway Friday and sent office workers and shoppers scurrying into the streets of downtown Anchorage.

No Casualties

Police reported no casualties and had no reports of major damage to buildings or homes in this area. Last week's tremor left 129 known dead or missing and presumed dead.

The University of Washington seismograph office said that the quake had registered 7.5 on the Richter earthquake intensity scale, substantially under the force of the massive tremor of Good Friday, which registered 8.7.

The new shock was felt in Fairbanks, Juneau, Yakutat, Kodiak, Seward, Valdez and Cordova. The last four communities, as well as Anchorage, suffered severe damage a week ago.

State Civil Defense officials clustered around their "hot line" an emergency circuit linking the cities of south-central Alaska, when the shock hit, apprehensive about the safety of neighboring communities.

Gentle Rocking Motion

But, one by one, the surrounding cities checked in to report that while the quake had been felt, it was slight in their areas and had apparently centered near Anchorage. There were no reports of unusual wave action.

The quake began with a gentle rocking motion at 12:41 p.m. and quickly picked up in intensity. A deep, rumbling could be heard distinctly, and people ran to the center of downtown streets in brilliant sunshine to watch the buildings around them.

Then, just as suddenly as it started, the quake eased off. Within 30 seconds it was over, and people picked up quickly where they had left off a few moments before.

Will Name Group To Frisco Meet

Endorsement of the candidacy of Congressman J. Ernest Wharton and State Sen. E. Ogden Bush and the naming of candidates for four county offices are expected at the annual Ulster County Republican unofficial convention which opened at 11 o'clock today at the municipal auditorium.

Endorsements Due

Delegates to the convention were expected to endorse the candidacy of Congressman Wharton of the 28th Congressional District (Ulster, Dutchess, Schoharie, Greene, Columbia), and Sen. Bush of the 34th Senatorial District (Ulster, Greene, Delaware, Sullivan). Both have been recommended at district conventions.

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock, who as county Republican chairman will preside, is expected to be named by delegates to succeed himself in the Assembly.

Approximately 300 delegates are expected to attend.

Greene County delegates pledged to the candidacy of Lloyd A. Newcombe, Catskill business man will ask for convention endorsement of Newcombe in place of Sen. Bush to run for the State Senate post.

After Newcombe's defeat in the unofficial 34th Senatorial District convention held here in March, he pledged an all-out fight in the GOP primaries on June 2. He has been actively campaigning here and in other counties of the district for support of convention delegates.

Bush Ending 4th Term

Sen. Bush, a resident of Delancey, Delaware County, is completing his fourth two-year term in the State Senate. He also served five years in the Assembly and now enjoys top seniority on important committee posts.

Others to be named are Assistant District Attorney Joseph L. Torraca of Marlboro, who annouced his candidacy for the office of Ulster County District Attorney. That announcement came shortly after District Attorney David W. Corwin of New Paltz announced he would not seek reelection.

The delegates are also expected to endorse Frederick H. DuBois of New Paltz, county treasurer, to succeed himself.

Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerbonkson will also be named for renomination by convention delegates.

A resolution asking approval of delegates and alternates to the national GOP convention in San Francisco next July also will be offered during today's proceedings. The recommendations are Wilson and Myrtle Tinklepaugh of Livingston as delegates, and Roy C. Ketchum of Poughkeepsie and Neal Brandow of West Coxsackie as alternates. All

Split Too Wide To Close: Nikita

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev has bitterly denounced the Red Chinese in the strongest indication yet that the ideological breach between Moscow and Peking is too wide to close.

Khrushchev predicted that the world's Communist parties would close ranks against the Chinese and emerge from the struggle "even stronger and more hardened than before."

His new attack o the Red Chinese Friday coincided with Pravda's publication in Moscow of a violent condemnation of Peking and a call for a world Communist showdown conference to read the other Red giant out of the movement.

The Soviet leader, speaking at a rally on the eve of the 19th anniversary of Hungary's liberation by Soviet troops, assailed the Chinese as "splitters."

He denounced "the grave danger inherent in their subversive activity within the Socialist camp and the international Communist movement."

"There can be no doubt," Khrushchev declared, "that the Marxist-Leninist parties will rally ever closer together under the great banner of Marx-Engels-Lenin in the struggle against the (Chinese) splitters of Marxist-Leninist parties.

Stronger Than Ever

"They will emerge from this struggle even stronger and more hardened than before and will lead the working class, the working people, to new historic victories of socialism and communism!"

Obviously referring to the Red Chinese, he asserted that "nobody will be able to divert them (pro-Moscow Communists) from the only correct Leninist road."

Khrushchev called for creation of "some organization for the correlation of foreign policy" among members of the Warsaw Pact and the Communist Council for Mutual Economic Assistance.

This would be a legalistic method of reading Peking out of the movement because Red China is not a member of either organization and would be excluded from a role in the decisions of the other Communist nations.

Also Criticizes U. S.

Khrushchev also criticized the United States, charging that developments in Cyprus, South Viet Nam, Latin America and Africa had shown that "imperialism, American imperialism in the first place, is the main enemy of the freedom of the peoples."

He pledged the support of the Moscow-led bloc to "the peoples fighting for the achievement of consolidation of their political and economic independence."

This pledge, coupled with the attack on the United States, was an obvious effort to undercut Chinese charges that the Kremlin had sold out to Washington in this area.

Knaust Estate Is Reported Sold To Area Family

A deed conveying "Stroomzeit," the 73-acre estate of Herman Knaust of Saugerties, to Mildred K. Montano, Pauline M. Montano and the Rev. Edward J. Montano of Saugerties, has been filed in the Ulster County clerk's office.

The spacious residential estate on the west bank of the Hudson in Saugerties was recently advertised for sale under the provisions of Section 6335 of the Internal Revenue Code for nonpayment of delinquent internal revenue taxes due from Herman and Katherine M. Knaust. However, the property was withdrawn from sale a few days later when it was announced the lien had been satisfied. The property consists of two parcels and only the right, title and interest of Herman and Katherine M. Knaust was offered for sale.

The purchasers were represented by Attorney G. Thomas Rea of Saugerties, who said he had no comment on the transfer of the premises, or the future use of the property.

The Montano family operates Montano's Shoe Store at 77 Partition Street, Saugerties.

There had been prior reports that a local religious organization had been interested in acquiring the premises as a retreat.

Ex-Brazil Chief Flees To Uruguay

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Deposed leftist President Joao Goulart fled into exile in neighboring Uruguay today, police said, while his successor tackled the formidable job of untangling Brazil's chaotic economy.

Goulart crossed the border before dawn with his brother-in-law, Leonel Brizola, a pro-Communist member of Congress, said a Uruguayan police official, thus ending a two-day mystery about their whereabouts.

Vows Return

Goulart's pretty wife, Maria Teresa, and their two children arrived by small plane outside Montevideo, Uruguay, Friday. She said she expected to be reunited with her husband soon and added: "We shall make our home here until the situation is clear in Brazil, and then we shall return."

The police official said Goulart and Brizola were at the ranch of a friend in a small town 19 miles from the Brazilian border.

With Goulart in flight, Brazil's new president, Paschoal Ranieri Mazzilli, 54, moved swiftly with U.S. blessing to return the country to normal in the wake of the anti-Communist upheaval.

Calls Regime Bridge

He met with newsmen in Rio de Janeiro shortly after his arrival from Brasilia and introduced members of his provisional Cabinet. He described his government as a "bridge between the old situation and the situation to come."

Carefully measuring his words, the former conservative president of the Chamber of Deputies also said he would return Brazil to its "traditional foreign policy." Under Goulart, Brazil had warmed up to the

Fire Truck, Cars in Crash

Officials Push Probe Of RR Station Blaze

Two firefighters escaped injury and two car passengers were shaken up when the car was en route to the scene.

Firefighters were summoned to the railroad depot blaze about 11 o'clock. Minutes later Engine 3 from Cornell station which was responding to the alarm, was in collision with a 1962 suburban car driven by Eugene Smith, 37, of 80 Chapel Street, at the intersection of West Chester Street and Broadway. Mrs. Rae Smith, 30, and Rose Smith 15, both of the Chapel Street address, passengers in the car, were treated at Kingston Hospital and released. Smith told police he was driving west on West Chester Street and the fire engine was traveling north on Broadway when the accident occurred. The Smith vehicle was damaged on the left rear.

Russell Kahrs, driver of the fire appartus, and Lt. Alexander Maines, who was riding the vehicle, escaped injury.

Fast work by fire fighters prevented spread of the railroad building fire beyond the first floor. Officials said the noted

Measles Total Exceeds All of '63 by 90 Cases

Ulster county's high frequency of German measles reported to health authorities during the first quarter of 1964, indicates to a great extent the probablity that this year could be one of the worst in recent times.

Dr. Theodore S. Drachman, Ulster county commissioner of health, reported today that for the first three months, January, February and March, a total of 120 cases of the disease was reported to his office. Sixteen cases were reported in this city and 104 in the county.

Columbia County health authorities report the measles situation there had reached the epidemic stage, or high frequency.

Dr. Julia Freitag, assistant director of epidemiology for the State Health Department, said the present outbreak, which extends throughout New York State, is caused by "the cyclic nature of the disease."

Columbia County records on Wednesday showed 126 cases for the first quarter of 1964, compared to 54 cases during all of last year.

Dr. Drachman explained that parents, with children who come down with German measles, not always have a doctor, and many cases are not reported to health officials. He said only 11 cases were reported in this county for the first quarter period of 1963, and for the entire year only 30 cases—five in this city and 25 in the county—were reported.

The county health commissioner said that for the five-year period, 1958-62 the average num-

Concerts Group Bringing N.Y. Philharmonic Here

The New York Philharmonic Orchestra, the most widely heard orchestra in the nation today, will be brought to Kingston next season by the Kingston Community Concert Association. Memberships in the audience which will include two other top programs must be subscribed within the next few weeks.

The history of the New York Philharmonic, founded in 1842, is richly inscribed with names of great artists and great musical events. Its continuing pioneering efforts in the 20th century have deeply influenced the course of musical life in the United States.

Touring with the orchestra as conductor will be Josef Krips, musical director of the San Francisco Symphony who has been engaged to conduct the Philharmonic for eight weeks next year. Since his debut with the New York Orchestra in 1961 he has conducted in virtually every important musical center of the world. He is a native of Vienna and following World War 2 was responsible for reviving the musical life there.

Tornado Kills 7 In Texas, Loss Put at $2 Million

Damage was estimated unofficially at $2 million.

The white and gray twister, viewed in horror by many standing in downtown streets and watching local television, drilled through the city's northwestern suburbs and nearby Sheppard Air Force Base.

An estimated total of 240 homes were demolished in a half-mile swath carved by the funnel, its leaning, S-shaped form weaving like a snake against patches of blue sky.

Cars were hurled through the air. Bed springs, mattresses and household furnishings soared among debris into the streets.

At Sheppard the walls of a hangar collapsed around 300 airmen momentarily trapped. The funnel lifted as it approached Sheppard School where children huddled in halls while debris rained about the building.

"'I just can't believe we managed to come through it," said R. B. Bentley, 30, grocery store owner who saved his wife and daughter, 2, by pushing them into a walk-in ice box.

Gov. John B. Connally called out 100 National Guardsmen to help keep order after the storm.

Human Rights Is Going to Release Facts on Charges

The Kingston Human Rights Commission, meeting Friday with Mayor John J. Schwenk, exhibited concern over demonstrations occurring in the uptown area by groups of Kingston citizens. The incidents have caused varied public comment by many citizens but the commission has been unable, thus far, to determine the facts in the case.

The commission is presently

Measles Total Exceeds All of '63 by 90 Cases

Ulster county's high frequency of German measles reported to health authorities during the first quarter of 1964, indicates to a great extent the probablity that this year could be one of the worst in recent times.

Dr. Theodore S. Drachman, Ulster county commissioner of health, reported today that for the first three months, January, February and March, a total of 120 cases of the disease was reported to his office. Sixteen cases were reported in this city and 104 in the county.

Columbia County health authorities report the measles situation there had reached the epidemic stage, or high frequency.

Dr. Julia Freitag, assistant director of epidemiology for the State Health Department, said the present outbreak, which extends throughout New York State, is caused by "the cyclic nature of the disease."

Columbia County records on Wednesday showed 126 cases for the first quarter of 1964, compared to 54 cases during all of last year.

Dr. Drachman explained that parents, with children who come down with German measles, not always have a doctor, and many cases are not reported to health officials. He said only 11 cases were reported in this county for the first quarter period of 1963, and for the entire year only 30 cases—five in this city and 25 in the county—were reported.

The county health commissioner said that for the five-year period, 1958-62 the average num-

Fire Truck, Cars in Crash

Officials Push Probe Of RR Station Blaze

Two firefighters escaped injury and two car passengers were shaken up when the car was en route to the scene.

Firefighters were summoned to the railroad depot blaze about 11 o'clock. Minutes later Engine 3 from Cornell station which was responding to the alarm, was in collision with a 1962 suburban car driven by Eugene Smith, 37, of 80 Chapel Street, at the intersection of West Chester Street and Broadway. Mrs. Rae Smith, 30, and Rose Smith 15, both of the Chapel Street address, passengers in the car, were treated at Kingston Hospital and released. Smith told police he was driving west on West Chester Street and the fire engine was traveling north on Broadway when the accident occurred. The Smith vehicle was damaged on the left rear.

Russell Kahrs, driver of the fire appartus, and Lt. Alexander Maines, who was riding the vehicle, escaped injury.

Fast work by fire fighters prevented spread of the railroad building fire beyond the first floor. Officials said the noted

Jack Lefler, Associated Press business news writer, discusses the business upturn in today's column on Page 14.

Concerts Group Bringing N.Y. Philharmonic Here

The New York Philharmonic Orchestra, the most widely heard orchestra in the nation today, will be brought to Kingston next season by the Kingston Community Concert Association. Memberships in the audience which will include two other top programs must be subscribed within the next few weeks.

The history of the New York Philharmonic, founded in 1842, is richly inscribed with names of great artists and great musical events. Its continuing pioneering efforts in the 20th century have deeply influenced the course of musical life in the United States.

Touring with the orchestra as conductor will be Josef Krips, musical director of the San Francisco Symphony who has been engaged to conduct the Philharmonic for eight weeks next year. Since his debut with the New York Orchestra in 1961 he has conducted in virtually every important musical center of the world. He is a native of Vienna and following World War 2 was responsible for reviving the musical life there.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Michelangelo worked almost two years creating the Pieta of St. Peters. After carving it with chisel and mallot from the flawlessly veined block of carrara marble, he spent untold hours polishing it with pieces of pumice. He wanted to bring out not only the physical beauty of the stone, but also the spiritual beauty of his subjects.

Michelangelo's concept of the masterpiece was revolutionary in his time, for he made Mary younger than Jesus. As he told his friend Condivi ". . . so that the virginity and the eternal purity of the Mother of God could be demonstrated to the world."

He had great conflict in reconciling this concept with those of the church, for until then, Mary had always been portrayed at her true age at the time of the crucifixion. During the struggle within himself and the stone, he wrote a prayer.

Oh make me see Thee, Lord, where'er I go!
If mortal beauty sets my soul on fire,
That flame when near to Thine must needs expire,
And I with love of only Thee shall glow . . ."

His prayer was answered as thousands of people have attested to for the past 463 years. This year, the Pieta will be seen by thousands more at the New York World's Fair. They will see the power of Michelangelo's faith revealed in stone.

Oh make me see Thee, Lord, where'er I go!
If mortal beauty sets my soul on fire,
That flame when near to Thine must needs expire,
And I with love of only Thee shall glow . . ."

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Michelangelo worked almost two years creating the Pieta of St. Peters. After carving it with chisel and mallot from the flawlessly veined block of carrara marble, he spent untold hours polishing it with pieces of pumice. He wanted to bring out not only the physical beauty of the stone, but also the spiritual beauty of his subjects.

Michelangelo's concept of the masterpiece was revolutionary in his time, for he made Mary younger than Jesus. As he told his friend Condivi ". . . so that the virginity and the eternal purity of the Mother of God could be demonstrated to the world."

He had great conflict in reconciling this concept with those of the church, for until then, Mary had always been portrayed at her true age at the time of the crucifixion. During the struggle within himself and the stone, he wrote a prayer.

Oh make me see Thee, Lord, where'er I go!
If mortal beauty sets my soul on fire,
That flame when near to Thine must needs expire,
And I with love of only Thee shall glow . . ."

His prayer was answered as thousands of people have attested to for the past 463 years. This year, the Pieta will be seen by thousands more at the New York World's Fair. They will see the power of Michelangelo's faith revealed in stone.

Oh make me see Thee, Lord, where'er I go!
If mortal beauty sets my soul on fire,
That flame when near to Thine must needs expire,

Theological Dean Is Named at Drew

Dr. Charles Wesley Ranson, professor of ecumenical theology at Drew University has been elected dean of the theological school, President Robert Fisher Oxnam announced today. He succeeds Dr. Bernhard W. Anderson who resigned to become annual professor this year at the American School of Oriental Research in Jerusalem, Jordan. He will return in September to resume his chair as the Henry Anson Butts Professor of Biblical Theology.

Dean Ranson is director of the Theological Education Fund of the World Council of Churches and formerly served as general secretary of the International Missionary Council, which coordinated the work of Protestant missions throughout the world. In 1961-62 he was president of the Methodist Church in Ireland.

From 1929 until 1945 Dean Ranson was in India as a Missionary of the Methodist Missionary Society. During that period he served as warden of Kellett Institute, Madras; visiting lecturer in the Theological College in Bangalore; minister of St. Andrew Church, Simila; acting chaplain to the Viceroy of India; and secretary of the National Christian Council of India, Burma and Ceylon. He received the King George V Jubilee Medal for Public Service in India.

Headed Education Fund

As director of the Theological Education Fund, he has administered the program designed to strengthen theological education and encourage the training of indigenous leadership in the younger churches in Africa, Asia and Latin America. This program was originally established by the International Missionary Council for a five-year period, and was made possible by a grant from the Sealantic Fund with matching funds from Mission Boards of churches of all denominations.

He has attended the meetings of the executive and central commissions of the World Council of Churches and all three assemblies of the World Council of Churches. He attended the World Methodist Convocation on theological education in Sweden in 1961.

Dean Ranson was born in Ballyclare, Northern Ireland and was educated at Queens University, Belfast; Oriel College, Oxford; Edgehill Theological College, Belfast. He received the doctor of theology degree from Kiel University, Germany.

Dean Ranson has been a visiting lecturer at Princeton Theological Seminary, and the Episcopal Theological Seminary, Cambridge, Mass.

He has written several books, including The Things That Abide; The Christian Minister in India; Renewall and Advance (editor); That the World May Know; and has contributed to religious publications.

College Pioneers Religious Trails

By DUDLEY LYNCH
Portales, N.M., News Tribune

PORTALES, N.M. (AP) — Quietly, and with little publicity, Eastern New Mexico University is pioneering in a field normally reserved for religious colleges or seminaries.

The Portales institution produces a dozen or more ministers each year, complete with degrees.

Buildings, religious instructors materials and expenses are underwritten by the participating religious groups.

The university accredits the courses offered.

Members of small churches in Eastern New Mexico and West Texas are acutely aware of the program. Many of the country congregations depend on ministerial students to fill their pulpits each Sunday.

At this time of year at least two of the three chairs of religion at ENMU are swamped with requests for graduates to fill pulpits throughout the Southwest.

Christ Bible Program

The Church of Christ Bible Chair has the largest program with two fulltime staff members and curriculum which leads to a master's degree in religion.

Dr. Steven Eckstein, dean of the Bible Choir directors after 11 years here, said the chair has sixteen ministerial students this year.

"This is the best year we've had," Dr. Eckstein said.

Since the Church of Christ chair was begun in 1947, 75 to 100 preachers have been turned out of ENMU with religion and related majors.

"Our people are all over the world and have certainly demonstrated their ability to fit in," Dr. Eckstein said. "We have more requests than we can fill when our men get their degrees."

How does the ENMU student of religion compare with the ministers turned out by Church of Christ colleges?

Prepare for Seminary

The Rev. Robert Clarke, director of the Baptist Student Union, prepares more men for the theological seminaries than he sends directly into the preaching fields. Many of his religion majors are already fulltime ministers, however, and commute to Portales three or more days a week from points as far distant as 100 miles.

The Baptist chair turns out an average of five ministers a year.

The situation at the Methodist Church's Wesley Foundation is quite different.

The Rev. Milton Chester, completing his first year here, said the difference is due to the preferences of Methodist seminaries.

"Our seminaries do not want religious majors, they want liberal arts students," he said.

For this reason the Methodist chair turns out no religious majors although it is a center for future seminary students who are working on their preliminary liberal arts degrees.

Consecration of Episcopal Bishop Held in Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The high arches of St. Paul's Church was the scene for the colorful consecration today of the Very Rev. Ned Cole Jr., of St. Louis, Mo., as bishop-coadjutor of the 96-year-old Episcopal Diocese of Central New York.

The Rt. Rev. Arthur C. Lichtenberger of New York presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, was the consecrator. The 15 bishops designated to assist include the Rt. Rev. Walter M. Higley, bishop of Central New York and the Rt. Rev. Malcolm E. Peabody of Cambridge, Mass., retired bishop of the diocese and father of Massachusetts Gov. Endicott Peabody.

The bishop-coadjutor automatically succeeds the bishop of the diocese on the latter's retirement or death.

More than 1,300 persons were expected to attend the consecration. Among them was Mrs. Malcolm Peabody, wife of the retired bishop who arrived by plane Friday night from St. Augustine, Fla., after stopovers in New York and Boston.

Mrs. Peabody was arrested in St. Augustine earlier this week on trespass charges stemming from racial demonstrations. She spent two days in jail before posting a $450 bond.

Presenting bishop-elect Cole, 47, for consecration were the Rt. Rev. Roger W. Blanchard, bishop of Ohio, and the Rt. Rev. George L. Cadigan, bishop of Missouri.

The bishop-elect is a former dean of Church Church Cathedral in St. Louis.

cese comprises 14 counties and an estimated 61,000 Episcopalians.

'Men in Church' To Be Theme of Methodist Parley

The Rev. Dr. Charles L. Carrington, pastor of Brooks Memorial Church, Jamaica, will be the speaker at a joint retreat of Methodist laymen from the New York and New York East Conferences April 17-18 at Holiday Hills, Pawling.

The theme will be Men in the Church and Dr. Carrington will speak April 17 at 8:15 p. m. on Beliefs We Share and April 18 at 5 p. m. on the theme topic.

The first day's program will start at 4 p. m. and will include devotions, a hymn sing and dinner, closing with prayer circles at 10:15 p. m.

A communion service will be coducted the following day at 7 a. m. by the eight district superintendents. Group discussions will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. and from 2:45 to 4:45 p. m. on the following topics: Methodist men, lay speaking, stewardship, lay leaders and local church and conference connections.

Dr. Carrington is a graduate of Sam Houston College in Austin, Tex. He received his bachelor of divinity degree from Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta, Ga., and a degree in sociology from Drew University, Madison, N. J. For two years he served as director of the Adult Guidance Bureau of the New York City Board of Education.

He is former chairman of the Conference Board of Christian Social Concerns, organized and served as chairman of the Citizens' Committee on Juvenile Problems in Jamaica, was president of the Jamaica Branch of the NAACP, vice president of the Queens Federation of Churches and is a member of the New York Metropolitan Area Planning Committee of the Methodist Church. He has been pastor of Brooks Memorial Church for 23 years and in that time the membership has grown from 70 persons to 1,100. The church is a member of the Delaware Conference which will merge in June with the New York and New York East Conferences.

William T. Staubach Jr., of Pelham, is retreat chairman and Robert E. Koehler of Lynbrook, is registrar.

Theological Dean Is Named at Drew

Dr. Charles Wesley Ranson, professor of ecumenical theology at Drew University has been elected dean of the theological school, President Robert Fisher Oxnam announced today. He succeeds Dr. Bernhard W. Anderson who resigned to become annual professor this year at the American School of Oriental Research in Jerusalem, Jordan. He will return in September to resume his chair as the Henry Anson Butts Professor of Biblical Theology.

Dean Ranson is director of the Theological Education Fund of the World Council of Churches and formerly served as general secretary of the International Missionary Council, which coordinated the work of Protestant missions throughout the world. In 1961-62 he was president of the Methodist Church in Ireland.

From 1929 until 1945 Dean Ranson was in India as a Missionary of the Methodist Missionary Society. During that period he served as warden of Kellett Institute, Madras; visiting lecturer in the Theological College in Bangalore; minister of St. Andrew Church, Simila; acting chaplain to the Viceroy of India; and secretary of the National Christian Council of India, Burma and Ceylon. He received the King George V Jubilee Medal for Public Service in India.

Headed Education Fund

As director of the Theological Education Fund, he has administered the program designed to strengthen theological education and encourage the training of indigenous leadership in the younger churches in Africa, Asia and Latin America. This program was originally established by the International Missionary Council for a five-year period, and was made possible by a grant from the Sealantic Fund with matching funds from Mission Boards of churches of all denominations.

He has attended the meetings of the executive and central commissions of the World Council of Churches and all three assemblies of the World Council of Churches. He attended the World Methodist Convocation on theological education in Sweden in 1961.

Dean Ranson was born in Ballyclare, Northern Ireland and was educated at Queens University, Belfast; Oriel College, Oxford; Edgehill Theological College, Belfast. He received the doctor of theology degree from Kiel University, Germany.

Dean Ranson has been a visiting lecturer at Princeton Theological Seminary, and the Episcopal Theological Seminary, Cambridge, Mass.

He has written several books, including The Things That Abide; The Christian Minister in India; Renewall and Advance (editor); That the World May Know; and has contributed to religious publications.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, APRIL 4, 1964

CANCER CRUSADE MONTH

Seeking to help finance vital research, education and service programs, the Ulster County Cancer Society has launched its appeal for funds. Mayor John J. Schwenk has officially proclaimed April as Cancer Crusade Month in the City of Kingston and other local municipal officials have delivered similar proclamations for their communities. Now the Cancer Crusade volunteers will carry the financial campaign to the people.

The goal set for Ulster County this year is $35,000. If this amount is to be raised, each family in the county will have to do its part. To participate in the fight against cancer through the Crusade volunteer who will come to your home should be a privilege. All who avail themselves of this opportunity to share in this campaign will be associating themselves with one of the greatest works that man has attempted.

Almost everyone is aware that cancer is man's greatest enemy and there should be little need to appeal to him to give so that the fight against this dread disease may be carried on.

County Chairman Lawrence A. Quilty says that through the Society's educational message we expect to save lives from cancer today and through the fund-raising appeal we expect to save lives tomorrow.

The Crusade volunteer will call with lifesaving literature containing facts which may help save other lives now as well as in the future.

Mrs. Arthur Freeman, director of the Ulster County Cancer Society, declares that one cancer patient in three is saved today, but we have the medical know-how to save one in two today without making a single new research discovery. The difference in needless cancer deaths — amounting to over 90,000 persons a year — can be made up if we persuade people to get to their doctors in time for prompt and proper treatment. This is why the lifesaving educational phase of the Crusade is so important.

It will be well to remember when a Crusade volunteer calls at your home that your donation now can save lives tomorrow.

THE ODDS AGAINST IT

There is little doubt that Richard E. Nixon, being a politician who astutely considers the angles before he makes a move, has devoted at least passing thought to the historical odds against defeated presidential candidates. The odds are high.

Early in our history, a man once beaten for the office had a good chance to make it on the second try. Jefferson, Jackson and William Henry Harrison were each defeated their first time out. Henry Clay almost turned the trick, after his 1824 and 1832 defeats, when he ran against James K. Polk in 1844.

But the key word with regard to Clay, "almost," has been generally operative ever since. In this century William J. Bryan ran three times, never successfully. In the last few years their respective parties renominated Thomas E. Dewey and Adlai E. Stevenson after their first defeats. It was no use; they lost again.

History does not, despite the old saw, invariably repeat itself. Yet if Nixon is at all superstitious he may wonder if a second presidential race might not be tempting fate.

HINT OF A BOOK

Two bits of economic intelligence — not milestones, but interesting markers on the road — were in the news on the first day of April. The Labor Department noted that in February the cost of living had dropped slightly for the first time in 14 months. If that seems like flimsy cause for much celebration, consider the other item: April 1 marked the start of the 38th month of sustained economic growth.

There is no particular significance in the number 38. The significance lies in the fact of sustained expansion for more than three years. The rate of expansion is something else, but even here there is cause for optimism.

Almost all of the 26 economic indictators regarded as most important by the National Bureau of Economic Research are currently favorable. Some economists are beginning to think that we may even be approaching a genuine boom. Which is a happy note on which to enter the pleasant month of April.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

WHAT DOES OREGON WANT?

Truly, the involutions of U. S. politics in 1964 are enough to tax the comprehension of the immortal gods on Olympus.

Item One concerns the strange behavior of four important Far Western Democratic Senators. Here we have Wayne Morse of Oregon, Mike Mansfield of Montana, Ernest Gruening of Alaska, and Frank Church of Idaho going Senator Fulbright of Arkansas one better in voicing their dissent from the foreign policy of their own Democratic Administration. They want us to get out of South Vietnam.

Item Two concerns the predictions of pundits concerning the fate of Barry Goldwater in the coming Oregon primary. Some of them have both Goldwater and Rockefeller running behind Nixon in Oregon. Others speak of a second "upset victory" for Lodge.

The point that must perplex the gods is that both Nixon and Lodge would certainly support the Johnson Administration's policy in South Vietnam as against the Morse-Mansfield-Gruening-Church position. Indeed, both Nixon and Lodge would presumably go beyond the mere protection of South Vietnam. Nixon, just prior to the French capitulation in Indo-China, was for sending American forces to hold the North Vietnamese bastion of Dienbienphu; and Lodge, so it has been stated by his friends in Washington, would like to see the current war to save South Vietnam carried into the north against the "privileged sanctuary" of the Communist infiltrators. This is on the assumption that the Johnson-McNamara policy of fighting a defensive war on South Vietnamese soil cannot assure victory.

The question, at this point, is: does Senator Morse read his mail, and if so, are the letters that reach his office a good indication of sentiment in Oregon? If Morse really knows what the Oregon consensus is, how will it spill over into the Republican primary?

One doorbell ringer in Oregon, Mr. Samuel Lubbell, in quoting people as saying that Goldwater might "get us into a war," inferentially backs up Morse. But no Republican candidate on the ballot in Oregon approximates the Morse position in the business of running away from war. By Morse standards, which the Senator would have us believe are Oregon standards, all of the Republican candidates are dangerous warmongers. Even including Scranton, who has kind words for "brinkmanship."

The doorbell ringers and pundits make much of specific Oregon objections to Goldwater as "irresponsible" on the military issue. This is curious when one looks over the whole Republican field. The Lodge caravan, which is currently moving into Oregon armed with 350,000 pamphlets ready for distribution, counts on its tiger's appeal as the man who stood up to Vishinsky in the UN and who insists on victory in the Far East today. Yes, as Goldwater said (in the title of one of his books), "Why Not Victory?" So why any Oregon distinction between Goldwater and Lodge? Yet the doorbell ringers in Oregon profess to have found a distinction.

To the south, in California, Goldwater has the inside track precisely because he is campaigning as a patriot who is tired of seeing the U. S. sold down the river abroad. This makes the attempt of the Rockefellerites to brand Goldwater as the victim of "extremists" a futile tactic. It is not considered "extreme" in California to be aggressively patriotic. But how about the states of the Far Northwest that are represented by Senators Morse, Gruening, Church, and Mansfield?

The whole business smacks of Alice in Wonderland. But underneath the confusion one senses a polarization. The four Democratic Senators from the Far Northwest, along with Senator Fulbright of Arkansas, are betting that the U. S. hungers for pacifism and counts on Khrushchev and even Mao Tse-tung as being amenable to reason. The important Republicans, from Goldwater on the "Right" to Lodge and Nixon in the "Center" and Rockefeller on the "Left," doubt that either Khrushchev or Mao can be had. Ironically, Lyndon Johnson, as Lodge's boss in South Vietnam, is currently Lodge's patron.

The Oregon Republican primary will actually clear up nothing about foreign policy, for there is no pacifist Republican candidate. But Senator Morse, by implication, is saying that foreign policy is the transcendent issue. As for Johnson, he can repudiate nothing until next November. Will he want to then? The four Democratic Senators from the Far Northwest are betting that he will.

Keep the Child With Mother

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

I have been thinking about that mother you recently wrote about who is separated from her husband and is afraid to let her little girl come home from boarding school to live with her. May God bless you for telling her to bring the child home to her. As I want to add my persuasion to yours, please send this letter to her when you have read it.

I know what it is to be deprived of one's child. After I was separated from my husband, I became very ill. While I was still in the hospital, my mother decided that looking after my 4-year-old girl was too much of a responsibility for her and gave her back to my husband. For three years I was without my child.

Then, through an eye doctor, I discovered that she needed eyeglasses. I found out that her father had refused to buy them for her. When I offered to pay for them, he let her come to stay with me for the week that was required to adjust and fit the glasses. There were complications in adjusting them that stretched the week out into a month. At the end of it, when her father came to get her, my sister and brother-in-law came over to my house and helped me stop him from taking her away from me.

It was a terrible time for me because, as the mother who wrote to you, I worked at a job all day and was very frightened of leaving my little girl alone in the house after school. I was afraid of her running wild on the streets. I was afraid of what might happen to her alone in the house with nobody with her to protect her. So I made some rules for her to follow. I want that mother who wrote to you know that she never disobeyed them. The rules were:

Be in the house by 5 p. m.

Keep the house key on the chain around your neck.

Keep the front and back doors locked. Never open them to anyone when I am not at home.

I want that mother who is so afraid to let her little girl come home to know how happy mine was to be trusted and given responsible things to do like getting the vegetables ready for our supper. She became a bright and shining star in my life. I do not think I could have gone on without knowing that the child would be there waiting for me when I got home at night. That mother you wrote about can have a bright and shining star in her life, too, if she will only know how much she wants her child with her.

ANSWER: More lonely mothers than the one I wrote about need to read your letter. So I turned the space of this column over to it and your story of you and your shining star.

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — In Colorado, Republican Gov. John Love is learning that saving money does not necessarily buy happiness.

A strapping fellow belonging to the "howdy ma'am" school of Western good looks, Love swept into the governor's chair in 1962 on a promise of slashing Colorado's personal income taxes sharply.

He made good on the promise. For the whole of calendar 1962, he jammed through a 15 per cent tax rebate. For subsequent years, a reduction averaging 12½ per cent was enacted.

One state hardly makes a trend, but tax-weary folk in many quarters perked up when John Love put his program over.

IN THE WORLD OF TAXES and spending, however, it seems you are dammed if you do and damned if you don't. Colorado today is alive with rumbles of discontent. One observer guesses that if Love were standing for re-election this year, he would be roundly defeated.

The governor's troubles can be laid in part to an uncooperative Nature. Drought in 1963 sliced some $50 million off estimated farm income. Then, too, cattle prices sagged and the state's economy generally failed to reach estimated growth levels.

For the fiscal year ending last June 30, Colordao's treasury was $6 million short. Since state law forbids running in the red, balance was achieved by using up $3 million in surplus and tapping $3 million more from a $10 million revolving fund.

This year things are still very tight, and Love has had to go out after more revenue.

In the name of bringing state tax law into better conformity with federal statutes, he pushed to enactment a revenue package which markedly reduces deductions for medical expense, wipes out deductions for commuter travel cost and provides other changes.

The state will not benefit heavily at once, but ultimately $5 million more a year is expected.

MUTTERING HAS started among taxpayers who were joyful at the 1962 rebate and general rate slash.

This year, furthermore, Love felt compelled to put across a 3 per cent cigarette tax, first statewide tobacco levy in Colorado history. Screams are heard from Denver and other cities which have had a local cigarette tax. The state levy is largely an offset to an abandoned state property tax.

Other complaints focus on sharp tuition increases affecting all major Colorado college-level institutions. The boosts range from around $75 a year for in-state students to more than $200 a year for pupils from outside the state.

Actually, tuition hikes have been common over a period of several years, as the state tries to cope with swelling enrollments.

Thus far, despite the gripes, Colorado's services in education, welfare, highways and other principal fields appear not to have suffered materially.

The state is getting up the needed money to qualify for matching federal funds in the interstate and other federal road programs. It is holding its own in state aid to education.

BUT SCHOOLS AND teachers argue this is not good enough. Colorado teachers' salaries lag behind the national average. Colorado chins in just 24 per cent of total public education expenditures, while the national average is 40 per cent for state aid. This throws 72 per cent of the load on local property taxes. With an avalanche of new public school students due by 1970, Governor Love must now wonder how long he can hold his straining budget line.

Ask Penalty Be Rescinded

Editor, The Freeman,

I am writing both as a former student of Kingston High School and as a teacher and educator in the Westchester Schools System.

What is happening to our school system? Must hurt pride and the thirst for revenge color our actions? Are the people in charge qualified to handle school problems? Are conditions such that satire becomes necessary?

These are only a few of the questions that puzzled me when I learned of the unjust expulsion of four bright Kingston High School students. The administrators call it "temporary suspension," but is it really not expulsion when these children are denied the right to continue instruction and receive their diploma three months before graduation!

I have read this "notorious" magazine and I do not condone its publication, but I also do not advocate passing out the most severe punishment possible. Expulsion is to the field of education as capital punishment is to the field of law. Are these boys criminals? Have they done bodily injury to anyone? I do not say let them go free, but punish them in a mature way, one that coincides with our ideals of education.

A teacher must have the understanding to go far out to help a student, but never to hurt. How can children learn from their mistakes if they are not given the chance to correct them. How can they correct them if they are not guided and advised by our educators?

Our government is spending a considerable amount of our money to keep all students, both bright and slow-leaners, off the streets and in the schools. Here, in this city, we not only put our students out of school, but we put our top students out of school.

I cannot help but feel that the opposite approach would have been more beneficial. Our good schools no longer have authoritarian atmosphere. We are proud to be both modern and mature in our approach.

Let the people in charge rescind the imposed penalty and consider the future of these boys. Let this be a precedent in remembering that we, as teachers, first and formost, must help our students not just to learn the 3Rs but to become good citizens of our community.

Sincerely,
MRS. BARBARA DUBIN

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON'S POST-EASTER MESSAGE

BABSON PARK, Mass., April 3—With the rebirth of spring and the hope of Easter still in our hearts, it is a good time to ask what is wrong with this world,—and with ourselves. Why is our nation so beset by scandal and injustice, the international scene so blackened with tension and distrust and even open hatred?

Where Has Religion Gone?

I have long predicted that we would never be able to realize fully the great blessings of civilization unless we all worked for real spiritual renewal. Religious faith is the driving force of our very existence; without it there can be no true or lasting peace on the earth. Why are not the words of Jesus put into practice in our everyday life, both social and political? He preached repentance and forgiveness; His prayers were not those of habit, but petitions springing from His deepest inner impulses.

The followers of Jesus during His lifetime were taught to lead lives of service and self-sacrifice. His one basic principle of action was that men must love one another; He believed in the intrinsic worth of every human being. In His day He was looked upon as unconventional and uncompromising, with His immovable faith in God and His concern for the ultimate goodness of mankind. Every devoted religious person is supposed to agree to this doctrine,— and act and live accordingly. But the condition of even the Christian world does not bear this out today.

Looking Toward Elections

It seems to me, as we move toward voting day in November, that the most important questions for us to answer are: "Is the religion of Jesus something for us to live by? It is worth being kept vitally alive? Is it something to guide a Presidential Candidate?" Many people who do not as a rule concentrate much on religion are starting to wonder how many of our political troubles come from neglect of the Spirit. They are somewhat disturbed by the Supreme Court's decision against prayers in the nation's schools.

Remembering back a quarter-century to the New York World century to the New York World's Fair, designed to give us a "Glimpse of Tomorrow," I cannot recall any emphasis whatsoever on religious themes. The Fair showed super-airports, super - skyscrapers, super-highways, and just about super-everything-else. But I do not remember seeing one single church. Now the new World's Fair is being prepared; the papers and magazines are full of fascinating projects. But here again I have noted only occasional reference to church presentations, but all important emphasis on materialistic advances.

I am convinced that one thing, above all others, is needed to save this old world of ours: A spiritual rebirth such as that which Saul of Tarsus experienced. You will recall how, when he was mercilessly persecuting the followers of Jesus, a sudden light and a power from above descended upon him. The same sort of thing has taken hold of every great leader in history.

Before I go to the polls this November to vote for a President, I want to know which candidates are men who really pray. My first consideration will be, "Is he a man of the Spirit?" Those who know their Biblical history as they should will remember that Saul of Tarsus, through love, was transformed into Paul. As a result the regeneration of Europe began; the foundations of a new civilization were laid.

As I see it, we are caught today in the middle of a vast struggle between a temporal, materialistic world and a world of the Spirit. Since we cannot successfully fight Godlessness with Godlessness, we must first save ourselves by working toward a great "spiritual revival." I cannot agree with those who think that science and technology can ultimately solve all our problems. The freedom —both social and political — for which we strive is a thing of the Spirit, not a thing of the Mind. If there is to be any world of tomorrow, we must all work toward a world-wide spiritual reawakening.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Lawrence Hyatt of Colonial Gardens sent me an interesting, colorful illustrated book on historic Kingston, put out for the tercentenary 1652-1952. There is a reprint of a letter written from the White House in Washington, dated Dec. 15, 1951 by President Harry Truman to Stanley J. Matthews of Kingston, N. Y.

This letter reads in part: "The Dutch Colonial pioneers, considering the brief term of Dutch sovereignty in the territory which they settled in this country, left permanent monuments wherever they went. Particularly is this true in the Hudson River Valley."

President Truman's letter reads further: "Happily for posterity the glorious Dutch legends have been immortalized in the writings of Washington Irving, himself a superior product of the area which has made so many and such rich gifts to our national life. It gives me great pleasure to send hearty felicitations and warmest personal greetings to all who participate in the celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of Kingston. The community has had a long and varied history and I trust it will for generations to come go forward with progress to the achievement of ever great things. Very sincerely yours, Harry Truman."

It was not so long ago that Harry Truman and Mr. Harriman (then Governor) visited Kingston. No doubt they both were enchanted by the old stone Colonial houses they had a chance to see during their hurried trip here. I think, prominent visitors should always be shown a dozen or so of our old stone houses, our most precious historic landmarks.

One of the reasons Mr. Hyatt brought this book down to me, because at the top of page 14, is a handsome illustration, from Schoonmaker's history of the famous De Wall Tavern, I mention so often, which was pushed down, to make way for a blacktop parking lot with meters. Underneath the picture the following is printed: "In colonial days DeWall Tavern boasted the largest ballroom between New York and Albany and was the scene of many major social happenings both before and after the Revolution. "The building, located at 78 and 80 North Front Street, (in (1951) is a furniture store." Later Scholar's modernized it somewhat.

This book also shows the Hoffman House, on page 10, during the winter, after a snow fall, which adds to its attractiveness and uniqueness. It is described as "Hoffman House, standing at the corner of Green and North Front Streets, marks the northwest corner of the old stockade. Still standing, this building is now headquarters for the Salvation Army." Luckily, very little, if any changes have been done to this building by its present owners, so I hope this building will not be destroyed by the powers that be.

I notice that ever so many moving pictures for TV are now made in Europe, in France, and especially in Rome, using the famous centuries old buildings as background. I am more fascinated by the structures than by the plot or story, and often the translation is poor, so I shut off the sound, and enjoy seeing the winding strange streets, the fantastic stone bridges and windows and doorways, and cornices which are all so different.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, APRIL 4, 1964

CANCER CRUSADE MONTH

Seeking to help finance vital research, education and service programs, the Ulster County Cancer Society has launched its appeal for funds. Mayor John J. Schwenk has officially proclaimed April as Cancer Crusade Month in the City of Kingston and other local municipal officials have delivered similar proclamations for their communities. Now the Cancer Crusade volunteers will carry the financial campaign to the people.

The goal set for Ulster County this year is $35,000. If this amount is to be raised, each family in the county will have to do its part. To participate in the fight against cancer through the Crusade volunteer who will come to your home should be a privilege. All who avail themselves of this opportunity to share in this campaign will be associating themselves with one of the greatest works that man has attempted.

Almost everyone is aware that cancer is man's greatest enemy and there should be little need to appeal to him to give so that the fight against this dread disease may be carried on.

County Chairman Lawrence A. Quilty says that through the Society's educational message we expect to save lives from cancer today and through the fund-raising appeal we expect to save lives tomorrow.

The Crusade volunteer will call with lifesaving literature containing facts which may help save other lives now as well as in the future.

Mrs. Arthur Freeman, director of the Ulster County Cancer Society, declares that one cancer patient in three is saved today, but we have the medical know-how to save one in two today without making a single new research discovery. The difference in needless cancer deaths — amounting to over 90,000 persons a year — can be made up if we persuade people to get to their doctors in time for prompt and proper treatment. This is why the lifesaving educational phase of the Crusade is so important.

It will be well to remember when a Crusade volunteer calls at your home that your donation now can save lives tomorrow.

She became a bright and shining star in my life. I do not think I could have gone on without knowing that the child would be there waiting for me when I got home at night. That mother you wrote about can have a bright and shining star in her life, too, if she will only know how much she wants her child with her.

ANSWER: More lonely mothers than the one I wrote about need to read your letter. So I turned the space of this column over to it and your story of you and your shining star.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — In Colorado, Republican Gov. John Love is learning that saving money does not necessarily buy happiness.

A strapping fellow belonging to the "howdy ma'am" school of Western good looks, Love swept into the governor's chair in 1962 on a promise of slashing Colorado's personal income taxes sharply.

He made good on the promise. For the whole of calendar 1962, he jammed through a 15 per cent tax rebate. For subsequent years, a reduction averaging 12½ per cent was enacted.

One state hardly makes a trend, but tax-weary folk in many quarters perked up when John Love put his program over.

IN THE WORLD OF TAXES and spending, however, it seems you are dammed if you do and damned if you don't. Colorado today is alive with rumbles of discontent. One observer guesses that if Love were standing for re-election this year, he would be roundly defeated.

The governor's troubles can be laid in part to an uncooperative Nature. Drought in 1963 sliced some $50 million off estimated farm income. Then, too, cattle prices sagged and the state's economy generally failed to reach estimated growth levels.

For the fiscal year ending last June 30, Colordao's treasury was $6 million short. Since state law forbids running in the red, balance was achieved by using up $3 million in surplus and tapping $3 million more from a $10 million revolving fund.

This year things are still very tight, and Love has had to go out after more revenue.

In the name of bringing state tax law into better conformity with federal statutes, he pushed to enactment a revenue package which markedly reduces deductions for medical expense, wipes out deductions for commuter travel cost and provides other changes.

The state will not benefit heavily at once, but ultimately $5 million more a year is expected.

MUTTERING HAS started among taxpayers who were joyful at the 1962 rebate and general rate slash.

This year, furthermore, Love felt compelled to put across a 3 per cent cigarette tax, first statewide tobacco levy in Colorado history. Screams are heard from Denver and other cities which have had a local cigarette tax. The state levy is largely an offset to an abandoned state property tax.

Other complaints focus on sharp tuition increases affecting all major Colorado college-level institutions. The boosts range from around $75 a year for in-state students to more than $200 a year for pupils from outside the state.

Actually, tuition hikes have been common over a period of several years, as the state tries to cope with swelling enrollments.

Thus far, despite the gripes, Colorado's services in education, welfare, highways and other principal fields appear not to have suffered materially.

The state is getting up the needed money to qualify for matching federal funds in the interstate and other federal road programs. It is holding its own in state aid to education.

BUT SCHOOLS AND teachers argue this is not good enough. Colorado teachers' salaries lag behind the national average. Colorado chins in just 24 per cent of total public education expenditures, while the national average is 40 per cent for state aid. This throws 72 per cent of the load on local property taxes. With an avalanche of new public school students due by 1970, Governor Love must now wonder how long he can hold his straining budget line.

Ask Penalty Be Rescinded

Editor, The Freeman,

I am writing both as a former student of Kingston High School and as a teacher and educator in the Westchester Schools System.

What is happening to our school system? Must hurt pride and the thirst for revenge color our actions? Are the people in charge qualified to handle school problems? Are conditions such that satire becomes necessary?

These are only a few of the questions that puzzled me when I learned of the unjust expulsion of four bright Kingston High School students. The administrators call it "temporary suspension," but is it really not expulsion when these children are denied the right to continue instruction and receive their diploma three months before graduation!

I have read this "notorious" magazine and I do not condone its publication, but I also do not advocate passing out the most severe punishment possible. Expulsion is to the field of education as capital punishment is to the field of law. Are these boys criminals? Have they done bodily injury to anyone? I do not say let them go free, but punish them in a mature way, one that coincides with our ideals of education.

A teacher must have the understanding to go far out to help a student, but never to hurt. How can children learn from their mistakes if they are not given the chance to correct them. How can they correct them if they are not guided and advised by our educators?

Our government is spending a considerable amount of our money to keep all students, both bright and slow-leaners, off the streets and in the schools. Here, in this city, we not only put our students out of school, but we put our top students out of school.

I cannot help but feel that the opposite approach would have been more beneficial. Our good schools no longer have authoritarian atmosphere. We are proud to be both modern and mature in our approach.

Let the people in charge rescind the imposed penalty and consider the future of these boys. Let this be a precedent in remembering that we, as teachers, first and formost, must help our students not just to learn the 3Rs but to become good citizens of our community.

Sincerely,
MRS. BARBARA DUBIN

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON'S POST-EASTER MESSAGE

BABSON PARK, Mass., April 3—With the rebirth of spring and the hope of Easter still in our hearts, it is a good time to ask what is wrong with this world,—and with ourselves. Why is our nation so beset by scandal and injustice, the international scene so blackened with tension and distrust and even open hatred?

Where Has Religion Gone?

I have long predicted that we would never be able to realize fully the great blessings of civilization unless we all worked for real spiritual renewal. Religious faith is the driving force of our very existence; without it there can be no true or lasting peace on the earth. Why are not the words of Jesus put into practice in our everyday life, both social and political? He preached repentance and forgiveness; His prayers were not those of habit, but petitions springing from His deepest inner impulses.

The followers of Jesus during His lifetime were taught to lead lives of service and self-sacrifice. His one basic principle of action was that men must love one another; He believed in the intrinsic worth of every human being. In His day He was looked upon as unconventional and uncompromising, with His immovable faith in God and His concern for the ultimate goodness of mankind. Every devoted religious person is supposed to agree to this doctrine,— and act and live accordingly. But the condition of even the Christian world does not bear this out today.

Looking Toward Elections

It seems to me, as we move toward voting day in November, that the most important questions for us to answer are: "Is the religion of Jesus something for us to live by? It is worth being kept vitally alive? Is it something to guide a Presidential Candidate?" Many people who do not as a rule concentrate much on religion are starting to wonder how many of our political troubles come from neglect of the Spirit. They are somewhat disturbed by the Supreme Court's decision against prayers in the nation's schools.

Remembering back a quarter-century to the New York World century to the New York World's Fair, designed to give us a "Glimpse of Tomorrow," I cannot recall any emphasis whatsoever on religious themes. The Fair showed super-airports, super - skyscrapers, super-highways, and just about super-everything-else. But I do not remember seeing one single church. Now the new World's Fair is being prepared; the papers and magazines are full of fascinating projects. But here again I have noted only occasional reference to church presentations, but all important emphasis on materialistic advances.

I am convinced that one thing, above all others, is needed to save this old world of ours: A spiritual rebirth such as that which Saul of Tarsus experienced. You will recall how, when he was mercilessly persecuting the followers of Jesus, a sudden light and a power from above descended upon him. The same sort of thing has taken hold of every great leader in history.

Before I go to the polls this November to vote for a President, I want to know which candidates are men who really pray. My first consideration will be, "Is he a man of the Spirit?" Those who know their Biblical history as they should will remember that Saul of Tarsus, through love, was transformed into Paul. As a result the regeneration of Europe began; the foundations of a new civilization were laid.

As I see it, we are caught today in the middle of a vast struggle between a temporal, materialistic world and a world of the Spirit. Since we cannot successfully fight Godlessness with Godlessness, we must first save ourselves by working toward a great "spiritual revival." I cannot agree with those who think that science and technology can ultimately solve all our problems. The freedom —both social and political — for which we strive is a thing of the Spirit, not a thing of the Mind. If there is to be any world of tomorrow, we must all work toward a world-wide spiritual reawakening.

Timely Quotes

In some of these schools, a student has to make a crease in his IBM card to attract attention.
—Dr. Seymour A. Smith, president, Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., says that too many large universities are not paying attention to development of character.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Lawrence Hyatt of Colonial Gardens sent me an interesting, colorful illustrated book on historic Kingston, put out for the tercentenary 1652-1952. There is a reprint of a letter written from the White House in Washington, dated Dec. 15, 1951 by President Harry Truman to Stanley J. Matthews of Kingston, N. Y.

This letter reads in part: "The Dutch Colonial pioneers, considering the brief term of Dutch sovereignty in the territory which they settled in this country, left permanent monuments wherever they went. Particularly is this true in the Hudson River Valley."

President Truman's letter reads further: "Happily for posterity the glorious Dutch legends have been immortalized in the writings of Washington Irving, himself a superior product of the area which has made so many and such rich gifts to our national life. It gives me great pleasure to send hearty felicitations and warmest personal greetings to all who participate in the celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of Kingston. The community has had a long and varied history and I trust it will for generations to come go forward with progress to the achievement of ever great things. Very sincerely yours, Harry Truman."

It was not so long ago that Harry Truman and Mr. Harriman (then Governor) visited Kingston. No doubt they both were enchanted by the old stone Colonial houses they had a chance to see during their hurried trip here. I think, prominent visitors should always be shown a dozen or so of our old stone houses, our most precious historic landmarks.

One of the reasons Mr. Hyatt brought this book down to me, because at the top of page 14, is a handsome illustration, from Schoonmaker's history of the famous De Wall Tavern, I mention so often, which was pushed down, to make way for a blacktop parking lot with meters. Underneath the picture the following is printed: "In colonial days DeWall Tavern boasted the largest ballroom between New York and Albany and was the scene of many major social happenings both before and after the Revolution. "The building, located at 78 and 80 North Front Street, (in (1951) is a furniture store." Later Scholar's modernized it somewhat.

This book also shows the Hoffman House, on page 10, during the winter, after a snow fall, which adds to its attractiveness and uniqueness. It is described as "Hoffman House, standing at the corner of Green and North Front Streets, marks the northwest corner of the old stockade. Still standing, this building is now headquarters for the Salvation Army." Luckily, very little, if any changes have been done to this building by its present owners, so I hope this building will not be destroyed by the powers that be.

I notice that ever so many moving pictures for TV are now made in Europe, in France, and especially in Rome, using the famous centuries old buildings as background. I am more fascinated by the structures than by the plot or story, and often the translation is poor, so I shut off the sound, and enjoy seeing the winding strange streets, the fantastic stone bridges and windows and doorways, and cornices which are all so different.

Q—Where was the birthplace of the naturalist John J. Audubon?

A—Audubon himself thought he was born near New Orleans, La., when Louisiana was still French territory. Many historians, however, believe that he was born in Haiti.

Criterions Will Appear Tonight In Corps Concert

The popular Criterions Drum Corps will appear in the "Preview of Corps Sounds," 8 o'clock tonight at Kingston High School auditorium, it was announced today by Ralph Shapiro, director of Troop 12 Boy Scout Drum and Bugle Corps, sponsors of the concert.

The seven other corps appearing will be the Paulette's All Girl Drum and Glockenspeil Corps from New York City; Kingsmen Drum and Bugle Corps from the Bronx; Danbury Drum Corps, Danbury, Conn.; Vagabonds; the Pacers Drum and Bugle Corps from Poughkeepsie; Troop 28 BSA Drum and Bugle Corps from Ellenville, and the sponsors of the event, Troop 12 Indians.

For information on tickets, please contact Ticket Chairman Huga Schlatter, 156 Hurley Avenue.

"The Criterions have received tremendous acclaim for a number of years in Hudson Valley appearances and are well-known for their annual Pageant of Champions each summer in Dietz Memorial Stadium," Shapiro said.

The corps, comprising men from throughout the Mid-Hudson Valley area, has been engaged throughout the winter months in preparation for a heavy schedule of appearances in both parades and drum corps competitions this summer.

Shapiro said the Criterions' business manager, Spencer Myers, made arrangemens for the corps appearance in the "Review of Corps Sounds", and promised a concert which will include "a brand new repertoire of music, with an entirely new look, many new faces and basically a new corps."

Myers said the corps is off to an early spring start since tentative plans call for the 10th annual Pageant of Champions to be scheduled at an earlier date than in previous years. An announcement on the definite date for that show, which annually attracts upwards of 7,000, will be made within the next two weeks, Myers said.

Paints Help Industry

Special paints formulated to meet specific industrial requirements have been made possible by modern paint technology. Paints are often used to protect expensive industrial equipment against abrasion, weathering and other deteriorative conditions. In addition to providing protection, paint's industrial uses include decoration, illumination, identification, and sanitation.

Today in History

Today is Saturday, April 4, the 95th day of 1964. There are 271 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1790, Congress authorized the creation of the Coast Guard with 80 men, operating as the Revenue Marine and later as the Revenue-Cutter Service.

On this date

In 1791, inventor and philanthropist Peter Cooper was born.

In 1818, the United States flag was officially established as being made of 13 stripes and a star for each state.

In 1941, German armies rushed through Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria in tier drive to the frontiers of Yugoslavia and Greece.

In 1943, American bombers blasted enemy shipping in the port of Naples, Italy.

In 1949, 12 nations, including the United States, signed the North Atlantic Treaty.

Five years ago — The United States rejected a Soviet demand that American planes remain below an altitude of 10,000 feet on flights to Berlin.

One year ago — The Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Curtis LeMay, told senators he thought the fighter plane proposed by the Boeing Company better than the one for which General Dynamics was awarded a contract.

Area Accountants Schedule Seminar

Mid-Hudson Chapter of the National Association of Accountants will hold its first spring chapter seminar Monday at the Poughkeepsie Inn. A social hour at 6 p. m. and dinner at 6:30 will precede the discussions.

Two discussion groups will cover the following topics:

Fixed Asset Records—The discussion leaders for this topic will be William N. F. Geiger, DeLaval Separator Company; David J. McNamara, International Business Machines Corp., Kingston; and James E. Walsh, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp.

Special Accounting Statements —The discussion leaders for this group will be Edwin Kittle, Ferroxcube Corporation of America; William F. McClintock, International Business Machines Corp., Poughkeepsie; and Eugene L. Zieha, International Business Machines Corp., Fishkill.

Robert Conrad, president of the Mid-Hudson Chapter will preside at the dinner.

Best for Baths

Today's bathroom is coming in for more attention than almost any other room in the house. Baths are getting bigger, and houses are getting more of them. But one thing that hasn't changed much since the Romans started the trend to comfortable bath in pleasant surroundings is the material that covers floors, walls and even the tub. That's ceramic tile, for ages one of the most popular surfaces for bathing areas because of its waterproof and sanitary qualities.

Optimism Key to Success

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Barbara Wren of Dallas, Tex., has helped with the typing of these articles for several years and I will let her tell the story of today's hand in her own words.

"My partner's two-diamond response to my opening no-trump was the Jacoby transfer bid, and I responded two hearts just as I was supposed to. When he jumped to four hearts, I knew that I should have passed but I did have an absolute maximum 17 high card points with three aces and a five-card suit and I decided to experiment with a slam contract.

"When I saw the dummy, I decided right then and there to give up experimenting. But I still had to struggle along with this effort. I remembered that Mr. Jacoby always says, 'Give the cards a chance and maybe they will come through for you.'

"I took the ace of diamonds and promptly led back the nine spot. West studied a while and covered with the ten. I ruffed in dummy, played three rounds of trumps and took care to win the third lead in my own hand.

"Then I proceeded to do some thinking and worrying. If I could establish two winners in diamonds, I could discard two of dummy's four losing spades. One was going to go on my long club. My problem was whether to lead a low diamond and trust that the queen would have to come up or to play the jack and hope to bump the eight out of the East hand.

"I remembered that West had thought a while before playing the 10 and decided to try the bump. I played my jack. West put on the queen and there was East's eight. Also I had my three spade discards and slam."

Large 4-H Group Completes First Tractor Program

4-H and F. F. A. Members recently completed the first project in the 4-H Tractor Program.

The Project was conducted in four instruction sessions; two each at Anderson's Garage in Accord and Davenport's Garage in High Falls. The course was held four consecutive Saturdays, 1-3 p. m.

The first year Tractor project covered the following—What Makes a Tractor Run; Lubrication and Oil; Nuts, Bolts, Screws and Rivets; Clean Air for the Engine; Maintenance, Ignition and Cooling Systems. The course stresses Safety and Care—not Repair.

Instructors and dealers cooperating in the program were: From Anderson's Garage, Floyd Countryman and Elmer Roxby of Accord; from Davenport's, Al Masten and Edward Sznerkowski of High Falls.

Each member to complete the project had to attend three meetings and complete their Tractor Manual. According to Carlton M. Conklin, 4-H Club agent, the following participated: Bruce and Warry Bogart, Stone Ridge; Fred Bouton, Shokan; Brian Castle, Ashokan; Carl Embree, Kerhonkson; Harold Hommel, Flatbush; Stephen Kolodziejski, Kerhonkson; Michael Kozenko and Anthony Wittek, Flatbush; Roger Rockwell, Stone Ridge; Ralph VanAken, Stone Ridge; Dennis VanWagenen, Lomontville; Michael Warren, High Falls; Zeno Wicks, Accord; Arthur and Pratt Boice, Lake Katrine; Steve Davis, Accord and Vinton Wynkoop, Kerhonkson.

Wood Paneling Will Accent Neutral Walls

Don't forget that wood is a color, too!

The high-fidelity tones of a handsome woodgrain paneling might well be all you need to accent neutral walls in a distinctive living room treatment, according to Robert Huff, home improvement director for Marlite paneling.

Yellow and orange accessories, which give a bright accent to the walls, complete the unusual decorative treatment.

Huff points out that 16"x8' Marlite woodgrain planks can be installed right over existing walls. Home handymen can do the job, utilizing detailed instruction sheets provided with each package of paneling.

Maintenance is reduced to the minimum with this plastic-finished hardboard paneling, which can be cleaned with a damp or sudsy cloth. Refinishing is never necessary.

Painting Aluminum

Aluminum is an easy metal to paint. By selection of the proper paint materials for the exposure expected and by adequate preparation of the surface to receive the paint, excellent service will result. A suitably chosen and properly applied coating will enable the user to obtain almost any desired surface appearance and will lengthen the life of aluminum products.

Clean Quickly

The quick-drying feature of modern latex paints makes it necessary to clean brushes and tools immediately after using these products. If you have spattered some of the paint, wipe it off immediately with a damp cloth.

Expansion Cape Style House for Growing Family

The young couple concerned with bringing up a large family will find a ready ally in this cape styled house called the "Greene." For immediate needs, the designer has planned a complete living unit on the first floor. The three bedrooms second floor, can of course, be finished economically during the original construction, but for those who wish to wait until family needs make expansion necessary, the upper level will be a fine opportunity for the do-it-yourself fan.

The first floor has many features ideally suited to meet the needs of most families. The kitchen is very well equipped to handle mealtime chores and separates from the large dining area with a bar which extends about six feet from the wall. Living room area is 13 by 17 feet and shows a full wall along the stair-case to the upper level. This allows passage through the front hall to the above bedrooms without disturbance or aggravation to the formality of the living room.

The two bedrooms on the first floor show large closet areas and are well fenestrated for light and air. It would be advisable to install the full shed dormer during the construction stage because it is an important factor in the expansion planning of the "Greene" design.

The size of the basic house excluding the breezeway and garage is 26x38 feet or 988 square feet. Blueprints can be obtained at moderate cost by using the accompanying coupon. With them you will receive form specifications to aid in discussing costs with your builder.

Sharp Heels

Attempts to save money by using low-grade flooring materials often end in disaster. The constant pounding of spiked heels on soft surfaces, for example, can cause thousands of small indentations and make a floor almost impossible to keep clean. Ceramic tile, on the other hand, is undaunted and undented by heel pressure.

"Morestan gave us more effective and longer control over red mites than we had ever seen with a single application of any product."

Mr. Roy M. Latchaw
Bloomingdale, Michigan

Morestan

"Up until this season, we had tried to control mites by other methods. Oil sprays can't be used because we interplant with peaches. So-called 'summer control' methods didn't work even on 7 to 10 day intervals," continued Mr. Latchaw.

"This time, we applied a pre-bloom spray (on April 25th) as close as possible to blooming stage according to Chemagro's directions, using a 1:100 concentration of one pound of Morestan 25% Wettable Powder in 100 gallons of water. It was put on by a 35 GPM air blast sprayer of 500 gallon capacity.

"We noted (on May 7th) that although there was a heavy population of overwintering mite eggs, a good half of those eggs did not appear to be viable. Over three weeks later (on May 29th), the Morestan block still looked very clean. We found an occasional mite and very few eggs. On June 10th, we still couldn't find more than a few isolated mites on the trees and this was impressive because the temperature had been well over 90° for the past five days—a condition which predisposes red mites to rapid multiplication. As late as June 24th, the average mite count still hadn't risen above one or two per leaf. We knew then that our first application of Morestan would hold that block for the balance of the summer.

"Based on this performance, we plan to assign Morestan a major role in our mite control program for next year."

Results like this are impressive, but not uncommon with Morestan. This new pre-bloom miticide gives longest residual control . . . better than any other spray including oil. It is very economical with lowest cost-per-day. Morestan controls resistant species—both red mite and two-spotted—also pear psylla. And it has a strong ovicidal effect.

If mites have been a problem for you, get Morestan this season for that all-important pre-bloom spray. Morestan is made by the makers of Guthion.

"The Criterions have received tremendous acclaim for a number of years in Hudson Valley appearances and are well-known for their annual Pageant of Champions each summer in Dietz Memorial Stadium," Shapiro said.

The corps, comprising men from throughout the Mid-Hudson Valley area, has been engaged throughout the winter months in preparation for a heavy schedule of appearances in both parades and drum corps competitions this summer.

Shapiro said the Criterions' business manager, Spencer Myers, made arrangemens for the corps appearance in the "Review of Corps Sounds", and promised a concert which will include "a brand new repertoire of music, with an entirely new look, many new faces and basically a new corps."

Myers said the corps is off to an early spring start since tentative plans call for the 10th annual Pageant of Champions to be scheduled at an earlier date than in previous years. An announcement on the definite date for that show, which annually attracts upwards of 7,000, will be made within the next two weeks, Myers said.

KINGSTON KNITTING MILL EXPANSION —A new 8,000 square foot addition is nearing completion at Kingston Knitting Mills Inc., 139 Cornell Street. Three drying units (center) are part of the equipment in the new cloth washing department. The new layout provides for many more pieces of technical equipment relating to the manufacture of sweaters. The addition will enable the mill to increase production by approximately 20 per cent. The new facility is expected to be in full operation in about two weeks. The firm also has a plant in Port Ewen. Paints Help Industry

Special paints formulated to meet specific industrial requirements have been made possible by modern paint technology. Paints are often used to protect expensive industrial equipment against abrasion, weathering and other deteriorative conditions. In addition to providing protection, paint's industrial uses include decoration, illumination, identification, and sanitation.

Optimism Key to Success

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Barbara Wren of Dallas, Tex., has helped with the typing of these articles for several years and I will let her tell the story of today's hand in her own words.

"My partner's two-diamond response to my opening no-trump was the Jacoby transfer bid, and I responded two hearts just as I was supposed to. When he jumped to four hearts, I knew that I should have passed but I did have an absolute maximum 17 high card points with three aces and a five-card suit and I decided to experiment with a slam contract.

"When I saw the dummy, I decided right then and there to give up experimenting. But I still had to struggle along with this effort. I remembered that Mr. Jacoby always says, 'Give the cards a chance and maybe they will come through for you.'

"I took the ace of diamonds and promptly led back the nine spot. West studied a while and covered with the ten. I ruffed in dummy, played three rounds of trumps and took care to win the third lead in my own hand.

"Then I proceeded to do some thinking and worrying. If I could establish two winners in diamonds, I could discard two of dummy's four losing spades. One was going to go on my long club. My problem was whether to lead a low diamond and trust that the queen would have to come up or to play the jack and hope to bump the eight out of the East hand.

"I remembered that West had thought a while before playing the 10 and decided to try the bump. I played my jack. West put on the queen and there was East's eight. Also I had my three spade discards and slam."

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, April 4, the 95th day of 1964. There are 271 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1790, Congress authorized the creation of the Coast Guard with 80 men, operating as the Revenue Marine and later as the Revenue-Cutter Service.

On this date

In 1791, inventor and philanthropist Peter Cooper was born.

In 1818, the United States flag was officially established as being made of 13 stripes and a star for each state.

In 1941, German armies rushed through Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria in tier drive to the frontiers of Yugoslavia and Greece.

In 1943, American bombers blasted enemy shipping in the port of Naples, Italy.

In 1949, 12 nations, including the United States, signed the North Atlantic Treaty.

Ten years ago — Arturo Toscanini, 87, announced he would retire after 68 years as an orchestra conductor.

Five years ago — The United States rejected a Soviet demand that American planes remain below an altitude of 10,000 feet on flights to Berlin.

One year ago — The Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Curtis LeMay, told senators he thought the fighter plane proposed by the Boeing Company better than the one for which General Dynamics was awarded a contract.

Area Accountants Schedule Seminar

Mid-Hudson Chapter of the National Association of Accountants will hold its first spring chapter seminar Monday at the Poughkeepsie Inn. A social hour at 6 p. m. and dinner at 6:30 will precede the discussions.

Two discussion groups will cover the following topics:

Fixed Asset Records—The discussion leaders for this topic will be William N. F. Geiger, DeLaval Separator Company; David J. McNamara, International Business Machines Corp., Kingston; and James E. Walsh, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp.

Special Accounting Statements —The discussion leaders for this group will be Edwin Kittle, Ferroxcube Corporation of America; William F. McClintock, International Business Machines Corp., Poughkeepsie; and Eugene L. Zieha, International Business Machines Corp., Fishkill.

Robert Conrad, president of the Mid-Hudson Chapter will preside at the dinner.

Best for Baths

Today's bathroom is coming in for more attention than almost any other room in the house. Baths are getting bigger, and houses are getting more of them. But one thing that hasn't changed much since the Romans started the trend to comfortable bath in pleasant surroundings is the material that covers floors, walls and even the tub. That's ceramic tile, for ages one of the most popular surfaces for bathing areas because of its waterproof and sanitary qualities.

Large 4-H Group Completes First Tractor Program

4-H and F. F. A. Members recently completed the first project in the 4-H Tractor Program.

The Project was conducted in four instruction sessions; two each at Anderson's Garage in Accord and Davenport's Garage in High Falls. The course was held four consecutive Saturdays, 1 - 3 p. m.

The first year Tractor project covered the following—What Makes a Tractor Run; Lubrication and Oil; Nuts, Bolts, Screws and Rivets; Clean Air for the Engine; Maintenance, Ignition and Cooling Systems. The course stresses Safety and Care—not Repair.

Instructors and dealers cooperating in the program were: From Anderson's Garage, Floyd Countryman and Elmer Roxby of Accord; from Davenport's, Al Masten and Edward Sznerkowski of High Falls.

Each member to complete the project had to attend three meetings and complete their Tractor Manual. According to Carlton M. Conklin, 4-H Club agent, the following participated: Bruce and Warry Bogart, Stone Ridge; Fred Bouton, Shokan; Brian Castle, Ashokan; Carl Embree, Kerhonkson; Harold Hommel, Flatbush; Stephen Kolodziejski, Kerhonkson; Michael Kozenko and Anthony Wittek, Flatbush; Roger Rockwell, Stone Ridge; Ralph VanAken, Stone Ridge; Dennis VanWagenen, Lomontville; Michael Warren, High Falls; Zeno Wicks, Accord; Arthur and Pratt Boice, Lake Katrine; Steve Davis, Accord and Vinton Wynkoop, Kerhonkson.

Wood Paneling Will Accent Neutral Walls

Don't forget that wood is a color, too!

The high-fidelity tones of a handsome woodgrain paneling might well be all you need to accent neutral walls in a distinctive living room treatment, according to Robert Huff, home improvement director for Marlite paneling.

Yellow and orange accessories, which give a bright accent to the walls, complete the unusual decorative treatment.

Huff points out that 16"x8' Marlite woodgrain planks can be installed right over existing walls. Home handymen can do the job, utilizing detailed instruction sheets provided with each package of paneling.

Maintenance is reduced to the minimum with this plastic-finished hardboard paneling, which can be cleaned with a damp or sudsy cloth. Refinishing is never necessary.

The "Watchtower of the Universe," so called by South American liberator, Simon Bolivar, is 20,561-foot El Chimborazo peak in the Ecuadorean Andes.

Expansion Cape Style House for Growing Family

The young couple concerned with bringing up a large family will find a ready ally in this cape styled house called the "Greene." For immediate needs, the designer has planned a complete living unit on the first floor. The three bedrooms second floor, can of course, be finished economically during the original construction, but for those who wish to wait until family needs make expansion necessary, the upper level will be a fine opportunity for the do-it-yourself fan.

The first floor has many features ideally suited to meet the needs of most families. The kitchen is very well equipped to handle mealtime chores and separates from the large dining area with a bar which extends about six feet from the wall. Living room area is 13 by 17 feet and shows a full wall along the stair-case to the upper level. This allows passage through the front hall to the above bedrooms without disturbance or aggravation to the formality of the living room.

The two bedrooms on the first floor show large closet areas and are well fenestrated for light and air. It would be advisable to install the full shed dormer during the construction stage because it is an important factor in the expansion planning of the "Greene" design.

The size of the basic house excluding the breezeway and garage is 26x38 feet or 988 square feet. Blueprints can be obtained at moderate cost by using the accompanying coupon. With them you will receive form specifications to aid in discussing costs with your builder.

Painting Aluminum

Aluminum is an easy metal to paint. By selection of the proper paint materials for the exposure expected and by adequate preparation of the surface to receive the paint, excellent service will result. A suitably chosen and properly applied coating will enable the user to obtain almost any desired surface appearance and will lengthen the life of aluminum products.

Clean Quickly

The quick-drying feature of modern latex paints makes it necessary to clean brushes and tools immediately after using these products. If you have spattered some of the paint, wipe it off immediately with a damp cloth.

Sharp Heels

Attempts to save money by using low-grade flooring materials often end in disaster. The constant pounding of spiked heels on soft surfaces, for example, can cause thousands of small indentations and make a floor almost impossible to keep clean. Ceramic tile, on the other hand, is undaunted and undented by heel pressure.

"Morestan gave us more effective and longer control over red mites than we had ever seen with a single application of any product."

Mr. Roy M. Latchaw

Morestan

"Up until this season, we had tried to control mites by other methods. Oil sprays can't be used because we interplant with peaches. So-called 'summer control' methods didn't work even on 7 to 10 day intervals," continued Mr. Latchaw.

"This time, we applied a pre-bloom spray (on April 25th) as close as possible to blooming stage according to Chemagro's directions, using a 1:100 concentration of one pound of Morestan 25% Wettable Powder in 100 gallons of water. It was put on by a 35 GPM air blast sprayer of 500 gallon capacity.

"We noted (on May 7th) that although there was a heavy population of overwintering mite eggs, a good half of those eggs did not appear to be viable. Over three weeks later (on May 29th), the Morestan block still looked very clean. We found an occasional mite and very few eggs. On June 10th, we still couldn't find more than a few isolated mites on the trees and this was impressive because the temperature had been well over 90° for the past five days—a condition which predisposes red mites to rapid multiplication. As late as June 24th, the average mite count still hadn't risen above one or two per leaf. We knew then that our first application of Morestan would hold that block for the balance of the summer.

"Based on this performance, we plan to assign Morestan a major role in our mite control program for next year."

Results like this are impressive, but not uncommon with Morestan. This new pre-bloom miticide gives longest residual control . . . better than any other spray including oil. It is very economical with lowest cost-per-day. Morestan controls resistant species—both red mite and two-spotted—also pear psylla. And it has a strong ovicidal effect.

If mites have been a problem for you, get Morestan this season for that all-important pre-bloom spray. Morestan is made by the makers of Guthion.

Shooski-Foertsch Engagement Announced; Wedding Is Scheduled for May 10, 1964

CAROLYN LEA SHOOSKI

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Shooski of Saxton, Route 1, Saugerties, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn Lea, to Gene Frederick Foertsch of Highland, son of Mrs. Ruth Walsh of Highland and Frederick Foertsch of New Paltz.

Miss Shooski is a graduate of Saugerties High School, class of 1963 and is now employed by Nekos Pharmacy in Kingston.

Mr. Foertsch is employed by Halstead Cadillac, Poughkeepsie.

B'nai B'rith Elects Their New Officers; President Is Mrs. William Helmrich

B'nai B'rith Women unanimously approved the recommendations of its nominating committee when it elected the proposed slate of new officers last week during a meeting at the Jewish Community Center.

Mrs. William Helmrich was chosen to head the Kingston chapter of this international philanthropic and service organization. Her staff includes Mrs. Jerry Cohen, Mrs. Seymour Semilof and Mrs. Harris Gally, vice presidents; Mrs. Stanley Kohnberg, recording secretary; Mrs. Ronald Wolfield, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Morton Levine, treasurer; Mrs. Edwin Kalish, financial secretary; and Mrs. Irwin Gellen, counselor. Serving as trustees will be the Mmes. Ross Ellis, Irving Alcon, Sam Barnovitz, Charles S. Ronder, Robert A. Ronder and Isadore Werbalowsky.

Named as delegates to the Hudson Valley Council were the Mmes. Helmrich, Cohen, Semilof, Gally, Kalish, Kohnberg, Gellen, Arnold Pinsley, Marvin Millens and Flo Powell.

Mrs. Helmrich, the president-elect, thanked the members for their confidence in her and promised to help add additional luster to B'nai B'rith's record of service and philanthropic work, on both a community and national level.

She urged members to contribute clothing and other items to the rummage sale which begins Monday, April 6 and runs through Wednesday, April 8 at the former Weisberg Store, 271 Fair Street. She stressed that volunteers are still needed to help with sales. Those able to oblige with contributions of clothes or service were asked to get in touch with her at her home.

Aiding the sale are the Mmes. Charles Ronder, Richard Kalish, Ross Ellis, Irwin Gellen, Stanley Kohnberg, Pearl Adin, Harold Beller and Arnold Pinsly.

Mrs. Gellen and Mrs. Edwin Kalish reported on the Hudson Valley spring conference, held in March. Arnold Pinsly, past-president of the men's lodge, was elected treasurer. The main speaker at the conference, which featured discussions on Hillel and ADL, urged members to support the Anti-Defamation League, which fights for understanding and against prejudice wherever it is found.

Mrs. Gellen, presiding at the last general meeting of her term of office, thanked Mrs. Arnold Pinsly for conducting the second leadership and personality development course. A third one, open to all members, will begin in May.

She also thanked Mrs. Jerry Cohen and Mrs. Walter Suskind for volunteering to organize the latest party at Wassiaic Home. Mrs. Jeremiah Sachs, Mrs. Martin Kantor and Miss Blanche Kirschenblum will form the committee to award a $100 scholarship to a graduating high school senior girl.

In an interesting highlight to the evening, Mrs. Jacob Rubinstein, adult Jewish education chairman, gave a brief review of little-known Passover traditions. President Gellen expressed the thanks of the chapter for the enlightening information presented by Mrs. Rubinstein through the past year.

The book, "The Quest for the Dream," by John P. Roach, written on assignment for the Anti-Defamation League and recently presented to the Kingston Public Library in memory of President John F. Kennedy, was reviewed by Mrs. Stanley Plasker. Her co-chairman in ADL, Mrs. Stanley Wyman, briefly reviewed the controversial play, "The Deputy," presenting the favorable and critical comments surrounding its production.

A lively sale of miscellaneous articles followed with Mrs. Arnold Pinsly as auctioneer, assisted by Mrs. John Levy, Mrs. Ronald Wolfield and Mrs. Harold Beller. Refreshments were then served.

Slim Colors

Since dark colors are more slenderizing than pastels, the wise mother-to-be will stick to navy for her spring dressup wardrobe and use lighter colors as accents.

Freda Kupp, Alo Saluste Exchange Marriage Vows in Rochester; Mullens Is Best Man

Miss Freda Kupp, daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Pease of Andover, N. Y., exchanged marriage vows with Alo Saluste, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Saluste of 130 Cedar Street, Kingston, N. Y., on March 30.

The ceremony took place at the Third Presbyterian Church in Rochester, N. Y., with the Rev. William Young officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by Roger Marsocci. She wore a white taffeta gown with a cathedral train and scoop neckline. The gown was fashioned with long sleeves, and fitted bodice. A crown of jewels held a bouant veil of silk illusion and the bride carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations tipped in blue with rosebuds and stephanotis.

Miss Patricia Barry of Rochester was maid of honor. She wore a floor length blue silk organza gown with wide unpressed pleats. The waistband and back panel were outlined with a roseprint. Miss Barry carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations tipped with blue.

Attendants were Mrs. Donald Wolden of Rochester and Miss Phyllis Dye of Wellsville. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the maid of honor except in a darker shade of blue. They also carried colonial bouquets of white carnations tipped in blue.

A Kingston man, Barney Millens, served as best man for the bridegroom. Ushering were John Sheldon of Rochester and John Elder of Rochester.

Approximately 150 guests were received at a reception given at the Wishing Well in Rochester. Afterwards the couple left on a wedding trip to Miami Beach, Fla.

The bride is a graduate of Highland Hospital School of Nursing and is now on the staff there. Her husband was graduated from the University of Rochester and is now employed at Xerox in Rochester. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Saluste will make their home at 65 Lenox Street, Rochester, when they return on or about April 5.

Shooski-Foertsch Engagement Announced; Wedding Is Scheduled for May 10, 1964

CAROLYN LEA SHOOSKI

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Shooski of Saxton, Route 1, Saugerties, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn Lea, to Gene Frederick Foertsch of Highland, son of Mrs. Ruth Walsh of Highland and Frederick Foertsch of New Paltz.

Miss Shooski is a graduate of Saugerties High School, class of 1963 and is now employed by Nekos Pharmacy in Kingston.

Mr. Foertsch is employed by Halstead Cadillac, Poughkeepsie.

B'nai B'rith Elects Their New Officers; President Is Mrs. William Helmrich

B'nai B'rith Women unanimously approved the recommendations of its nominating committee when it elected the proposed slate of new officers last week during a meeting at the Jewish Community Center.

Mrs. William Helmrich was chosen to head the Kingston chapter of this international philanthropic and service organization. Her staff includes Mrs. Jerry Cohen, Mrs. Seymour Semilof and Mrs. Harris Gally, vice presidents; Mrs. Stanley Kohnberg, recording secretary; Mrs. Ronald Wolfield, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Morton Levine, treasurer; Mrs. Edwin Kalish, financial secretary; and Mrs. Irwin Gellen, counselor. Serving as trustees will be the Mmes. Ross Ellis, Irving Alcon, Sam Barnovitz, Charles S. Ronder, Robert A. Ronder and Isadore Werbalowsky.

Named as delegates to the Hudson Valley Council were the Mmes. Helmrich, Cohen, Semilof, Gally, Kalish, Kohnberg, Gellen, Arnold Pinsley, Marvin Millens and Flo Powell.

Mrs. Helmrich, the president-elect, thanked the members for their confidence in her and promised to help add additional luster to B'nai B'rith's record of service and philanthropic work, on both a community and national level.

She urged members to contribute clothing and other items to the rummage sale which begins Monday, April 6 and runs through Wednesday, April 8 at the former Weisberg Store, 271 Fair Street. She stressed that volunteers are still needed to help with sales. Those able to oblige with contributions of clothes or service were asked to get in touch with her at her home.

Aiding the sale are the Mmes. Charles Ronder, Richard Kalish, Ross Ellis, Irwin Gellen, Stanley Kohnberg, Pearl Adin, Harold Beller and Arnold Pinsly.

Mrs. Gellen and Mrs. Edwin Kalish reported on the Hudson Valley spring conference, held in March. Arnold Pinsly, past-president of the men's lodge, was elected treasurer. The main speaker at the conference, which featured discussions on Hillel and ADL, urged members to support the Anti-Defamation League, which fights for understanding and against prejudice wherever it is found.

Mrs. Gellen, presiding at the last general meeting of her term of office, thanked Mrs. Arnold Pinsly for conducting the second leadership and personality development course. A third one, open to all members, will begin in May.

She also thanked Mrs. Jerry Cohen and Mrs. Walter Suskind for volunteering to organize the latest party at Wassiaic Home. Mrs. Jeremiah Sachs, Mrs. Martin Kantor and Miss Blanche Kirschenbium will form the committee to award a $100 scholarship to a graduating high school senior girl.

In an interesting highlight to the evening, Mrs. Jacob Rubinstein, adult Jewish education chairman, gave a brief review of little-known Passover traditions. President Gellen expressed the thanks of the chapter for the enlightening information presented by Mrs. Rubinstein through the past year.

The book, "The Quest for the Dream," by John P. Roach, written on assignment for the Anti-Defamation League and recently presented to the Kingston Public Library in memory of President John F. Kennedy, was reviewed by Mrs. Stanley Plasker. Her co-chairman in ADL, Mrs. Stanley Wyman, briefly reviewed the controversial play, "The Deputy," presenting the favorable and critical comments surrounding its production.

A lively sale of miscellaneous articles followed with Mrs. Arnold Pinsly as auctioneer, assisted by Mrs. John Levy, Mrs. Ronald Wolfield and Mrs. Harold Beller. Refreshments were then served.

Slim Colors

Since dark colors are more slenderizing than pastels, the wise mother-to-be will stick to navy for her spring dressup wardrobe and use lighter colors as accents.

MRS. ALO SALUSTE

Miss Freda Kupp, daughter of Mrs. Gertrude Pease of Andover, N. Y., exchanged marriage vows with Alo Saluste, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Saluste of 130 Cedar Street, Kingston, N. Y., on March 30.

The ceremony took place at the Third Presbyterian Church in Rochester, N. Y., with the Rev. William Young officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by Roger Marsocci. She wore a white taffeta gown with a cathedral train and scoop neckline. The gown was fashioned with long sleeves, and fitted bodice. A crown of jewels held a bouant veil of silk illusion and the bride carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations tipped in blue with rosebuds and stephanotis.

Miss Patricia Barry of Rochester was maid of honor. She wore a floor length blue silk organza gown with wide unpressed pleats. The waistband and back panel were outlined with a rose-print. Miss Barry carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations tipped with blue.

Attendants were Mrs. Donald Wolden of Rochester and Miss Phyllis Dye of Wellsville. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the maid of honor except in a darker shade of blue. They also carried colonial bouquets of white carnations tipped in blue.

A Kingston man, Barney Millens, served as best man for the bridegroom. Ushering were John Sheldon of Rochester and John Elder of Rochester.

Approximately 150 guests were received at a reception given at the Wishing Well in Rochester. Afterwards the couple left on a wedding trip to Miami Beach, Fla.

The bride is a graduate of Highland Hospital School of Nursing and is now on the staff there. Her husband was graduated from the University of Rochester and is now employed at Xerox in Rochester. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Saluste will make their home at 65 Lenox Street, Rochester, when they return on or about April 5.

HOBART G. ARMSTRONG JR.

Harvard University Confers Degree Upon H. G. Armstrong Jr.

Nearly 450 students received mid-year degrees from Harvard University on March 9, 1964.

Since ceremonies are not held in March, the mid-year degree recipients are invited to the June Commencement exercises where they will march in the procession and receive their diplomas from the officials of the schools.

Among them will be Hobart G. Armstrong Jr., of 56 Gage Street, this city.

A well known sports figure in this area, Mr. Armstrong was a three year varsity football player at Kingston High School and was on All-DUSO teams for three years.

Armstrong also played varsity baseball and varsity basketball. While at Harvard, he was on the varsity football team for two years and a member of the varsity track team.

Armstrong was employed by IBM on September 3, 1963 as a programmer trainee.

Upon his employment he was assigned to the IBM DS Product Testing Laboratory in Poughkeepsie for the purpose of receiving programming training.

After completion of three months training, he returned to Kingston where he was assigned to the DS Product Testing Laboratory. This laboratory in Kingston is responsible for the testing of new devices and machines and Mr. Armstrong is doing programming associated with these tests.

Mr. Armstrong resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hobart G. Armstrong Sr.

80 PC of Growers Favor Program on Hail Suppression

Substantial interest in a hail supression project for orchardmen of the lower Hudson Valley area was indicated Thursday night at a meeting in the M. G. Hurd & Sons cold storage plant, Clintondale, a spokesman for the group said today.

Some 80 growers from several area counties attended, and an estimated 80 per cent of them appeared to favor a cloud seeding project.

One is offered by the W. E. Howell Associates Inc., of Lexington, Mass. Dr. Howell, of the corporation, had hail suppression projects in the area in recent years and more than a decade ago in an attempt to fill drought-stricken New York reservoirs.

Before a program is started enough orchardmen to bring the total acreage to 15,000 must sign up for it.

It was announced recently that a combination of hail suppression and indemnification against hail loss had been achieved.

Anthony Rubino, representing an association of orchardmen in Virginia and West Virginia, last night told of a program which has been under way in the two states for seven years.

Fire Sweeps Sawmill

Fire of suspicious origin early today destroyed a large unused sawmill on the property of St. Andrews Novitiate, Hyde Park. The flames were discovered shortly before midnight and firemen from Hyde Park and Roosevelt companies were dispatched to the scene. The frame structure, located off Route 9 at the foot of Teller Hill, had not been used for 13 years. Fire Chief Lynn A. Horton said it appeared the fire was of incendiary origin and is under investigation.

Berle Will Do Defenders Show On April 11th

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Uncle Miltie getting serious again?

After CBS Television announced it was running a segment of "The Defenders" ahead of schedule because the network believes they have an Emmy dramatic performance from Milton Berle, I called the comedian in Las Vegas.

"Yes, it's true," he admitted. "I play a night club comic with suicidal tendencies. I have often died onstage but this will be the first time that I ever tried dying offstage. It's called 'Die Laughing'."

It always surprises people that Berle can be so good a serious actor.

Berle reminded me he started in show business as an actor with Pearl White in "The Perils of Pauline."

"We shot them on Long Island because no one—except a couple of oranges — had ever heard of Hollywood."

Berle's segment airs April 11.

He had to get written permission from NBC Television to appear on another network.

Berle's performance just makes the Television Academy deadline—April 13. This is a plus factor because good performances early in the season are often forgotten.

Curfew for 19-Under

NEOSHO, Mo. (AP)—Everyone 19 years of age and under has been banned from the streets of Neosho after 7 p.m. unless accompanied by a parent or guardian.

The City Council adopted the curfew Thursday and put up a $300 reward for a tip leading to the vandals who have damaged 250 automobiles in 10 days.

Jaycees to Hold Egg Hunt Sunday

Area youngsters are reminded that the annual Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce Easter Egg Hunt will be held Sunday, April 5, at Forsyth Park at 2 p. m.

The children will be divided into three age groups—5 years old and under, 6-8 and 9-12—and will hunt for 2000 chocolate creme Easter eggs. In addition, special wards will be given each age group. Included in these special prizes are several Easter Egg Savings Banks donated by the Kingston Savings Bank. Chairman of the event this year for the Jaycees is Pat Jordon. Assisting him are Robert Brown, Charles Carpenter, Martin Sherry, Emil Buhler, David Gally and Abe Trowbridge.

Patrolman Suspended

A Poughkeepsie patrolman was suspended from duty Friday by Police Chief John L. Martin pending a hearing before the Police and Fire Trial Board on a charge of drinking on duty. Patrolman Eugene Lewis, who resides at 25 Gate Street, was sent home yesterday morning by a desk lieutenant, who said the patrolman was unfit for duty. Lewis has been a member of the police department since March, 1955.

HOBART G. ARMSTRONG JR.

Harvard University Confers Degree Upon H. G. Armstrong Jr.

Nearly 450 students received mid-year degrees from Harvard University on March 9, 1964.

Since ceremonies are not held in March, the mid-year degree recipients are invited to the June Commencement exercises where they will march in the procession and receive their diplomas from the officials of the schools.

Among them will be Hobart G. Armstrong Jr., of 56 Gage Street, this city.

A well known sports figure in this area, Mr. Armstrong was a three year varsity football player at Kingston High School and was on All-DUSO teams for three years.

Armstrong also played varsity baseball and varsity basketball. While at Harvard, he was on the varsity football team for two years and a member of the varsity track team.

Armstrong was employed by IBM on September 3, 1963 as a programmer trainee.

Upon his employment he was assigned to the IBM DS Product Testing Laboratory in Poughkeepsie for the purpose of receiving programming training.

After completion of three months training, he returned to Kingston where he was assigned to the DS Product Testing Laboratory. This laboratory in Kingston is responsible for the testing of new devices and machines and Mr. Armstrong is doing programming associated with these tests.

Mr. Armstrong resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hobart G. Armstrong Sr.

80 PC of Growers Favor Program on Hail Suppression

Substantial interest in a hail supression project for orchardmen of the lower Hudson Valley area was indicated Thursday night at a meeting in the M. G. Hurd & Sons cold storage plant, Clintondale, a spokesman for the group said today.

Some 80 growers from several area counties attended, and an estimated 80 per cent of them appeared to favor a cloud seeding project.

One is offered by the W. E. Howell Associates Inc., of Lexington, Mass. Dr. Howell, of the corporation, had hail suppression projects in the area in recent years and more than a decade ago in an attempt to fill drought-stricken New York reservoirs.

Before a program is started enough orchardmen to bring the total acreage to 15,000 must sign up for it.

It was announced recently that a combination of hail suppression and indemnification against hail loss had been achieved.

Anthony Rubino, representing an association of orchardmen in Virginia and West Virginia, last night told of a program which has been under way in the two states for seven years.

Fire Sweeps Sawmill

Fire of suspicious origin early today destroyed a large unused sawmill on the property of St. Andrews Novitiate, Hyde Park. The flames were discovered shortly before midnight and firemen from Hyde Park and Roosevelt companies were dispatched to the scene. The frame structure, located off Route 9 at the foot of Teller Hill, had not been used for 13 years. Fire Chief Lynn A. Horton said it appeared the fire was of incendiary origin and is under investigation.

Berle Will Do Defenders Show On April 11th

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Uncle Miltie getting serious again?

After CBS Television announced it was running a segment of "The Defenders" ahead of schedule because the network believes they have an Emmy dramatic performance from Milton Berle, I called the comedian in Las Vegas.

"Yes, it's true," he admitted. "I play a night club comic with suicidal tendencies. I have often died onstage but this will be the first time that I ever tried dying offstage. It's called 'Die Laughing'."

It always surprises people that Berle can be so good a serious actor.

Berle reminded me he started in show business as an actor with Pearl White in "The Perils of Pauline."

"We shot them on Long Island because no one—except a couple of oranges — had ever heard of Hollywood."

Berle's segment airs April 11.

He had to get written permission from NBC Television to appear on another network.

Berle's performance just makes the Television Academy deadline—April 13. This is a plus factor because good performances early in the season are often forgotten.

Curfew for 19-Under

NEOSHO, Mo. (AP)—Everyone 19 years of age and under has been banned from the streets of Neosho after 7 p.m. unless accompanied by a parent or guardian.

The City Council adopted the curfew Thursday and put up a $300 reward for a tip leading to the vandals who have damaged 250 automobiles in 10 days.

Jaycees to Hold Egg Hunt Sunday

Area youngsters are reminded that the annual Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce Easter Egg Hunt will be held Sunday, April 5, at Forsyth Park at 2 p. m.

The children will be divided into three age groups—5 years old and under, 6-8 and 9-12—and will hunt for 2000 chocolate creme Easter eggs. In addition, special wards will be given each age group. Included in these special prizes are several Easter Egg Savings Banks donated by the Kingston Savings Bank. Chairman of the event this year for the Jaycees is Pat Jordon. Assisting him are Robert Brown, Charles Carpenter, Martin Sherry, Emil Buhler, David Gally and Abe Trowbridge.

Patrolman Suspended

A Poughkeepsie patrolman was suspended from duty Friday by Police Chief John L. Martin pending a hearing before the Police and Fire Trial Board on a charge of drinking on duty. Patrolman Eugene Lewis, who resides at 25 Gate Street, was sent home yesterday morning by a desk lieutenant, who said the patrolman was unfit for duty. Lewis has been a member of the police department since March, 1955.

Kiwanis 68-0 for UR Project

Speaker Notes Progress In Drug Prescriptions

"The Prescription of Tomorrow" featuring the key numbers of 20, 250, and 321, was the subject of a talk given before the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday by James H. Carr of Milton, drug company representative.

Prior to the talk, a vote of those in favor of the Kingston Urban Renewal East project was taken. An overwhelming 68 votes were counted in favor of the project, with no opposition votes recorded.

Life Expectancy Gains

Carr introduced his talk with the observation that children born today had a 10-year greater expectancy of life—that the death rate today would number approximately 5,800,000 people if it were not for the great strides made in drugs during the past 20 years.

The time element of 20 years progress was the first key number in the talk. The speaker said that more medical progress had been made in the last 20 years then had been achieved in the past century. One of the reasons for this was given as the intense interest and research program of the drug companies. This research led to the second key number in the talk—250.

The number 250 represented 250 million dollars spent by the drug industry for research in a constant endeavor to find better and more efficient drugs. Carr spoke of the large staffs employed by the drug companies and also touched upon the origin and costs of various drugs. One of these costs involves the necessity of producing drugs in "packages" to influence people to follow the doctor's orders to take them. Carr contrasted this present "packaging" with the taking of "foul-tasting liquids" which were a deterrent to the user.

The knowledge of new drug products by doctors was attributed by Carr to trade journals, conventions, mail and other advertising, and calls by public relations men of the drug industry.

Blunts Charge on Prices

The third key number, 321, was projected by the speaker as three dollars and 21 cents which was the cost of the average drug prescription today. He pointed out that over the last 20 years prices had risen 85 per cent, but drug prices had increased only 53 per cent. This indicated, according to Carr, that the average prescription price of $3.21 blunted the oftheard charges against drug companies that they were involved in excess profits for their merchandise.

In conclusion, Carr stressed the idea that the drug industry was continually trying for better medications, that the entire health team of doctors, hospitals, nurses and associated people "are behind the movement to better your health."

Measles Total

ber of cases per year reported in Ulster was 122. Dr. Drachman reported the cases recorded for the five year period as follows: 1958—106; 1959—437; 1960—32; 1961—18; 1962—20, a total of 613.

"This undoubtedly will be a big German measles year," Dr. Drachman said.

Dr. Drachman noted that the disease may cause possible birth defects if contracted during three months of pregnancy. He said that the county health department has given gamma globulin to pregnant women during the three-month period, for several years.

Until this year, Dr. Drachman noted, all gamma globulin was obtained from the State of New York at no cost. It was provided by the Red Cross. During the first quarter period of 1964, the health commissioner pointed out, there were so many requests for gamma globulin and the amount was so large that local health authorities had to start buying it. If pregnant women could afford it they were asked to pay the cost, or part of it, but if they were unable to purchase it, gamma globulin was given without cost.

Dr. Drachman said that during that period 348 cubic centimeters were given to women in the three-month period of pregnancy, 142 by the state and 206 by the county.

Symptoms of German measles, health officials said, include a slight fever and a rash in most adults and children.

It was explained that German measles differ from the so-called regular measles. The latter variety is caused by different virus, lasts two weeks and causes high fever and occasional blindness.

State Health Department records show a 10-fold increase over last year's cases reported in the upstate region.

Alaskans

supplies were strewn over the floor March 27 not a thing was disturbed Friday.

Power remained throughout the city, and communications were not disrupted.

Only the cracks in the streets and the few windows that have not been replaced give evidence to the destruction caused downtown Anchorage by last week's mighty shaking.

In Juneau, meanwhile, Gov. William A. Egan's request for a $50-million emergency bond issue was quickly acted upon. Within minutes after the governor had spoken to a joint session of the legislature, a bill authorizing the bond issue had been introduced in the Senate. The Senate Finance Committee expected to report it back to the Senate today.

Hurley Youth Is Safe at Alaskan Port After Wave

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. William L. Rowe, of Hurley, that their son, Jon K. Rowe, a radioman with the U. S. Navy stationed at the Naval Communications Station, Kodiak, Alaska, was not injured in the tidal wave last week.

Mrs. Rowe said today she received a letter written by her son on March 28 and postmarked at Kodiak, March 31, on Friday.

She said villagers at Kodiak had been warned of the coming of the tidal wave and they fled to high ground. Her son, was with other Navy personnel in a car when the earthquake rocked the area.

"Jon said cracks opened in the road ahead of him, three and four feet across," Mrs. Rowe said. "They were all frightened. They had to run for their lives to high ground. Villagers could see the tidal wave sweeping down on Kodiak. The wave washed the car Jon was riding in, and many other cars out to sea. Jon said the roads in Kodiak look like river beds. Jon and the other Navy men had to wade through four rivers to get back to their base."

Young Rowe has been in the Navy since January, 1962, and has been assigned to the Navy station at Kodiak since last October. He is a former Freeman newsboy, having had a route in the Hurley area.

Measure Doubles Time-off Ruling For Some Inmates

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Longer-term prisoners at county jails and farms in New York State will be eligible for more time off for good behavior beginning in June.

Gov. Rockefeller's office reported today he had signed a bill doubling the time-off provision for prisoners sentenced to terms of a year or more. It goes into effect June 1.

Under present law, terms may be reduced by 5 days for each month in jail. This will be increased to 10 days for each month.

Assemblyman P. Blice Esser, R-Westchester County, sponsored the measure.

Agreement

signed. It was signed for the United States by Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and for Panama by Moreno.

The agreement was markedly different from the one announced by the OAS March 15, which never became effective because of a dispute between the United States and Panama over interpretation.

The new agreement directs Anderson and his Panamanian counterpart to begin immediately "the necessary procedures with the objective of reaching a just and fair agreement which would be subject to the constitutional processes of each country."

Up to Senate Action

In the case of the United States, that simply means that if revisions in the 1903 canal treaty are agreed on—and wide changes have been demanded by Panama—they will be subject to action by the U.S. Senate.

The March 15 agreement had contained a provision that the United States and Panama would "carry out discussions and negotiations" on their differences. This wording does not appear in the new understanding which has been made effective by both sides. Its omission is a key to the success of the latest round of negotiations on restoring normal relations between the two countries.

The trouble earlier was that Chiari had interpreted the commitment to discuss and negotiate as a firm commitment by Johnson to rewrite the 1903 treaty. Johnson insisted that he would not accept any such precondition.

4 Persons Hurt In Rt. 28 Crash, Driver Is Cited

Four persons were injured and a driver was cited for a traffic offense after a two-car collision about 2:50 a. m. today on Route 32 in the Town of Rosendale.

Treated at Kingston Hospital for injuries were Helga Nowak, 18, of 376 Hasbrouck Avenue, one of the drivers, who suffered face and knee cuts; Robert Gallo, 19, of Box 211, East Kingston RD, a passenger, lip and mouth cuts; Thomas Quinn Jr., 20, of 129 Prospect Street, another passenger, right knee and elbow cuts, and Rose Heaton, 24, of Box 400, New Paltz, driver of the other car, face and knee cuts.

State Police from Lake Katrine substation said the Heaton car was traveling south on Rt. 32 when it struck the left front of the Nowak vehicle which was heading north on the highway. Troopers Norman Kilfoyle and W. E. Weidemann issued Miss Heaton a summons for failure to keep right, which is returnable before Peace Justice Raymond F. LeFever, Bloomington.

In another mishap, Roger C. Hansen was taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, for treatment of severe nose cuts after a one-car accident Black Cove at the Greene County line just north of the Ulster County line. Troopers from Leeds substation continued the investigation this morning and no other details were available.

$400,000 Sought For Hudson Study Of Water Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The welfare department is seeking $400,000 to begin after July 1 a study of pollution problems in the New York metropolitan area and as far north as Lake Champlain.

A House appropriations subcommittee made public today a welfare department statement that said a major anti-pollution effort must be made in the New York-New Jersey - Connecticut area.

The proposed study would be known as the Tri-State Metropolitan Project.

The department said its plans during the fiscal year that begins July 1 call for creation of a field station in Albany, N.Y., to study pollution problems of the Hudson River watershed which includes the Mohawk Valley and Lake Champlain.

CWA Group Meets

dations, have put it up to the union's membership whether to accept or reject the telephone company's "final" contract offer, The Associated Press reported.

Results are to be known by April 15.

The company said it would be an "outstanding settlement" and "finds it difficult to understand why the union negotiators would fail to accept it."

George Miller, the union's regional director, said a prolonged strike might be required to bring about any further changes in the contract proposal the company called its "final" one.

21,000 Eligible to Vote

The CWA negotiators directed Friday that a membership ballot on the proposal begin at once. Rejection would authorize a strike, they said. Some 21,000 plant workers are eligible to vote. Another 3,000 are ineligible under union regulations.

Of the 24,000 plant workers employed by the company, 18,000 hold jobs in the New York metropolitan area. The balance work Upstate.

The telephone company said its three-year contract offer, if accepted, would cost $10 million.

Major provisions of the offer:

General wage increases of $2 to $6 a week in all six wage zones of the state. Current pay scales for plant workers range from $67 to $143.50 a week.

Upgrading of both jobs and zones. This would mean increases of more than $6 for some 2,100 workers and, for 774 of them, $10.

Expanded hospital, medical and surgical protection.

An improved life insurance program.

Three weeks of vacation after 10 years of service instead of after 15 years.

Benefits and wage increases would be retroactive to Feb. 27, when the old contract expired. Wage talks would reopen after 12 months and again after 24 months of the new pact.

serve as chairmen of their county GOP organizations.

To Name Judicial Delegates

A resolution will also name nine delegates and nine alternates to the Third Judicial District convention.

The agenda calls for opening ceremonies and welcoming remarks by Chairman Wilson.

A resolution will be presented recommending the renomination of Sen. Kenneth B. Keating as a candidate for the U. S. Senate seat to be filled at the November election.

Two members to the GOP state committee will also be named.

Candidates named at the unofficial convention will be recommended to the Republican voters on Primary Day, June 2.

Dodd Calls CR Good Package

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd said today the House-passed civil rights bill would go far toward helping Negroes and others attain "their basic rights as American citizens" — but not "at the expense of other Americans."

The Connecticut Democrat called the 11-point civil rights package proposals "a good and moderate bill" that takes "a substantial step toward establishing the legal framework" within which Negroes can achieve their rights.

"But we will not accomplish this at the expense of other Americans," he emphasized in a speech prepared for the 22nd day of civil rights debate, the third Saturday session.

He said he found it hard to believe that any Americans would be deprived of their rights just because Negroes were assured of voting rights, the right to attend public school and the right to use a publicly owned amusement park or swimming pool.

Fuel Operator Is Given Suspended Term

BATAVIA, N.Y. (AP)—Gerald H. Post, 53, a former Diesel-fuel distributor, has received a suspended five-year prison sentence for failing to pay the state $57,000, including interest and penalties, for motor - fuel taxes.

Post, of Batavia, was sentenced Friday by Judge Philip J. Weiss of Genesee County Court. Post had pleaded guilty to failure to register as a distributor of Diesel motor fuel.

Post operated a service station in the nearby Town of Stafford. He was placed on probation for five years and ordered to pay the state at least $10,000 within six months.

The State Tax Commission said in Albany it would institute a civil action to recover the rest of the money owed.

Fear Death

blood pressure were still holding the line.

Doctors also reported that the general's body chemistry had improved indicating that the emergency technique to draw poisonous waste products from the blood was working.

But the report that the general—after three major operations and 13 days in critical condition—has shown signs of falling into a coma came as a surprise. The 6 p.m. announcement had followed a morning report indicating that the general's decline had halted.

A coma in aged patients is a frequent forerunner of death. There was no such indication from doctors at the Army's Walter Reed General Hospital. They said tersely:

"Gen. Douglas MacArthur shows signs of entering a peaceful coma."

There was also no indication from the doctors as to the cause of the coma. To bring a patient out of coma, doctors must treat the cause, which covers a wide spectrum of possibilities from poisoning to shock.

A coma is defined as a state of deep unconsciousness in which the patient does not respond to outside stimuli.

Doctors usually apply some mildly painful pressure to evoke a response from a patient suspected of falling into coma.

Also Friday, the doctors issued details of the general's vital signs and these were not too far off from earlier, more normal figures. The blood pressure was down only slightly, and the heart rate was up to 96 beats a minute, against an earlier heart rate of 80 a minute.

Red Paper Airs Explusion of Pro-Stalinists

MOSCOW (AP) — Three old hard-line Stalinists have been drummed out of the Soviet Communist party.

The three, who for years ranked among the world's most powerful men were former Premiers Georgi Malenkov and V. M. Molotov and former First Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich.

All were known as disciples of the Stalin line, particularly Molotov, who has sided with the Communist Chinese in their ideological struggle with the Soviet Union.

Malenkov, Molotov and Kaganovich lost their government posts in June 1957 when Premier Khrushchev bested them in a struggle for control of the Communist party and government apparatus.

Although the 22nd Congress of the Communist party in 1961 voted the ouster of the three exleaders, their long-awaited final disgrace came to light only Friday in Pravda.

The party newspaper disclosed their expulsion—one of the severest penalties that can befall a Soviet politician — in publishing theoretician Mikhail Suslov's 10,000-word denunciation of the Chinese Communists.

Officials Push

structure, which had not been in use in almost six years, had been used by transients and vagrants since that time.

Fire Chief James M. Brett and Deputy Chief Glyndon M. Southard were in charge of fire fighters at the scene. Southard said the blaze originated in the waiting room of the station near a staircase and spread under the flooring to the exterior wall on the north side. He said the flames burned the staircase and an old washroom. There was heavy smoke damage in the basement and first floor and damage to the floor timbers, staircase and washroom, he said. Southard said it was necessary to remove a large section of flooring to extinguish the blaze.

Engine 1, 2 and 4, Trucks 1 and 2 and Salvage responded with Engine 3, Excelsior and Wiltwyck fire fighters.

The 2½-story wooden frame structure is owned by Joseph P. Day, of 7 Dey Street, New York City. The antiquated station—an important stop over years ago for passengers transferring to and from the old Ulster and Delaware Railroad and the West Shore main line—provided its last passenger service from Kingston to Weehawken in June 1958. Serving as a transfer point for trains operating between the metropolitan area and the Catskills, the station was frequented by the great and near great ranging from Lillian Russell to "Legs" Diamond. The doors had been boarded since they were closed to the public, but apparently transients and vagrants managed to make their way inside to sleep during cold nights.

While the railroad fire was in progress fire fighters were summoned at 11:24 to 358 Washington Avenue where a pizza pie caught fire in an oven and flames scorched a wall behind the stove on the second floor. Firemen under Chief Brett removed the stove from the wall.

The property is owned by Mrs. Leonora Hommel.

City Court Cases

Roland Osterhoudt, 25, of 351 Broadway, was arrested early today by police on a charge of third-degree assault preferred by Nailer Cooper of the Mid Town Chop House. He was confined to Ulster County Jail for his appearance Monday.

A bench warrant was issued by City Court when Osterhoudt failed to appear this morning. No bail was set.

In another case:

Tommie L. Barnes, 25, of 20 Mill Street, paid a $5 fine when he admitted a charge of leaving a vehicle unattended.

Police issued a summons about 9:25 p. m. Friday after his car struck another car and a private residence at 55 Gill Street. They said his car, which was not in gear or with its brakes engaged, left the curb and struck the vehicle of Edward J. Singleton, 27, of 50 Van Buren Street, then continued backwards where it struck an enclosed porch at the residence of Mary Jane Edwards, 55 Gill Street.

Ave Reports to LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP)— Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman reported to President Johnson Friday on a fact-finding mission to Africa.

Harriman, who returned to Washington last Thursday, briefed the President on his tour of Ghana, Nigeria and the Congo. Sitting in on the session was G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

Warm Hand for Adlai

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)— The ovation was enthusiastic and prolonged when Adlai E. Stevenson was introduced at the University of California's Charter Day Observance Thursday.

Responding, Ambassador Stevenson turned to Gov. Edmund G. Brown and said: "Governor, if that had gone on a moment longer I'd have come out here and run for senator."

A new burst of applause greeted Stevenson's quip on the last-minute entry of Pierre Salinger, former White House press secretary, into California's Democratic senatorial race.

Kiwanis 68-0 for UR Project

Speaker Notes Progress In Drug Prescriptions

"The Prescription of Tomorrow" featuring the key numbers of 20, 250, and 321, was the subject of a talk given before the Kingston Kiwanis Club Thursday by James H Carr of Milton, drug company representative.

Prior to the talk, a vote of those in favor of the Kingston Urban Renewal East project was taken. An overwhelming 68 votes were counted in favor of the project, with no opposition votes recorded.

Life Expectancy Gains

Carr introduced his talk with the observation that children born today had a 10-year greater expectancy of life—that the death rate today would number approximately 5,800,000 people if it were not for the great strides made in drugs during the past 20 years.

The time element of 20 years progress was the first key number in the talk. The speaker said that more medical progress had been made in the last 20 years then had been achieved in the past century. One of the reasons for this was given as the intense interest and research program of the drug companies. This research led to the second key number in the talk—250.

The number 250 represented 250 million dollars spent by the drug industry for research in a constant endeavor to find better and more efficient drugs. Carr spoke of the large staffs employed by the drug companies and also touched upon the origin and costs of various drugs. One of these costs involves the necessity of producing drugs in "packages" to influence people to follow the doctor's orders to take them. Carr contrasted this present "packaging" with the taking of "foul-tasting liquids" which were a deterrent to the user.

The knowledge of new drug products by doctors was attributed by Carr to trade journals, conventions, mail and other advertising, and calls by public relations men of the drug industry.

Blunts Charge on Prices

The third key number, 321, was projected by the speaker as three dollars and 21 cents which was the cost of the average drug prescription today. He pointed out that over the last 20 years prices had risen 85 per cent, but drug prices had increased only 53 per cent. This indicated, according to Carr, that the average prescription price of $3.21 blunted the oftheard charges against drug companies that they were involved in excess profits for their merchandise.

In conclusion, Carr stressed the idea that the drug industry was continually trying for better medications, that the entire health team of doctors, hospitals, nurses and associated people "are behind the movement to better your health."

Measles Total

ber of cases per year reported in Ulster was 122. Dr. Drachman reported the cases recorded for the five year period as follows: 1958—106; 1959—437; 1960—32; 1961—18; 1962—20, a total of 613.

"This undoubtedly will be a big German measles year," Dr. Drachman said.

Dr. Drachman noted that the disease may cause possible birth defects if contracted during three months of pregnancy. He said that the county health department has given gamma globulin to pregnant women during the three-month period, for several years.

Until this year, Dr. Drachman noted, all gamma globulin was obtained from the State of New York at no cost. It was provided by the Red Cross. During the first quarter period of 1964, the health commissioner pointed out, there were so many requests for gamma globulin and the amount was so large that local health authorities had to start buying it. If pregnant women could afford it they were asked to pay the cost, or part of it, but if they were unable to purchase it, gamma globulin was given without cost.

Dr. Drachman said that during that period 348 cubic centimeters were given to women in the three-month period of pregnancy, 142 by the state and 206 by the county.

Symptoms of German measles, health officials said, include a slight fever and a rash in most adults and children.

It was explained that German measles differ from the so-called regular measles. The latter variety is caused by different virus, lasts two weeks and causes high fever and occasional blindness.

State Health Department records show a 10-fold increase over last year's cases reported in the upstate region.

Alaskans

supplies were strewn over the floor March 27 not a thing was disturbed Friday.

Power remained throughout the city, and communications were not disrupted.

Only the cracks in the streets and the few windows that have not been replaced give evidence to the destruction caused downtown Anchorage by last week's mighty shaking.

In Juneau, meanwhile, Gov. William A. Egan's request for a $50-million emergency bond issue was quickly acted upon. Within minutes after the governor had spoken to a joint session of the legislature, a bill authorizing the bond issue had been introduced in the Senate. The Senate Finance Committee expected to report it back to the Senate today.

Hurley Youth Is Safe at Alaskan Port After Wave

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. William L. Rowe, of Hurley, that their son, Jon K. Rowe, a radioman with the U. S. Navy stationed at the Naval Communications Station, Kodiak, Alaska, was not injured in the tidal wave last week.

Mrs. Rowe said today she received a letter written by her son on March 28 and postmarked at Kodiak, March 31, on Friday.

She said villagers at Kodiak had been warned of the coming of the tidal wave and they fled to high ground. Her son, was with other Navy personnel in a car when the earthquake rocked the area.

"Jon said cracks opened in the road ahead of him, three and four feet across," Mrs. Rowe said. "They were all frightened. They had to run for their lives to high ground. Villagers could see the tidal wave sweeping down on Kodiak. The wave washed the car Jon was riding in, and many other cars out to sea. Jon said the roads in Kodiak look like river beds. Jon and the other Navy men had to wade through four rivers to get back to their base."

Young Rowe has been in the Navy since January, 1962, and has been assigned to the Navy station at Kodiak since last October. He is a former Freeman newsboy, having had a route in the Hurley area.

Measure Doubles Time-off Ruling For Some Inmates

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Longer-term prisoners at county jails and farms in New York State will be eligible for more time off for good behavior beginning in June.

Gov. Rockefeller's office reported today he had signed a bill doubling the time-off provision for prisoners sentenced to terms of a year or more. It goes into effect June 1.

Under present law, terms may be reduced by 5 days for each month in jail. This will be increased to 10 days for each month.

Assemblyman P. Blice Esser, R-Westchester County, sponsored the measure.

Agreement

signed. It was signed for the United States by Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and for Panama by Moreno.

The agreement was markedly different from the one announced by the OAS March 15, which never became effective because of a dispute between the United States and Panama over interpretation.

The new agreement directs Anderson and his Panamanian counterpart to begin immediately "the necessary procedures with the objective of reaching a just and fair agreement which would be subject to the constitutional processes of each country."

Up to Senate Action

In the case of the United States, that simply means that if revisions in the 1903 canal treaty are agreed on—and wide changes have been demanded by Panama—they will be subject to action by the U.S. Senate.

The March 15 agreement had contained a provision that the United States and Panama would "carry out discussions and negotiations" on their differences. This wording does not appear in the new understanding which has been made effective by both sides. Its omission is a key to the success of the latest round of negotiations on restoring normal relations between the two countries.

The trouble earlier was that Chiari had interpreted the commitment to discuss and negotiate as a firm commitment by Johnson to rewrite the 1903 treaty. Johnson insisted that he would not accept any such precondition.

4 Persons Hurt In Rt. 28 Crash, Driver Is Cited

Four persons were injured and a driver was cited for a traffic offense after a two-car collision about 2:50 a. m. today on Route 32 in the Town of Rosendale.

Treated at Kingston Hospital for injuries were Helga Nowak, 18, of 376 Hasbrouck Avenue, one of the drivers, who suffered face and knee cuts; Robert Gallo, 19, of Box 211, East Kingston RD, a passenger, lip and mouth cuts; Thomas Quinn Jr., 20, of 129 Prospect Street, another passenger, right knee and elbow cuts, and Rose Heaton, 24, of Box 400, New Paltz, driver of the other car, face and knee cuts.

State Police from Lake Katrine substation said the Heaton car was traveling south on Rt. 32 when it struck the left front of the Nowak vehicle which was heading north on the highway. Troopers Norman Kilfoyle and W. E. Weidemann issued Miss Heaton a summons for failure to keep right, which is returnable before Peace Justice Raymond F. LeFever, Bloomington.

In another mishap, Roger C. Hansen was taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, for treatment of severe nose cuts after a one-car accident Black Cove at the Greene County line just north of the Ulster County line. Troopers from Leeds substation continued the investigation this morning and no other details were available.

$400,000 Sought For Hudson Study Of Water Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — The welfare department is seeking $400,000 to begin after July 1 a study of pollution problems in the New York metropolitan area and as far north as Lake Champlain.

A House appropriations subcommittee made public today a welfare department statement that said a major anti-pollution effort must be made in the New York-New Jersey - Connecticut area.

The proposed study would be known as the Tri-State Metropolitan Project.

The department said its plans during the fiscal year that begins July 1 call for creation of a field station in Albany, N.Y., to study pollution problems of the Hudson River watershed which includes the Mohawk Valley and Lake Champlain.

CWA Group Meets

dations, have put it up to the union's membership whether to accept or reject the telephone company's "final" contract offer, The Associated Press reported.

Results are to be known by April 15.

The company said it would be an "outstanding settlement" and "finds it difficult to understand why the union negotiators would fail to accept it."

George Miller, the union's regional director, said a prolonged strike might be required to bring about any further changes in the contract proposal the company called its "final" one.

21,000 Eligible to Vote

The CWA negotiators directed Friday that a membership ballot on the proposal begin at once. Rejection would authorize a strike, they said. Some 21,000 plant workers are eligible to vote. Another 3,000 are ineligible under union regulations.

Of the 24,000 plant workers employed by the company, 18,000 hold jobs in the New York metropolitan area. The balance work Upstate.

The telephone company said its three-year contract offer, if accepted, would cost $10 million.

Major provisions of the offer:

General wage increases of $2 to $6 a week in all six wage zones of the state. Current pay scales for plant workers range from $67 to $143.50 a week.

Upgrading of both jobs and zones. This would mean increases of more than $6 for some 2,100 workers and, for 774 of them, $10.

Expanded hospital, medical and surgical protection.

An improved life insurance program.

Three weeks of vacation after 10 years of service instead of after 15 years.

Benefits and wage increases would be retroactive to Feb. 27, when the old contract expired. Wage talks would reopen after 12 months and again after 24 months of the new pact.

serve as chairmen of their county GOP organizations.

To Name Judicial Delegates

A resolution will also name nine delegates and nine alternates to the Third Judicial District convention.

The agenda calls for opening ceremonies and welcoming remarks by Chairman Wilson.

A resolution will be presented recommending the renomination of Sen. Kenneth B. Keating as a candidate for the U. S. Senate seat to be filled at the November election.

Two members to the GOP state committee will also be named.

Dodd Calls CR Good Package

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd said today the House-passed civil rights bill would go far toward helping Negroes and others attain "their basic rights as American citizens" — but not "at the expense of other Americans."

The Connecticut Democrat called the 11-point civil rights package proposals "a good and moderate bill" that takes "a substantial step toward establishing the legal framework" within which Negroes can achieve their rights.

"But we will not accomplish this at the expense of other Americans," he emphasized in a speech prepared for the 22nd day of civil rights debate, the third Saturday session.

He said he found it hard to believe that any Americans would be deprived of their rights just because Negroes were assured of voting rights, the right to attend public school and the right to use a publicly owned amusement park or swimming pool.

Fuel Operator Is Given Suspended Term

BATAVIA, N.Y. (AP)—Gerald H. Post, 53, a former Diesel-fuel distributor, has received a suspended five-year prison sentence for failing to pay the state $57,000, including interest and penalties, for motor - fuel taxes.

Post, of Batavia, was sentenced Friday by Judge Philip J. Weiss of Genesee County Court. Post had pleaded guilty to failure to register as a distributor of Diesel motor fuel.

Post operated a service station in the nearby Town of Stafford. He was placed on probation for five years and ordered to pay the state at least $10,000 within six months.

The State Tax Commission said in Albany it would institute a civil action to recover the rest of the money owed.

Fear Death

blood pressure were still holding the line.

Doctors also reported that the general's body chemistry had improved indicating that the emergency technique to draw poisonous waste products from the blood was working.

But the report that the general—after three major operations and 13 days in critical condition—has shown signs of falling into a coma came as a surprise. The 6 p.m. announcement had followed a morning report indicating that the general's decline had halted.

A coma in aged patients is a frequent forerunner of death. There was no such indication from doctors at the Army's Walter Reed General Hospital. They said tersely:

"Gen. Douglas MacArthur shows signs of entering a peaceful coma."

There was also no indication from the doctors as to the cause of the coma. To bring a patient out of coma, doctors must treat the cause, which covers a wide spectrum of possibilities from poisoning to shock.

A coma is defined as a state of deep unconsciousness in which the patient does not respond to outside stimuli.

Doctors usually apply some mildly painful pressure to evoke a response from a patient suspected of falling into coma.

Also Friday, the doctors issued details of the general's vital signs and these were not too far off from earlier, more normal figures. The blood pressure was down only slightly, and the heart rate was up to 96 beats a minute, against an earlier heart rate of 80 a minute.

Red Paper Airs Explusion of Pro-Stalinists

MOSCOW (AP) — Three old hard-line Stalinists have been drummed out of the Soviet Communist party.

The three, who for years ranked among the world's most powerful men were former Premiers Georgi Malenkov and V. M. Molotov and former First Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich.

All were known as disciples of the Stalin line, particularly Molotov, who has sided with the Communist Chinese in their ideological struggle with the Soviet Union.

Malenkov, Molotov and Kaganovich lost their government posts in June 1957 when Premier Khrushchev bested them in a struggle for control of the Communist party and government apparatus.

Although the 22nd Congress of the Communist party in 1961 voted the ouster of the three exleaders, their long-awaited final disgrace came to light only Friday in Pravda.

The party newspaper disclosed their expulsion—one of the severest penalties that can befall a Soviet politician — in publishing theoretician Mikhail Suslov's 10,000-word denunciation of the Chinese Communists.

Officials Push

structure, which had not been in use in almost six years, had been used by transients and vagrants since that time.

Fire Chief James M. Brett and Deputy Chief Glyndon M. Southard were in charge of fire fighters at the scene. Southard said the blaze originated in the waiting room of the station near a staircase and spread under the flooring to the exterior wall on the north side. He said the flames burned the staircase and an old washroom. There was heavy smoke damage in the basement and first floor and damage to the floor timbers, staircase and washroom, he said. Southard said it was necessary to remove a large section of flooring to extinguish the blaze.

Engine 1, 2 and 4, Trucks 1 and 2 and Salvage responded with Engine 3, Excelsior and Wiltwyck fire fighters.

The 2½-story wooden frame structure is owned by Joseph P. Day, of 7 Dey Street, New York City. The antiquated station—an important stop over years ago for passengers transferring to and from the old Ulster and Delaware Railroad and the West Shore main line—provided its last passenger service from Kingston to Weehawken in June 1958. Serving as a transfer point for trains operating between the metropolitan area and the Catskills, the station was frequented by the great and near great ranging from Lillian Russell to "Legs" Diamond. The doors had been boarded since they were closed to the public, but apparently transients and vagrants managed to make their way inside to sleep during cold nights.

While the railroad fire was in progress fire fighters were summoned at 11:24 to 358 Washington Avenue where a pizza pie caught fire in an oven and flames scorched a wall behind the stove on the second floor. Firemen under Chief Brett removed the stove from the wall.

The property is owned by Mrs. Leonora Hommel.

City Court Cases

Roland Osterhoudt, 25, of 351 Broadway, was arrested early today by police on a charge of third-degree assault preferred by Nailer Cooper of the Mid Town Chop House. He was confined to Ulster County Jail for his appearance Monday.

A bench warrant was issued by City Court when Osterhoudt failed to appear this morning. No bail was set.

In another case:

Tommie L. Barnes, 25, of 20 Mill Street, paid a $5 fine when he admitted a charge of leaving a vehicle unattended.

Police issued a summons about 9:25 p. m. Friday after his car struck another car and a private residence at 55 Gill Street. They said his car, which was not in gear or with its brakes engaged, left the curb and struck the vehicle of Edward J. Singleton, 27, of 50 Van Buren Street, then continued backwards where it struck an enclosed porch at the residence of Mary Jane Edwards, 55 Gill Street.

Ave Reports to LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP)— Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman reported to President Johnson Friday on a fact-finding mission to Africa.

Harriman, who returned to Washington last Thursday, briefed the President on his tour of Ghana, Nigeria and the Congo. Sitting in on the session was G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

Warm Hand for Adlai

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The ovation was enthusiastic and prolonged when Adlai E. Stevenson was introduced at the University of California's Charter Day Observance Thursday.

Responding, Ambassador Stevenson turned to Gov. Edmund G. Brown and said: "Governor, if that had gone on a moment longer I'd have come out here and run for senator."

A new burst of applause greeted Stevenson's quip on the last-minute entry of Pierre Salinger, former White House press secretary, into California's Democratic senatorial race.

Javits, Keating Seek Politics-ROAMA Airing

WASINGTON (AP) — New York's two Republican senators want the Air Force to conduct a thorough investigation of the role—if any—that politics played in the decision to close the Rome, N.Y., Air Material Area.

The gradual closing of the supply and procurement facilities at Griffiss Air Force Base in Rome should be halted, the senators said, until the study is completed.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating made the request Friday in a letter to Air Force Secretary Eugene Zukert.

The letter was a followup to speeches the senators made in the Senate Thursday in which they argued that an independent investigation by the Utica, N.Y., Observer - Dispatch cast doubt on the wisdom of the decision to close ROAMA and move its functions elsewhere.

Keating said the Utica newspaper reported that an Air Force board first recommended that an air materiel area in San Bernarlino, Calif. be closed, rather than ROAMA. The board, however, was told to reconsider because that base was in the district of a member of the House appropriations committee, Keating said.

The senator said the newspaper reported the Air Force board next recommended closing a facility in Mobile, Ala., but was overruled for similar reasons. A suggestion that an area in Pennsylvania be closed was rejected because it was in an economically distressed section of the state.

Keating said the Air Force board's final report was doctored three times to reflect purely political factors, not national defense needs or economy.

Work Only Begun, Mrs. Peabody Says

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Malcolm E. Peabody, 72-year-old mother of the Massachusetts governor, says her work for racial freedom has only begun, despite the two days she spent in jail as a result of an integration demonstration.

Husband Retired Bishop

Mrs. Peabody, whose husband is a retired Episcopal bishop, flew north Friday from Florida where she had been jailed with the wives of two other Episcopal bishops for trying to integrate a motel dining room in St. Augustine.

She has been released in $450 bail.

Mrs. Peabody flew first to Boston and then, with her husband, to Syracuse to attend the consecration today of a new bishop-coadjutor of the Episcopal Dioscese of Central New York.

Bishop Peabody at one time headed the diocese.

During her Boston stopover, Mrs. Peabody said she intended to continue her activities in behalf of racial equality "even if it means going to jail again."

Referring to her experiences in Florida, Mrs. Peabody commented:

"This, it appears, is only the beginning of my activities for racial freedom. I think I shall go wherever I am asked to participate for freedom."

Backed by Mate

Her husband gave his support. On their arrival here Friday night, he said, "this is the only way we can make progress —take a stand as my wife did."

Mrs. Peabody said she had no immediate plans for further anti-segregation activities and her only scheduled trip south was to keep a date in court in St. Augustine May 5. She is charged with trespassing, conspiracy and being an unwelcome guest.

"We have to return to stand trial for our sins," she said with a smile during an airport interview here.

Bishop Peabody and his wife were met by about 150 persons, of civil rights groups.

Mrs. Peabody was greeted by about 50 persons when she arrived in Boston a few hours earlier. The welcomers included her husband and her son Endicott, the Massachusetts governor, and his family.

While she said she planned to continue her activities in behalf of integration, Mrs. Peabody said it was up to the young to carry the brunt of the battle.

Ex-Brazil

Soviet bloc, and relations with the United States cooled.

In Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the United States will work with the new government on Brazil's urgent problems. Because Goulart refused to introduce austerity measures to check inflation and reduce Brazil's $2-billion foreign debt, the United States had withheld a considerable portion of the $135 million promised in aid for this year.

All the Cabinet members are considered men of moderation, rather than die-hard conservatives.

Mazzilli said the government would use all "effective means" to bring stability to the Brazilian economy.

Under the Constitution, Congress must elect a president and vice president within a month, filling out Goulart's unexpired term which ends January 1966. Mazzilli, however, said he did not know when Congress would act.

Tornado Kills 7

One hundred men and vehicles patroled the devastated area, estimated by the Department of Public Safety to include 50 to 80 city blocks.

But as one officer put it: "You don't have to worry about looting. It didn't leave anything worth looting."

The Wichita County Red Cross estimating 300 persons left homeless, set up shelters to feed and house victims. In Washington, the Federal Housing Administration said it is making some 150 surplus houses and apartments available to the homeless.

Mobile canteens sped in from Dallas and Fort Worth.

Complicating the relief operations were knocked-out power lines and limited communications.

69 Persons Hurt

Sixty-nine persons were injured, 46 remaining in hospitals. Twenty-nine were personnel from Sheppard.

The tornado, sparing the downtown area, made its lethal appearance in the West Wichita Falls community of Pleasant Valley. Swinging northeasterly, it wrought the heaviest damage in the Sunset Terrace and Lincoln Heights residential sections, swept across the heavily populated air base, hitting nurses' quarters, barracks and the civil engineering base.

Startled residents took refuge under street and highway underpasses. Some abandoned cars.

Cold air which has plagued the northern two-thirds of the nation continued a slow march southward, bringing snow flurries, strong winds and freezing rain.

Severe thunderstorms struck the town of Stroud in eastern Oklahoma, dropping hail the size of baseballs.

Snow flurries swirled by strong winds impeded travel in the Northeast.

Locally heavy showers pounded the southern half of the country.

The eastern slopes of the central Rocky Mountains were lashed by vicious north winds coupled with freezing rain and snow.

Stockmen's warnings continued in effect for western Oklahoma and parts of northwestern Texas as strong winds, rain, snow and raw weather stung the area.

The Far West had generally fair skies and warmer temperatures, but the Northwest was dampened with scattered showers and some snow.

Two Men Injured As Car Overturns

Two Poughkeepsie men narrowly escaped serious injury at 6:15 p. m. Friday, when the 1954 car in which they were riding went out of control and overturned on Route 9W about a mile-and-a-half south of the Highland traffic circle.

Trooper Gerald Zappolo reported Harris Frye, 36, of Haviland Road, Poughkeepsie, was driving north when a dog ran in the path of the vehicle. Frye swerved sharply to avoid hitting the animal, and the car went out of control and overturned.

Troopers said the car was wrecked, Fryne and a passenger, David Nelson, of 30 Glenwood Avenue, Poughkeepsie, received bruises.

At 2:45 a. m. today, Highland troopers investigated a two-car collision at the west approach to the Mid-Hudson Bridge on Route 44-55. Trooper Zappolo said the cars were driven by Roscoe Hill, 36, of 150 Church Street, Poughkeepsie, and Michael Biszack, 32, of 15 South Perry Street, also of that city. No injuries were reported.

UMW Local Moves To Halt Strikes Of 11,000 Miners

MASONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Hopes for an end to strikes by soft - coal miners in six states were pinned today on a union meeting in this southwestern Pennsylvania mining town.

The meeting was called by United Mine Workers Local 6,321 which represents some 1,250 workers at the U.S. Steel Corp.'s three nearby Robena mines. The local was among the first to go out in Pennsylvania.

The pattern of the strikes, prompted by rank-and-file discontent with a new national contract, makes an accurate estimate of the number of men involved difficult.

But it appeared more than 11,000 were out in Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Illinois and Indiana — an area that encompasses the heart of the nation's soft-coal region.

John Mayo, president of UMW Dist. 4 headquartered in Uniontown, Pa., said Friday that if a return - to - work movement results from today's meeting, miners in other state's may follow suit.

Local representatives from Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia were expected to attend.

Mayo said there was little chance the contract would be reopened, although both sides have an option to do so on 60 days' notice.

The UMW and the coal operators have shown little concern publicly, reportedly feeling that the strikes were temporary. The UMW has had men circulating through the coal fields explaining the contract to local members and reportedly was awaiting the outcome of the meeting before taking reprisals.

Workers have returned to several mines after the contract was explained. The latest was the Freeman Coal Mining Corp.'s Orient No. 3 at Waltonville, Ill., where 430 men went back Friday.

Discontent with the new contract centers around fringe benefits and seniority protection.

No Sale to Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has lost its battle to build a multimillion-dollar embassy and chancellery in Washington's swank Chevy Chase area.

A five-member board of zoning adjustment voted 3 to 2 Friday to deny Martin Decker, a Philadelphia builder, permission to sell the 16-acre Bonnie Brae estate to the Russians.

Although President Johnson had expressed approval of the proposal, residents objected on the ground that the project would ruin the residential aspect of their area.

Explosion Wrecks Ice Cream Plant, Man Is Injured

GOUVERNEUR, N.Y. (AP)—One man was hospitalized and an ice - cream manufacturing plant wrecked in an explosion of ammonia gas Friday in this St. Lawrence County community.

The blast knocked down the rear wall of the B. O. Kinney plant, tumbling cinder blocks onto six automobiles parked outside.

Arnold E. Liscum, operator of the plant, was blown through a door. He was admitted to E. J. Noble Hospital here for examination.

Liscum said the explosion occurred while he was cleaning the plant's refrigeration equipment.

The plant is expected to remain closed for several days. No estimate of the damage was available.

Meat Inspection Bill Is Favored; Supported by Bush

Extension of "red meat" inspection to include all slaughterhouses in New York State not otherwise covered by acceptable inspection, and permission for state inspection of meat food products at the processor's expense, won approval of the Legislature in it's closing hours.

State Agriculture Commissioner Don J. Wickham, head of the Department of Agriculture and Markets which will provide the widened meat inspection program, said coordinated efforts of the Governor, key legislators and department personnel, were responsible for the newly added public protection. Three bills constituted the program and are now before Governor Rockerfeller for action.

Senators E. Ogden Bush of DeLancy, (R) 34th Senatorial District, Warren M. Anderson of Binghamton, Broome County Republican, and Assemblyman Gearge L. Ingalls of Binghamton, Republican majority leader of the Assembly, were named as the legislators primarily credited with the leadership of these bills in the Senate and Assembly.

They also were influential in obtaining the Governor's message of necessity which made possible the consideration of the measures.

Senator Bush stated "the consumers in our area as well as consumers throughout New York State, must have the added protection which this new legislation furnishes."

Scrub Town After Flood

Mennonites Supply Muscle, Kindness

WEST POINT, Ky. (AP)—An unusual kind of missionary work helped scrub away the mud and emotional strain left by a spring flood in this Ohio River town of 2,000 population.

Twenty-five Mennonites combined their muscle and kindness with tools supplied by the Red Cross to clean 22 houses and a church after three-fourths of the town had been forced to flee the worst flood in 20 years in America's midland.

12 Still Working

"They just took over whatever dirty job got in their way and made things right," commented Police Judge Gladys Stackhouse.

Twelve of 15 Mennonites from Elkhart, Ind., are still at work daily trying to help the aged and helpless rebuild their homes.

The men belong to the Mennonite Disaster Service, a public help group founded 12 years ago. Their services are free and the disaster work is considered part of the religious sect's missionary program.

Mrs. Henry Madden pointed to the high-water mark in her living room and said: "'I prayed for help, and these Mennonites came. People worried about me, but I knew I could pray, and my help came."

Her husband is 83 and just recovering from surgery.

"God sent them," commented Miss Lillie Lewis.

The men cleaned her home when the March flood receded. Now they are repairing its interior.

The Mennonites sent volunteer crews to Falmouth, Ky. and Cincinnati and nurses to Manchester, Ohio, during the flood.

Hardest-Hit Town

At West Point they expect to contribute about 1,600 hours toward rebuilding the town.

West Point is about 30 miles southwest of Louisville and was perhaps Kentucky's hardest-hit town during the flood. It is at the juncture of the Salt and Ohio Rivers and is home for many of the workers at nearby Ft. Knox.

The Mennonites talk very little and leave the explanations to their leader, Levi Bontreger.

Asked about the sect's altruism, he produced a pamphlet which read, in part: "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ. Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart . . . and thy neighbor as thyself."

Chase Runnerup Winner for CC Member Remarks

George W. Chase 3rd, of Kings Highway, Lake Katrine, was second place winner for his statement on "Why a Community Minded Citizen Should Become a Member of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce."

Chase's award as second place winner was $15.

Police Investigate Fire at Ellenville

Fire of suspected incendiary origin caused extensive damage early today to an unoccupied home in Ellenville.

Fire Chief William McCombes Jr. of the Ellenville department, said the blaze broke out about 5 a. m. in a 2½-story frame owned by Charles Freisner and located on 9 Broadhead Street in the village. He said the fire originated on the ground floor where someone had piled sofa cushions. The flames spread through the second floor and roof. Some 60 fire fighters responded in sub-freezing temperatures to battle the flames. Napanoch stood by for the Ellenville fire fighters. The firemen returned to service at 6:30. Chief McCombes said the unoccupied home had been used by transients and vagrants. Police Chief Abe Rand is conducting the investigation.

Cautions Alaskan Rush

WASHINGTON (AP)— Americans who expect to find work in Alaska helping repair the earthquake damage should stay home unless they have definite promise of a job, Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz said Friday.

He said that "the task of rebuilding the state's coastal communities will undoubtedly require many workers. But I have beeen advised that Alaska had heavy unemployment in all skills prior to the disaster and that local residents will be employed first."

Guard Up, Hand Is Out

LBJ Tells Reds On NATO's 15th

WASHINGTON (AP) -- President Johnson has told the Communist world on the 15th anniversary of NATO's founding, that the United States is ready to settle differences that separate East and West.

"Our guard is up, but our hand is out," the President declared Friday as he blended conciliation with firmness in a nationwide address that evidently was keyed as much for foreign as home consumption.

Alive to Opportunity

"We must be alert to any hope of stable settlement with those who have made vigilance essential," Johnson said. "In particular, we must be alive to the new spirit of diversity now abroad in Eastern Europe."

At another point, the President struck this note again, that Washington does not view all Communist nations alike and that it is alive to the opportunity of taking advantage of the differences.

"We did not make the Iron Curtain," he said. "We did not build the wall. Gaps in the curtain are welcome, and so are holes in the wall, whenever they are not hedged by traps."

Johnson spoke on the eve of the 15th anniversary of the signing of the North Atlantic Treaty which bound together 15 Western nations in an anti-Communist military alliance that stretches from Turkey to Norway.

Standing before a bank of flags in the White House East Room, the President said that since 1949 the Communist "danger has receded, but it has not disappeared." The same 15 years, he said, have witnessed "the longest upward surge of economic growth that our Atlantic world has ever known."

Must Resist Relaxation

"We have done well," he said in summation, but added: "The temptation to relax must always be resisted."

The United States is committed to its European allies, Johnson said. "We, for our part, will never turn back to separated insecurity."

There were obvious references in the President's address to President Charles de Gaulle of France, who has been striking out on an independent course. But Johnson never mentioned the French leader by name.

Ironically, he quoted another Frenchman, former Premier Robert Schuman, an architect of European industrial unity, in saying that the salvation and welfare of nations "can no longer be based upon an egotistical and aggressive nationalism but must rest upon the progressive application of human solidarity."

An international audience sat before Johnson as he spoke on nationwide radio and television.

Beside the military representatives and ambassadors from the NATO countries were members of Congress; former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who signed the NATO treaty for the United States; and three former NATO military commanders, retired Gens. Alfred M. Gruenther, Lauris Norstad and Matthew B. Ridgway.

Javits, Keating Seek Politics-ROAMA Airing

WASINGTON (AP) — New York's two Republican senators want the Air Force to conduct a thorough investigation of the role—if any—that politics played in the decision to close the Rome, N.Y., Air Material Area.

The gradual closing of the supply and procurement facilities at Griffiss Air Force Base in Rome should be halted, the senators said, until the study is completed.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating made the request Friday in a letter to Air Force Secretary Eugene Zukert.

The letter was a followup to speeches the senators made in the Senate Thursday in which they argued that an independent investigation by the Utica, N.Y., Observer - Dispatch cast doubt on the wisdom of the decision to close ROAMA and move its functions elsewhere.

Keating said the Utica newspaper reported that an Air Force board first recommended that an air materiel area in San Bernarlino, Calif. be closed, rather than ROAMA. The board, however, was told to reconsider because that base was in the district of a member of the House appropriations committee, Keating said.

The senator said the newspaper reported the Air Force board next recommended closing a facility in Mobile, Ala., but was overruled for similar reasons. A suggestion that an area in Pennsylvania be closed was rejected because it was in an economically distressed section of the state.

Keating said the Air Force board's final report was doctored three times to reflect purely political factors, not national defense needs or economy.

Work Only Begun, Mrs. Peabody Says

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Malcolm E. Peabody, 72-year-old mother of the Massachusetts governor, says her work for racial freedom has only begun, despite the two days she spent in jail as a result of an integration demonstration.

Husband Retired Bishop

Mrs. Peabody, whose husband is a retired Episcopal bishop, flew north Friday from Florida where she had been jailed with the wives of two other Episcopal bishops for trying to integrate a motel dining room in St. Augustine.

She has been released in $450 bail.

Mrs. Peabody flew first to Boston and then, with her husband, to Syracuse to attend the consecration today of a new bishop-coadjutor of the Episcopal Dioscese of Central New York.

Bishop Peabody at one time headed the diocese.

During her Boston stopover, Mrs. Peabody said she intended to continue her activities in behalf of racial equality "even if it means going to jail again."

Referring to her experiences in Florida, Mrs. Peabody commented:

"This, it appears, is only the beginning of my activities for racial freedom. I think I shall go wherever I am asked to participate for freedom."

Backed by Mate

Her husband gave his support. On their arrival here Friday night, he said, "this is the only way we can make progress —take a stand as my wife did."

Mrs. Peabody said she had no immediate plans for further anti-segregation activities and her only scheduled trip south was to keep a date in court in St. Augustine May 5. She is charged with trespassing, conspiracy and being an unwelcome guest.

"We have to return to stand trial for our sins," she said with a smile during an airport interview here.

Bishop Peabody and his wife were met by about 150 persons, of civil rights groups.

Mrs. Peabody was greeted by about 50 persons when she arrived in Boston a few hours earlier. The welcomers included her husband and her son Endicott, the Massachusetts governor, and his family.

While she said she planned to continue her activities in behalf of integration, Mrs. Peabody said it was up to the young to carry the brunt of the battle.

Ex-Brazil

Soviet bloc, and relations with the United States cooled.

In Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the United States will work with the new government on Brazil's urgent problems. Because Goulart refused to introduce austerity measures to check inflation and reduce Brazil's $2-billion foreign debt, the United States had withheld a considerable portion of the $135 million promised in aid for this year.

All the Cabinet members are considered men of moderation, rather than die-hard conservatives.

Mazzilli said the government would use all "effective means" to bring stability to the Brazilian economy.

Under the Constitution, Congress must elect a president and vice president within a month, filling out Goulart's unexpired term which ends January 1966. Mazzilli, however, said he did not know when Congress would act.

One hundred men and vehicles patroled the devastated area, estimated by the Department of Public Safety to include 50 to 80 city blocks.

But as one officer put it: "You don't have to worry about looting. It didn't leave anything worth looting."

The Wichita County Red Cross estimating 300 persons left homeless, set up shelters to feed and house victims. In Washington, the Federal Housing Administration said it is making some 150 surplus houses and apartments available to the homeless.

Mobile canteens sped in from Dallas and Fort Worth.

Complicating the relief operations were knocked-out power lines and limited communications.

69 Persons Hurt

Sixty-nine persons were injured, 46 remaining in hospitals. Twenty-nine were personnel from Sheppard.

The tornado, sparing the downtown area, made its lethal appearance in the West Wichita Falls community of Pleasant Valley. Swinging northeasterly, it wrought the heaviest damage in the Sunset Terrace and Lincoln Heights residential sections, swept across the heavily populated air base, hitting nurses' quarters, barracks and the civil engineering base.

Startled residents took refuge under street and highway underpasses. Some abandoned cars.

Cold air which has plagued the northern two-thirds of the nation continued a slow march southward, bringing snow flurries, strong winds and freezing rain.

Severe thunderstorms struck the town of Stroud in eastern Oklahoma, dropping hail the size of baseballs.

Snow flurries swirled by strong winds impeded travel in the Northeast.

Locally heavy showers pounded the southern half of the country.

The eastern slopes of the central Rocky Mountains were lashed by vicious north winds coupled with freezing rain and snow.

Stockmen's warnings continued in effect for western Oklahoma and parts of northwestern Texas as strong winds, rain, snow and raw weather stung the area.

The Far West had generally fair skies and warmer temperatures, but the Northwest was dampened with scattered showers and some snow.

Two Men Injured As Car Overturns

Two Poughkeepsie men narrowly escaped serious injury at 6:15 p. m. Friday, when the 1954 car in which they were riding went out of control and overturned on Route 9W about a mile-and-a-half south of the Highland traffic circle.

Trooper Gerald Zappolo reported Harris Frye, 36, of Haviland Road, Poughkeepsie, was driving north when a dog ran in the path of the vehicle. Frye swerved sharply to avoid hitting the animal, and the car went out of control and overturned.

Troopers said the car was wrecked, Fryne and a passenger, David Nelson, of 30 Glenwood Avenue, Poughkeepsie, received bruises.

At 2:45 a. m. today, Highland troopers investigated a two-car collision at the west approach to the Mid-Hudson Bridge on Route 44-55. Trooper Zappolo said the cars were driven by Roscoe Hill, 36, of 150 Church Street, Poughkeepsie, and Michael Biszack, 32, of 15 South Perry Street, also of that city. No injuries were reported.

UMW Local Moves To Halt Strikes Of 11,000 Miners

MASONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Hopes for an end to strikes by soft - coal miners in six states were pinned today on a union meeting in this southwestern Pennsylvania mining town.

The meeting was called by United Mine Workers Local 6,321 which represents some 1,250 workers at the U.S. Steel Corp.'s three nearby Robena mines. The local was among the first to go out in Pennsylvania.

The pattern of the strikes, prompted by rank-and-file discontent with a new national contract, makes an accurate estimate of the number of men involved difficult.

But it appeared more than 11,000 were out in Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Illinois and Indiana — an area that encompasses the heart of the nation's soft-coal region.

John Mayo, president of UMW Dist. 4 headquartered in Uniontown, Pa., said Friday that if a return - to - work movement results from today's meeting, miners in other state's may follow suit.

Local representatives from Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia were expected to attend.

Mayo said there was little chance the contract would be reopened, although both sides have an option to do so on 60 days' notice.

The UMW and the coal operators have shown little concern publicly, reportedly feeling that the strikes were temporary. The UMW has had men circulating through the coal fields explaining the contract to local members and reportedly was awaiting the outcome of the meeting before taking reprisals.

Workers have returned to several mines after the contract was explained. The latest was the Freeman Coal Mining Corp.'s Orient No. 3 at Waltonville, Ill., where 430 men went back Friday.

Discontent with the new contract centers around fringe benefits and seniority protection.

Meat Inspection Bill Is Favored; Supported by Bush

Extension of "red meat" inspection to include all slaughterhouses in New York State not otherwise covered by acceptable inspection, and permission for state inspection of meat food products at the processor's expense, won approval of the Legislature in it's closing hours.

State Agriculture Commissioner Don J. Wickham, head of the Department of Agriculture and Markets which will provide the widened meat inspection program, said coordinated efforts of the Governor, key legislators and department personnel, were responsible for the newly added public protection. Three bills constituted the program and are now before Governor Rockerfeller for action.

Senators E. Ogden Bush of DeLancy, (R) 34th Senatorial District, Warren M. Anderson of Binghamton, Broome County Republican, and Assemblyman Gearge L. Ingalls of Binghamton, Republican majority leader of the Assembly, were named as the legislators primarily credited with the leadership of these bills in the Senate and Assembly.

They also were influential in obtaining the Governor's message of necessity which made possible the consideration of the measures.

Senator Bush stated "the consumers in our area as well as consumers throughout New York State, must have the added protection which this new legislation furnishes."

Explosion Wrecks Ice Cream Plant, Man Is Injured

GOUVERNEUR, N.Y. (AP)—One man was hospitalized and an ice - cream manufacturing plant wrecked in an explosion of ammonia gas Friday in this St. Lawrence County community.

The blast knocked down the rear wall of the B. O. Kinney plant, tumbling cinder blocks onto six automobiles parked outside.

Arnold E. Liscum, operator of the plant, was blown through a door. He was admitted to E. J. Noble Hospital here for examination.

Liscum said the explosion occurred while he was cleaning the plant's refrigeration equipment.

The plant is expected to remain closed for several days. No estimate of the damage was available.

Scrub Town After Flood

Mennonites Supply Muscle, Kindness

WEST POINT, Ky. (AP)—An unusual kind of missionary work helped scrub away the mud and emotional strain left by a spring flood in this Ohio River town of 2,000 population.

Twenty-five Mennonites combined their muscle and kindness with tools supplied by the Red Cross to clean 22 houses and a church after three-fourths of the town had been forced to flee the worst flood in 20 years in America's midland.

12 Still Working

"They just took over whatever dirty job got in their way and made things right," commented Police Judge Gladys Stackhouse.

Twelve of 15 Mennonites from Elkhart, Ind., are still at work daily trying to help the aged and helpless rebuild their homes.

The men belong to the Mennonite Disaster Service, a public help group founded 12 years ago. Their services are free and the disaster work is considered part of the religious sect's missionary program.

Mrs. Henry Madden pointed to the high-water mark in her living room and said: "'I prayed for help, and these Mennonites came. People worried about me, but I knew I could pray, and my help came."

Her husband is 83 and just recovering from surgery.

"God sent them," commented Miss Lillie Lewis.

The men cleaned her home when the March flood receded. Now they are repairing its interior.

The Mennonites sent volunteer crews to Falmouth, Ky. and Cincinnati and nurses to Manchester, Ohio, during the flood.

Hardest-Hit Town

At West Point they expect to contribute about 1,600 hours toward rebuilding the town.

West Point is about 30 miles southwest of Louisville and was perhaps Kentucky's hardest-hit town during the flood. It is at the juncture of the Salt and Ohio Rivers and is home for many of the workers at nearby Ft. Knox.

The Mennonites talk very little and leave the explanations to their leader, Levi Bontreger.

Asked about the sect's altruism, he produced a pamphlet which read, in part: "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ. Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart . . . and thy neighbor as thyself."

Chase Runnerup Winner for CC Member Remarks

George W. Chase 3rd, of Kings Highway, Lake Katrine, was second place winner for his statement on "Why a Community Minded Citizen Should Become a Member of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce."

Chase's award as second place winner was $15.

James Winslow of 79 Howland Avenue was third place winner and received an award of $10.

In Friday's release concerning the award winning statements Chase was listed as third place winner and Winslow as second.

Top winners among Kingston High School students was Joan Gollop of Ringtop Road, Kingston, a sophomore.

Police Investigate Fire at Ellenville

Fire of suspected incendiary origin caused extensive damage early today to an unoccupied home in Ellenville.

Fire Chief William McCombes Jr. of the Ellenville department, said the blaze broke out about 5 a. m. in a 2½-story frame owned by Charles Freisner and located on 9 Broadhead Street in the village. He said the fire originated on the ground floor where someone had piled sofa cushions. The flames spread through the second floor and roof. Some 60 fire fighters responded in sub-freezing temperatures to battle the flames. Napanoch stood by for the Ellenville fire fighters. The firemen returned to service at 6:30. Chief McCombes said the unoccupied home had been used by transients and vagrants. Police Chief Abe Rand is conducting the investigation.

Cautions Alaskan Rush

WASHINGTON (AP)— Americans who expect to find work in Alaska helping repair the earthquake damage should stay home unless they have definite promise of a job, Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz said Friday.

He said that "the task of rebuilding the state's coastal communities will undoubtedly require many workers. But I have beeen advised that Alaska had heavy unemployment in all skills prior to the disaster and that local residents will be employed first."

Guard Up, Hand Is Out

LBJ Tells Reds On NATO's 15th

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has told the Communist world on the 15th anniversary of NATO's founding, that the United States is ready to settle differences that separate East and West.

"Our guard is up, but our hand is out," the President declared Friday as he blended conciliation with firmness in a nationwide address that evidently was keyed as much for foreign as home consumption.

Alive to Opportunity

"We must be alert to any hope of stable settlement with those who have made vigilance essential," Johnson said. "In particular, we must be alive to the new spirit of diversity now abroad in Eastern Europe."

At another point, the President struck this note again, that Washington does not view all Communist nations alike and that it is alive to the opportunity of taking advantage of the differences.

"We did not make the Iron Curtain," he said. "We did not build the wall. Gaps in the curtain are welcome, and so are holes in the wall, whenever they are not hedged by traps."

Johnson spoke on the eve of the 15th anniversary of the signing of the North Atlantic Treaty which bound together 15 Western nations in an anti-Communist military alliance that stretches from Turkey to Norway.

Standing before a bank of flags in the White House East Room, the President said that since 1949 the Communist "danger has receded, but it has not disappeared." The same 15 years, he said, have witnessed "the longest upward surge of economic growth that our Atlantic world has ever known."

Must Resist Relaxation

"We have done well," he said in summation, but added: "The temptation to relax must always be resisted."

The United States is committed to its European allies, Johnson said. "We, for our part, will never turn back to separated insecurity."

There were obvious references in the President's address to President Charles de Gaulle of France, who has been striking out on an independent course. But Johnson never mentioned the French leader by name.

Ironically, he quoted another Frenchman, former Premier Robert Schuman, an architect of European industrial unity, in saying that the salvation and welfare of nations "can no longer be based upon an egotistical and aggressive nationalism but must rest upon the progressive application of human solidarity."

An international audience sat before Johnson as he spoke on nationwide radio and television.

Beside the military representatives and ambassadors from the NATO countries were members of Congress; former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who signed the NATO treaty for the United States; and three former NATO military commanders, retired Gens. Alfred M. Gruenther, Lauris Norstad and Matthew B. Ridgway.

Major League Roundup

Red Sox 19-Year-Old Rookie Continues Spring Hitting

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

At the age of 19, most kids are stumbling around trying to find a job or are battling their way through freshman English.

Tony Conigliaro, at the same age, is powering his way through major league opposition into permanent employment as a freshman starter with the Boston Red Sox.

The rookie outfielder continued his torrid spring pace Friday, knocking in two runs, one the winning tally in the 12th, as Boston nipped the Los Angeles Angels 3-2.

The way the Red Sox have been going, Conigliaro looks as out of place as Cary Grant in the Bowery.

He leads Boston with 16 runs batted in, four home runs, nine doubles and 13 runs scored. He is tied for the lead in triples with two, and his 21 hits rank him behind Carl Yastrzemski, the American League batting champion, and Frank Malzone, who each have 23.

He's batting an unspectacular .296, but 15 of his hits have been for extra bases, giving him a .648 slugging percentage.

Conigliaro, a resident of Swampscott, Mass., is only in his second year of professional baseball.

Conigliaro started his career last year with Wellsville of the Class A New York-Penn League. Batting .363 with 24 homers and 74 RBI in 83 games, he was named the league's most valuable player and rookie of the year.

To Start in Center

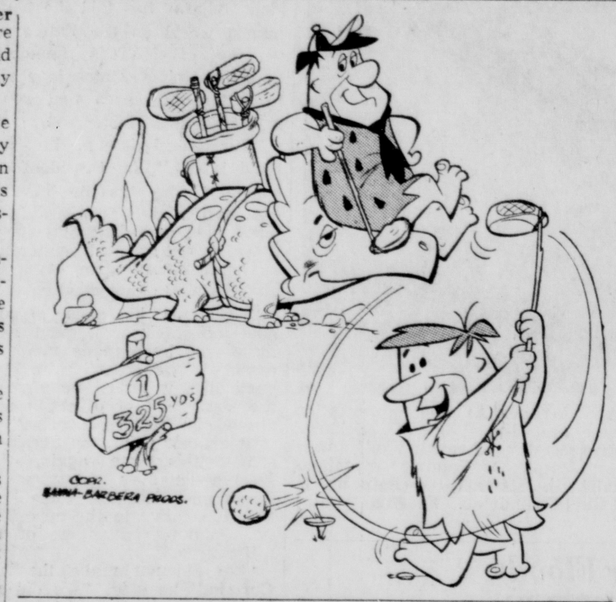
Gary Geiger's ulcer operation and Roman Mejias' weak bat suddenly have thrust Conigliaro into prominence as Boston's starting center fielder.

In other exhibition action, Carl Willey suffered a complex compound fractured jaw as he helped pitch the New York Mets to a 9-1 victory over Detroit. Don Drysdale pitched his first complete spring game in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 12-2 triumph against Cincinnati.

Baltimore bombed Whitey Ford and the New York Yankees 8-0, scoring five runs in the first inning. San Francisco beat Cleveland for the ninth straight time 5-3 behind Orlando Cepeda's two home runs and four RBI.

Washington edged the Chicago White Sox 4-3 although the Senators' Claude Osteen had his scoreless inning streak stopped at 17. Julio Gotay sparked Pittsburg to a 12-5 victory over St. Louis, with a first-inning three-run homer.

Wes Covington's two-run homer helped Philadelphia edge Kansas City 5-4, and Minnesota trampled Milwaukee 12-3, halting the Braves' 10-game winning streak against American League teams.



Open Qualifier Slated at Troy

The area 36-hole qualifying round for the 1964 U.S. Open Golf Championship will be held at Troy Country Club, Monday, May 25. The Congressional Country Club, Washington, D.C., will be the site of the Open, June 18-20.

Those interested in participating in the local qualifying must send an entry to the USGA Headquarters, 40 East 38th Street, New York. Entries must arrive by 5 p. m. on May 6. Amateur entrants may not have a USGA Handicap that exceeds two strokes, and a $20 entry fee must be paid by all applicants.

About 20 percent of the entrants in the Troy qualifying round will continue on to the sectional qualifying event, June 9, at the Seawane and Woodmere clubs in New York.

Eugene J. FitzPatrick, secretary of the Eastern New York Golf Association, is the official in charge of the local qualifier, for which a practice round is slated May 22.

When Red Auerbach pats himself on the back that this was his best coaching job at Boston, he's not reaching. This was the first year in 12 that the Celtics didn't place a single man on the NBA All-Pro team. And still they finished with the best record in the league.

Big buddies on the Cincinnati Royals are Wayne Embry and Oscar Robertson, the league's MVP. But it changes professionally when they put on street clothes. The Big O and his board sweeper are pushing competitive soft drinks as p.r. men. . . .

It happened at halftime of the San Francisco-Philadelphia regular season wind-up, when the Warriors clinched their first Western Division title. Because of the time differential, the Warriors knew that the Detroit Pistons had upset the St. Louis Hawks in the Midwest to make it official. Wilt Chamberlain, the sometimes controversial center of the Warriors, called his teammates together and pulled a couple of newspapermen into the huddle, too. . . . "I want to acknowledge right now," he said, "that Alex Hannum is the best coach I ever played for." . . . And the kicker is that this season Wilt - don't - call - me - Stilt dropped to the lowest scoring average of his five-year pro career under Hannum's pressure to conform to team patterns. . . .

Adolph Plummer, one of this country's best bets in the Tokyo Olympics as a 400-meter ace, dropped out of school at New Mexico to head west for Los Angeles and some more concentrated training than he could get as a collegian. . . . but it isn't working out that way in the languid sun of southern California. . . .

For concentrated talent, you can't beat the lineup that publicity man Ted Worner has paraded in his 11 years of trying to give away thoroughbred horses. Worner, who also promoted Jackie Robinson's first baseball tour and didn't manage to get Shirley May France (remember?) across the English channel, has used racing's elite to spread the word — the word being to name the horse for Kentucky Club, and get him. Here's the list: Kathleen Fitzsimmons, whose grandpop is venerable Sunny Jim; Patrice Jacobs, the prettiest horse owner in any paddock and the daughter of Hirsch Jacobs; Willie Knapp, who made Upset live up to his name in the 1919 Sanford Stakes for Man O'War's lone defeat; famed jockeys Conn McCreary and Ted Akinson; the late Clem McCarthy, the voice of racing; and this year, Carolyn Arcaro, whose dad, Eddie, pushed his long nose first across the finish line 4,779 times (including five Kentucky Derby triumphs). . Ted even got All-American quarterback Lee Grosscup and pitcher Ralph Branca into the act. . . .

Clair Bee, off to Puerto Rico to participate in the island's Hall of Fame festival (he built basketball there), stopped long enough to pay special tribute to Pic Picariello, the Pratt cage and erstwhile Bee assistant, as the man most responsible for Clair's great record at LIU . . . where he had two undefeated teams and a string of 43 straight. . . .

Between you'n'me, Al Kaline, one of the defensive stylists of baseball history, once thought he'd be yanked from the Detroit lineup for his fielding. Happened two years ago when the Tigers were desperate for infield help and put him at third base. . . . "I was scared stiff," he recalled. "But (Jim) Bunning pitched a helluva game. It was 1-0 and I could just see myself blowing it. I thought sure they'd take me out for defensive purposes. But I had only one easy chance." . . .

Addition of 12 Lanes Boosts BPAA All Star Field to 648

PARK RIDGE, Ill.,—When the 24th annual BPPA All-Star takes place next January 13-24, Greater Philadelphia BPA President Ed Keller and other host proprietors will be selling tickets to bowling enthusiasts for an event that will show family resemblance to the other 23, but contains enough exciting changes to earn even the most calloused bowling buff's rapt attention.

Instead of the traditional 24 lanes, the Brunswick Corporation will install 36 lanes in Philadelphia's historic Convention Hall for the tournament. The additional 12 lanes make a number of changes possible.

The $100,000 prize fund will be retained for the fourth year in a row, making the BPAA All-Star still the only match game tournament offering its contestants this large financial target.

The field will be expanded from 432 to 648 bowlers—432 men and 216 women. Only men will bowl on the first three days of the tournament, with six squads of 72 men bowling one six-game block per day. After the 18-game opening round, the men's field will be cut in half to 216 for the quarter- final round.

During the second three days of the tournament, three squads of 172 men and three squads of 72 women will bowl one six-game block each day. After the sixth day, the field will be reduced to 72 men and 72 women for the semi-final round.

On the seventh day of the tournament—January 19—all remaining bowlers will bowl six-game blocks and the field will then be reduced for the finals.

The Bonus Pins method of scoring the finals will be used again this year. This system was used for the first time last year, and proved easier to compute and understand.

The enlarged field also makes possible the addition of a number of automatically qualified bowlers to the 1965 All-Star, to be selected from a numebr of additional categories. These categories and the bowlers who have qualified under them will be announced soon.

BPAA Tournament Committee Chairman Carl Hindel of Indianapolis said this week: "We are especially indebted to the Brunswick Corporation for making the 36-lane installation available to us, because it enables us to put into effect many changes we have had in mind for some time."

"For example, we have regretted that it has been necessary to ask a male bowler to remain in the All-Star city for five days to bowl a total of only 20 games. Now the three-day first round format permits the bowler of average financial means to more comfortably enter our tournament," said Hindel. "Also, the enlarged field will serve to stimulate bowling interest in many more cities," he adds.

Snead Has Golf Lead With 135

By KEN ALYTA
Associated Press Sports Writer

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Jimmy Steed, a wizened, 50-year-old veteran of the fairways, has been caddying for Sam Snead for some 25 years in this area.

Between them they've lived more than a century. Snead will be 52 next month.

A pretty handy man with a golf club himself, Steed was in high cotton after Snead clung to his three - stroke lead through the second round of the $35,000 Greensboro Open Friday.

Snead's par 71 after a faltering beginning gave him a 135 total and a three-shot bulge over Julius Boros and Bill Dunk going into today's third round of the 72-hole tournament.

"If we win this one I'm going to tell all those young fellas, 16, 26 and 36 years old, not to fool with us old folks, 'cause we'll get 'em," Steed said.

Slamming Sammy is after his eighth Greensboro victory, starting back with the inaugural in 1938.

But Snead was going to have to tend to business on the 7,000-yard Sedgefield Country Club course, a par 36-35—71 layout.

Jack Nicklaus jumped from an 11th-place tie into fourth at 139, only four shots back of the PGA senior champion. The Masters champion was one of nine men who shot 69 Friday to tie for the day's low honors.

Snead had what he called one of the most unusual rounds he ever played en route to his 71. He played the back nine first, due to the over-sized field of 150. He bogeyed the 10th and 12th holes, then fought back with four birdies to balance them and two later bogeys.

Back of the top four came Bob Shave, Larry Mowry, Al Geiberger and Al Johnson, tied at 140.

Arnold Palmer needed 75 shots to get around for a 145 total, 10 off the lead.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Thirty-six-hole leaders in the $35,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament:

Sam Snead	64-71—135

Warriors Decision St. Louis, 120-85

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coach Alex Hannum showed his San Francisco Warriors a horror movie and watched in return "the finest defense I've ever seen in the National Basketball Association."

As a result, the Warriors and Hawks go back to St. Louis for the third game Sunday of their Western playoff finals, deadlocked at one game apiece.

While the Westerners are battling, the Eastern struggle goes on at Cincinnati where the hometown Royals are 2-0 down to the defending champion Boston Celtics in their best four-of-seven series.

Hannum showed his players the movies of them blowing two 20-point leads to lose the playoff opener to St. Louis, 116-111.

"They sat in sullen silence and watched," the coach related of the Thursday night showing. "Then we discussed the situation and decided there had to be more running, more movement."

The result was a decisive 120-85 victory over the Hawks at the Cow Palace on Friday night which squared the series.

Fights Last Night

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Luis Rodriguez, 151, Miami, outpointed Jesse Smith, 157, Philadelphia, 10.

STRICKEN—Birdie Tebbetts, manager of the Cleveland Indians, was the victim of a heart attack in Tucson, Ariz., and was rushed to St. Mary's Hospital.

Sadler Selected To Conference All-Star Team

Fred Sadler of New Paltz has been awarded a berth on the State University's all-star conference basketball.

The sophomore star joins Dave Bleau, Cortland State; John Pelkas, Plattsburgh State; Richard Stopa, Potsdam State and Tony Conigliaro of Oswego State on the team.

Bleau, who led Cortland to a 9-0 record in the conference, was named on all the ballots and received the most points.

The second team comprises Jim Roll, Buffalo State; Nick Verini, Potsdam; Craig Sallin, Oswego; Bob Cleveland, Cortland and Cas Kowalski, Oswego.

Beliveau, Sawchuk Sidelined As Hockey Playoffs Continue

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jean Beliveau of Montreal and Terry Sawchuk of Detroit, key figures in their clubs' Stanley Cup plans, are out of action and it could mean a lost weekend for the Canadiens and Red Wings.

Montreal and Toronto, even at two victories apiece in their best-of-seven Cup semifinal series, square off in a pivotal game tonight on the Canadiens' ice. Detroit and Chicago, also deadlocked after four games, break the knot Sunday at the Windy City.

The Canadiens will be without Beliveau, their captain and scoring leader, when they tackle the Leafs. The big center injured his left knee when Eddie Shack, Toronto's "blind billy-goat," boarded him during Thursday night's battle-royal, won by the Leafs 5-3.

Sawchuk, the Wings' classy goalie, is back in a hospital bed today, victim of a recurring shoulder injury which forced him out of Thursday's game against the Hawks in the second period.

Rookie Roger Crozier inherited Sawchuck's pads and a 2-1 lead but wound up losing 3-2 in overtime. Crozier, who had been dividing his time between the NHL and AHL playoffs—he's the regular goalie for Pittsburgh of the AHL—will be in the Red Wings' cage Sunday.

Recalls Player

Montreal, which previously lost Gilles Tremblay when the hustling left wing fractured an ankle in the series opener, recalled Claude Larose fro i Omaha of the Central League Friday as a replacement for Beliveau.

Frank Mahovlich, Toronto's million-dollar reclamation project, and a wrecking crew headed by Shack have kept the Leafs even with the Canadiens thus far in a penalty-ridden series.

Mahovlich, converted from left wing to center near the end of a disappointing season, had a hand in every goal in the Leafs' two victories. The Leafs turned down a million-dollar offer by Chicago for The Big M two years ago. He's currently earning the price tag, with three goals and four assists in four games.

The Black Hawks, whose 12-game victory drought on Detroit ice ended after 8½ minutes of sudden - death overtime Thursday when Stan Mikita's shot caromed off Murray Balfour's body into the Wings' net, will be at full strength for Sunday's fifth game.

But the Wings will miss Sawchuk, who quit the hospital Tuesday and blanked the Hawks 3-0.

Olympic Cage Tryouts To Be Finished Today

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran coach Slats Gill watched his NCAA Red team going through its pre-game drills and sighed a bit wistfully:

"I've been trying to recruit a team like this for 36 years."

And he only has the crew for one more game before turning at least some of them over to the tender mercies of Henry Iba of Oklahoma State.

Gill, long-time Oregon State coach, sends his squad against the AAU Stars tonight in the windup game of the three-day U.S. Olympic basketball trials.

Even though the players are picked as individuals rather than by teams, the chances are good that the Olympic Selection Committee will choose a large part of the 12-man team that will represent this country in the Tokyo Olympics from the two teams in the finals of the trials.

The make-up of the Olympic team, to be coached by Iba, will be announced Sunday morning.

Many Candidates

Prime candidates from the NCAA Reds are Mel Counts, Jim Barnes, Wally Jones, Bill Bradley, Jeff Mullins, Dave Stallworth and Willie Murrell. Top candidates from the Stars, made up primarily of members of the AAU champion Akron Goodyear Wingfoots, include Larry Brown, Pete McCaffrey, George Wilson and Jerry Shipp.

From the other teams, some of the more likely choices include Willis Reed, Lucious Jackson, Walt Hazzard, Bunk Adams, Joe Caldwell and Manny Newsome.

The Reds moved into the finals with an easy 85-66 romp over the NAIA All-Stars Friday night and the AAU Stars disposed of the NCAA Whites 101-94.

In afternoon consolation semifinals the AAU Stripes beat the Armed Forces Missiles 76-70 and the NCAA Blues got a 19-point performance from Barry Kramer and disposed of the Armed Forces Jets 81-72.

Set for Marathon

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Aurele Vandendriessche, the 32-year-old Belgian bookkeeper who won the Boston Marathon in record time last year, is going to try and win the famed distance race again. He announced Friday he will compete in the April 20 grind of 26 miles, 385 yards.

Major League Roundup

Red Sox 19-Year-Old Rookie Continues Spring Hitting

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

At the age of 19, most kids are stumbling around trying to find a job or are battling their way through freshman English.

Tony Conigliaro, at the same age, is powering his way through major league opposition into permanent employment as a freshman starter with the Boston Red Sox.

The rookie outfielder continued his torrid spring pace Friday, knocking in two runs, one the winning tally in the 12th, as Boston nipped the Los Angeles Angels 3-2.

The way the Red Sox have been going, Conigliaro looks as out of place as Cary Grant in the Bowery.

He leads Boston with 16 runs batted in, four home runs, nine doubles and 13 runs scored. He is tied for the lead in triples with two, and his 21 hits rank him behind Carl Yastrzemski, the American League batting champion, and Frank Malzone, who each have 23.

He's batting an unspectacular .296, but 15 of his hits have been for extra bases, giving him a .648 slugging percentage.

Conigliaro, a resident of Swampscott, Mass., is only in his second year of professional baseball.

Conigliaro started his career last year with Wellsville of the Class A New York-Penn League. Batting .363 with 24 homers and 74 RBI in 83 games, he was named the league's most valuable player and rookie of the year.

To Start in Center

Gary Geiger's ulcer operation and Roman Mejias' weak bat suddenly have thrust Conigliaro into prominence as Boston's starting center fielder.

In other exhibition action, Carl Willey suffered a complex compound fractured jaw as he helped pitch the New York Mets to a 9-1 victory over Detroit. Don Drysdale pitched his first complete spring game in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 12-2 triumph against Cincinnati.

Baltimore bombed Whitey Ford and the New York Yankees 8-0, scoring five runs in the first inning. San Francisco beat Cleveland for the ninth straight time 5-3 behind Orlando Cepeda's two home runs and four RBI.

Washington edged the Chicago White Sox 4-3 although the Senators' Claude Osteen had his scoreless inning streak stopped at 17. Julio Gotay sparked Pittsburg to a 12-5 victory over St. Louis, with a first-inning three-run homer.

Wes Covington's two-run homer helped Philadelphia edge Kansas City 5-4, and Minnesota trampled Milwaukee 12-3, halting the Braves' 10-game winning streak against American League teams.

When Red Auerbach pats himself on the back that this was his best coaching job at Boston, he's not reaching. This was the first year in 12 that the Celtics didn't place a single man on the NBA All-Pro team. And still they finished with the best record in the league. . .

Big buddies on the Cincinnati Royals are Wayne Embry and Oscar Robertson, the league's MVP. But it changes professionally when they put on street clothes. The Big O and his board sweeper are pushing competitive soft drinks as p.r. men. . . .

It happened at halftime of the San Francisco-Philadelphia regular season wind-up, when the Warriors clinched their first Western Division title. Because of the time differential, the Warriors knew that the Detroit Pistons had upset the St. Louis Hawks in the Midwest to make it official. Wilt Chamberlain, the sometimes controversial center of the Warriors, called his teammates together and pulled a couple of newspapermen into the huddle, too. . . . "I want to acknowledge right now," he said, "that Alex Hannum is the best coach I ever played for." . . . And the kicker is that this season Wilt - don't - call - me - Stilt dropped to the lowest scoring average of his five-year pro career under Hannum's pressure to conform to team patterns. . . .

Adolph Plummer, one of this country's best bets in the Tokyo Olympics as a 400-meter ace, dropped out of school at New Mexico to head west for Los Angeles and some more concentrated training than he could get as a collegian. . . . but it isn't working out that way in the languid sun of southern California. . . .

For concentrated talent, you can't beat the lineup that publicity man Ted Worner has paraded in his 11 years of trying to give away thoroughbred horses. Worner, who also promoted Jackie Robinson's first baseball tour and didn't manage to get Shirley May France (remember?) across the English channel, has used racing's elite to spread the word — the word being to name the horse for Kentucky Club, and get him. Here's the list: Kathleen Fitzsimmons, whose grandpop is venerable Sunny Jim; Patrice Jacobs, the prettiest horse owner in any paddock and the daughter of Hirsch Jacobs; Willie Knapp, who made Upset live up to his name in the 1919 Sanford Stakes for Man O'War's lone defeat; famed jockeys Conn McCreary and Ted Akinson; the late Clem McCarthy, the voice of racing; and this year, Carolyn Arcaro, whose dad, Eddie, pushed his long nose first across the finish line 4,779 times (including five Kentucky Derby triumphs). Ted even got All-American quarterback Lee Grosscup and pitcher Ralph Branca into the act. . . .

Clair Bee, off to Puerto Rico to participate in the island's Hall of Fame festival (he built basketball there), stopped long enough to pay special tribute to Pic Picariello, the Pratt cage and erstwhile Bee assistant, as the man most responsible for Clair's great record at LIU . . . where he had two undefeated teams and a string of 43 straight. . . .

Between you'n'me, Al Kaline, one of the defensive stylists of baseball history, once thought he'd be yanked from the Detroit lineup for his fielding. Happened two years ago when the Tigers were desperate for infield help and put him at third base. . . . "I was scared stiff," he recalled. "But (Jim) Bunning pitched a helluva game. It was 1-0 and I could just see myself blowing it. I thought sure they'd take me out for defensive purposes. But I had only one easy chance." . . .

Open Qualifier Slated at Troy

The area 36-hole qualifying round for the 1964 U.S. Open Golf Championship will be held at Troy Country Club, Monday, May 25. The Congressional Country Club, Washington, D.C., will be the site of the Open, June 18-20.

Those interested in participating in the local qualifying must send an entry to the USGA Headquarters, 40 East 38th Street, New York. Entries must arrive by 5 p. m. on May 6. Amateur entrants may not have a USGA Handicap that exceeds two strokes, and a $20 entry fee must be paid by all applicants.

About 20 percent of the entrants in the Troy qualifying round will continue on to the sectional qualifying event, June 9, at the Seawane and Woodmere clubs in New York.

Eugene J. FitzPatrick, secretary of the Eastern New York Golf Association, is the official in charge of the local qualifier, for which a practice round is slated May 22.

Addition of 12 Lanes Boosts BPAA All Star Field to 648

PARK RIDGE, Ill.,—When the 24th annual BPPA All-Star takes place next January 13-24, Greater Philadelphia BPA President Ed Keller and other host proprietors will be selling tickets to bowling enthusiasts for an event that will show family resemblance to the other 23, but contains enough exciting changes to earn even the most calloused bowling buff's rapt attention.

Instead of the traditional 24 lanes, the Brunswick Corporation will install 36 lanes in Philadelphia's historic Convention Hall for the tournament. The additional 12 lanes make a number of changes possible.

The $100,000 prize fund will be retained for the fourth year in a row, making the BPAA All-Star still the only match game tournament offering its contestants this large financial target.

The field will be expanded from 432 to 648 bowlers—432 men and 216 women. Only men will bowl on the first three days of the tournament, with six squads of 72 men bowling one six-game block per day. After the 18-game opening round, the men's field will be cut in half to 216 for the quarter- final round.

During the second three days of the tournament, three squads of 172 men and three squads of 72 women will bowl one six-game block each day. After the sixth day, the field will be reduced to 72 men and 72 women for the semi-final round.

On the seventh day of the tournament—January 19—all remaining bowlers will bowl six-game blocks and the field will then be reduced for the finals.

The Bonus Pins method of scoring the finals will be used again this year. This system was used for the first time last year, and proved easier to compute and understand.

The enlarged field also makes possible the addition of a number of automatically qualified bowlers to the 1965 All-Star, to be selected from a numebr of additional categories. These categories and the bowlers who have qualified under them will be announced soon.

BPAA Tournament Committee Chairman Carl Hindel of Indianapolis said this week: "We are especially indebted to the Brunswick Corporation for making the 36-lane installation available to us, because it enables us to put into effect many changes we have had in mind for some time."

"For example, we have regretted that it has been necessary to ask a male bowler to remain in the All-Star city for five days to bowl a total of only 20 games. Now the three-day first round format permits the bowler of average financial means to more comfortably enter our tournament," said Hindel. "Also, the enlarged field will serve to stimulate bowling interest in many more cities," he adds.

Snead Has Golf Lead With 135

By KEN ALYTA
Associated Press Sports Writer

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Jimmy Steed, a wizened, 50-year-old veteran of the fairways, has been caddying for Sam Snead for some 25 years in this area.

Between them they've lived more than a century. Snead will be 52 next month.

A pretty handy man with a golf club himself, Steed was in high cotton after Snead clung to his three - stroke lead through the second round of the $35,000 Greensboro Open Friday.

Snead's par 71 after a faltering beginning gave him a 135 total and a three-shot bulge over Julius Boros and Bill Dunk going into today's third round of the 72-hole tournament.

"If we win this one I'm going to tell all those young fellas, 16, 26 and 36 years old, not to fool with us old folks, 'cause we'll get 'em," Steed said.

Slamming Sammy is after his eighth Greensboro victory, starting back with the inaugural in 1938.

But Snead was going to have to tend to business on the 7,000-yard Sedgefield Country Club course, a par 36-35—71 layout.

Jack Nicklaus jumped from an 11th-place tie into fourth at 139, only four shots back of the PGA senior champion. The Masters champion was one of nine men who shot 69 Friday to tie for the day's low honors.

Snead had what he called one of the most unusual rounds he ever played en route to his 71. He played the back nine first, due to the over-sized field of 150. He bogeyed the 10th and 12th holes, then fought back with four birdies to balance them and two later bogeys.

Back of the top four came Bob Shave, Larry Mowry, Al Geiberger and Al Johnson, tied at 140.

Arnold Palmer needed 75 shots to get around for a 145 total, 10 off the lead.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Thirty-six-hole leaders in the $35,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament:

Sam Snead	64-71—135

Warriors Decision St. Louis, 120-85

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coach Alex Hannum showed his San Francisco Warriors a horror movie and watched in return "the finest defense I've ever seen in the National Basketball Association."

As a result, the Warriors and Hawks go back to St. Louis for the third game Sunday of their Western playoff finals, deadlocked at one game apiece.

While the Westerners are battling, the Eastern struggle goes on at Cincinnati where the hometown Royals are 2-0 down to the defending champion Boston Celtics in their best four-of-seven series.

Hannum showed his players the movies of them blowing two 20-point leads to lose the playoff opener to St. Louis, 116-111.

"They sat in sullen silence and watched," the coach related of the Thursday night showing. "Then we discussed the situation and decided there had to be more running, more movement."

The result was a decisive 120-85 victory over the Hawks at the Cow Palace on Friday night which squared the series.

Sadler Selected To Conference All-Star Team

Fred Sadler of New Paltz has been awarded a berth on the State University's all-star conference basketball.

The sophomore star joins Dave Bleau, Cortland State; John Pelkas, Plattsburgh State; Richard Stopa, Potsdam State and Tony Conigliaro of Oswego State on the team.

Bleau, who led Cortland to a 9-0 record in the conference, was named on all the ballots and received the most points.

The second team comprises Jim Roll, Buffalo State; Nick Verini, Potsdam; Craig Sallin, Oswego; Bob Cleveland, Cortland and Cas Kowalski, Oswego.

Beliveau, Sawchuk Sidelined As Hockey Playoffs Continue

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jean Beliveau of Montreal and Terry Sawchuk of Detroit, key figures in their clubs' Stanley Cup plans, are out of action and it could mean a lost weekend for the Canadiens and Red Wings.

Montreal and Toronto, even at two victories apiece in their best-of-seven Cup semifinal series, square off in a pivotal game tonight on the Canadiens' ice. Detroit and Chicago, also deadlocked after four games, break the knot Sunday at the Windy City.

The Canadiens will be without Beliveau, their captain and scoring leader, when they tackle the Leafs. The big center injured his left knee when Eddie Shack, Toronto's "blind billy-goat," boarded him during Thursday night's battle-royal, won by the Leafs 5-3.

Sawchuk, the Wings' classy goalie, is back in a hospital bed today, victim of a recurring shoulder injury which forced him out of Thursday's game against the Hawks in the second period.

Rookie Roger Crozier inherited Sawchuck's pads and a 2-1 lead but wound up losing 3-2 in overtime. Crozier, who had been dividing his time between the NHL and AHL playoffs—he's the regular goalie for Pittsburgh of the AHL—will be in the Red Wings' cage Sunday.

Recalls Player

Montreal, which previously lost Gilles Tremblay when the hustling left wing fractured an ankle in the series opener, recalled Claude Larose fro i Omaha of the Central League Friday as a replacement for Beliveau.

Frank Mahovlich, Toronto's million-dollar reclamation project, and a wrecking crew headed by Shack have kept the Leafs even with the Canadiens thus far in a penalty-ridden series.

Mahovlich, converted from left wing to center near the end of a disappointing season, had a hand in every goal in the Leafs' two victories. The Leafs turned down a million-dollar offer by Chicago for The Big M two years ago. He's currently earning the price tag, with three goals and four assists in four games.

The Black Hawks, whose 12-game victory drought on Detroit ice ended after 8½ minutes of sudden - death overtime Thursday when Stan Mikita's shot caromed off Murray Balfour's body into the Wings' net, will be at full strength for Sunday's fifth game.

But the Wings will miss Sawchuk, who quit the hospital Tuesday and blanked the Hawks 3-0.

Olympic Cage Tryouts To Be Finished Today

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Veteran coach Slats Gill watched his NCAA Red team going through its pre-game drills and sighed a bit wistfully:

"I've been trying to recruit a team like this for 36 years."

And he only has the crew for one more game before turning at least some of them over to the tender mercies of Henry Iba of Oklahoma State.

Gill, long-time Oregon State coach, sends his squad against the AAU Stars tonight in the windup game of the three-day U.S. Olympic basketball trials.

Even though the players are picked as individuals rather than by teams, the chances are good that the Olympic Selection Committee will choose a large part of the 12-man team that will represent this country in the Tokyo Olympics from the two teams in the finals of the trials.

The make-up of the Olympic team, to be coached by Iba, will be announced Sunday morning.

Many Candidates

Prime candidates from the NCAA Reds are Mel Counts, Jim Barnes, Wally Jones, Bill Bradley, Jeff Mullins, Dave Stallworth and Willie Murrell. Top candidates from the Stars, made up primarily of members of the AAU champion Akron Goodyear Wingfoots, include Larry Brown, Pete McCaffrey, George Wilson and Jerry Shipp.

From the other teams, some of the more likely choices include Willis Reed, Lucious Jackson, Walt Hazzard, Bunk Adams, Joe Caldwell and Manny Newsome.

The Reds moved into the finals with an easy 85-66 romp over the NAIA All-Stars Friday night and the AAU Stars disposed of the NCAA Whites 101-94.

In afternoon consolation semi-finals the AAU Stripes beat the Armed Forces Missiles 76-70 and the NCAA Blues got a 19-point performance from Barry Kramer and disposed of the Armed Forces Jets 81-72.

Set for Marathon

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Aurele Vandendriessche, the 32-year-old Belgian bookkeeper who won the Boston Marathon in record time last year, is going to try and win the famed distance race again. He announced Friday he will compete in the April 20 grind of 26 miles, 385 yards.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help-Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Most employes engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and at least one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for hours worked after a maximum workweek of 40 hours, unless specifically exempt. Also, most employes in certain large retail, service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce, who have been entitled to a minimum wage of at least $1.00 an hour since September 3, 1961, must be paid overtime pay of not less than one and one-half times their regular rates for all hours worked after a maximum workweek of 44 hours, unless specifically exempt. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452 WYandotte 2-1235.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help-Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Most employes engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and at least one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for hours worked after a maximum workweek of 40 hours, unless specifically exempt. Also, most employes in certain large retail, service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce, who have been entitled to a minimum wage of at least $1.00 an hour since September 3, 1961, must be paid overtime pay of not less than one and one-half times their regular rates for all hours worked after a maximum workweek of 44 hours, unless specifically exempt. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452 WYandotte 2-1235.

Cancer Crusade Chairmen Named For Area Towns

Town chairmen and captains of teams of solicitors for the 1964 American Cancer Society Crusade to be conducted through April, today were announced by Lawrence A. Quilty, chairman of the Ulster County fund-raising committee, and Augustus S. Brinnier, county vice chairman.

The ACS again is using its time-tried theme — To Cure More, Give More for this year's drive. Scores of volunteer workers, well trained for their assignment, already have started their house-to-house visit in their communities, seeking donations which committee leaders hope will total more than the $35,000 set as the county goal.

The theme — To Cure, More, Give More — according to Chairman Quilty, "reflects the society's determination to reach more people with life-saving facts about cancer; provide more physicians with the latest facts about detection and treatment; to support more scientists in the growing cancer research field, and to supply more service to cancer patients."

Town chairmen and district captains are:

Gardiner—Mrs. Clifford Hoppenstedt, chairman; Mrs. Ruger, co-chairman. Hurley—Mrs. R. D. Cole, and Mrs. Ronald Vannie, West Hurley; Mrs. Ellen Beecher, town of Kingston; Esopus—Robert Corcoran; district captains—Mrs. F. Kurtz, Esopus; Mrs. Frank Kelly, Rifton; Mrs. Margaret Jordan, St. Remy; Mrs. Madeline Ehrbar, West Esopus.

Marbletown — Ross K. Osterhoudt; Marlboro—Mrs. Lorenzo Diorio and Mrs. Pierre Renaud; New Paltz—Mrs. Wiliam Hurley; Olive—Mrs. Raymond Cruthers; Plattekill—Mrs. Milton C. VanDuzer, chairman, and Mrs. M. Jansen of Modena, district captain; Rosendale — Raymond LeFever, chairman, and Gerard DeFelicis, co-chairman.

Saugerties — Mrs. Virginia Carnright; Shawangunk — Mrs. Jesse McHugh, chairman, and Mrs. Joseph Morris, co-chairman; Shandaken — Mrs. Eleis Nuse; Ulster—Thaddeus Musialkiewicz; Wawarsing — Herbert Weinsoff; Woodstock—Mrs. Howard Kondolf.

Mrs. Arthur Freeman, director of the Ulster County Cancer Society, urges the public to make generous contributions to this year's crusade. She noted that in 1963, Ulster County residents contributed a total of $30,621.11 to the cause.

"More people than ever before are aware that cancer is an emergency problem," Mrs. Freeman said," and I am confident that we will do much better this year. The lives of some 48 million Americans now alive are at stake. That is the number who will eventually develop cancer if present rates continue. When people realize this, they will understand why we say 'To Cure More, Give More.' "

Neck for Neck

Turtlenecks are fashionable this season, but anyone who has a short neck or a long bob will not look her best in them. They call for a long, elegant neck and a short hairstyle.

Shaken Silence After Moscow's Rally Call

Nikita's Speech Leaves Red Parties in State of Shock

EDITOR'S NOTE: Stanley Johnson, veteran Associated Press correspondent, spent six years in Moscow and one in Poland and journeyed through Western Europe studying Kremlin policy and its impact on both sides of the Iron Curtain. In this analysis he discusses the possible effect on the Communist world of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's call for a showdown with Red China.

An AP News Analysis
By STANLEY JOHNSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The world's Communist parties seemed to be in a state of shock today, pondering their fate and the future of their movement in the wake of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's publicized decision to force a showdown with Red China.

Rack and Ruin

Rack and ruin seemed to face some of them.

Khrushchev predicted that Red parties around the globe would rally to Moscow's side. But 24 hours after publication of his call for a world Communist conference to take up the Chinese issue, there was only a shaken silence in the Red ranks.

Division of the once monolithic Communist movement into two warring camps posed a whole new set of problems for the parties: It involved rethinking on a massive scale since obviously communism never could be the same again.

Adding to their confusion was publication of the news that three of their once-revered chiefs had been ousted from the Soviet Communist party.

If this can happen to former Premiers Georgi M. Malenkov and V. M. Molotov, to tough Stalinist former First Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich, what will be the fate of lesser luminaries at home and abroad who defy Khrushchev?

That question must have been in the minds of party leaders in both Communist and non-Communist countries.

Leery About Comments

It seemed obvious that party leaders were leery of saying anything until they could see Peking's reaction to the Soviet blast and meeting call.

The Red Chinese were silent, too, understandably, since it takes time to draw up a formal reply. But they produced one odd statement: warm congratulations to the Hungarian Communist party on the 19th anniversary of the liberation of Budapest from the Nazis.

This was a strange gesture because the Hungarians are the only ones who have yet pledged all-out support for Khrushchev and issued their own denunciation of Peking.

General feeling among those who follow Communist affairs closely was that the Hungarians had acted out of politeness because Khrushchev is a guest in their country.

What's upsetting many of the parties—and facing them with disaster—is the need for a showdown between "Chinese" and "Russians" in their own ranks before they can take sides internationally.

This is bound to weaken them and lower their effectiveness as a political force.

A foretaste came from Belgium, where the Communist party is already split. The pro-Chinese hailed the idea of a conference and claimed it was originally a Chinese idea, which, in fact, it was.

The pro-Russians, apparently not tipped off in advance, maintained an embarrassed silence and said it was too soon to comment.

Drainage Basins Of Ulster Area Are Classified

ALBANY — Official classifications for the drainage basins of streams entering the Hudson River in Orange, Ulster, Dutchess and Putnam counties have been established by the Water Resources Commission, Harold G. Wilm, chairman of the commission, announced today.

Seven different classes are assigned to fresh waters. These classes are based on different uses of the water, and standards are set to assure water quality at the classification level established.

Public hearings to classify these drainage basins were held April, 1961, in Newburgh and Poughkeepsie. Before the hearings, the waters of the basins were surveyed by State Health Department engineers. Their report was sent to each affected municipality and industry in the basins.

Copies of the official classifications for the basins have been sent to all persons who attended the hearings and to others who may be affected by the classifications. Copies also may be obtained from the State Health Department on request, or from any of the following local Health Department offices: Ulster, Westchester, Columbia, Rockland and Dutchess counties, the White Plains Regional Office and the Middletown and Oneonta District offices.

Unity of Church Hope of World: Vienna Cardinal

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—"The world of the future will not be the world of Europe and America or the world of the white man only," says Francis Cardinal Koenig, Roman Catholic archbishop of Vienna.

Cardinal Koenig, in Buffalo Friday to receive an honorary doctorate of laws degree from Canisius College, said Christian unity was being taken seriously today. He envisioned the day of "the church of all people, races and cultures."

The prelate, on a two-week tour of the United States, said the Vatican Ecumenical Council "will not realize formal unity." But, he said, it is more important now that "priority should be given the desire, the readiness and the will for unity."

"The unity of the church is the hope of the world," he said.

Fire Police Are To Choose Slate At Glasco Meet

Nomination of officers and final arrangements for the April 25 banquet will feature the meeting of the Volunteer Fire Police Association of Ulster County, Inc., next Wednesday night, April 8.

The meeting is scheduled for 8:30 p. m. in Glasco, according to John Sahloff, secretary.

The banquet will be held Saturday, April 25, a the Alpine starting at 7 p. m. Guest speaker will be Jerry Kornfelt, counselor for the New York State Fire Police Association.

Alvin Beatty of New Paltz, association advisor of the Ulster County Association, will be toastmaster. Among those attending are expected to include the Rev. Willet R. Porter of New Paltz, Mrs. Arthur Rice, West Hurley; Henry P. Eighmey and Winfred Snyder, county fire coordinator. Richard Marquard of Clintondale will furnish entertainment.

Final arrangements also are scheduled to be made for the New York State Fire Police convention set for New Paltz May 15-16.

Dear Abby . . . Non-Smokers' Corner!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My beds aren't made yet and my dishes are still in the sink, but I must sit down and get this off my chest. All this baloney about lung cancer has fallen flat. People will go right on smoking on the chance that it might not hit them. But I know something that is true of everyone who smokes that should convince people to quit. Now I've been to college and I realize this doesn't sound very polite, but I am going to say it in plain language. SMOKERS STINK! Their clothes, their hair, their skin and their breath just plain smell bad. All the money spent on perfume and deodorants is wasted. Most smokers don't notice it on themselves, but it bother everyone within two feet of them. If you are a heavy smoker, the next time you go to kiss your child, or grandchild, ask him how he likes it. He will tell you the truth.

Sincerely,

EX-SMOKER

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: After reading the mailman's complaint that the women on his route wouldn't leave him alone, and then the young meter reader who said that most of the housewives had designs on him, I began to wonder what mailmen and meter readers had that carpenters don't have. I have worked inside and outside of houses for 30 years, and I have dealt with the lady of the house, directly, and I never one had this problem. Should I be insulted?

CARPENTER

DEAR CARPENTER: No. Maybe nobody else has had it, either.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe times have changed since I was a meter reader 25 years ago, but I was told that if I could not safely reach the meter to read it (vicious dogs or half-clad women) I should report it to the company, and they would send an estimated bill.

OLD-TIME METER READER

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: What was the good-looking young meter reader, who had so much trouble beating off the love-starved housewife, doing in the house anyway? The meter is on the OUTSIDE.

CYNIC

DEAR CYNIC: Maybe he just wanted to meet her.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I have noted with amusement the letters from mailmen who claim they have had to employ a lot of fancy footwork in order to stay clear of those love-starved housewives who meet them on the porch and try to lure them inside. I have delivered mail for a long time, Abby, and if a woman comes to her door clad in only a bath towel (and some have) it doesn't bother me a bit. You see, I am a lady mailman!

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)— The business upturn reached the ripe old age of 38 months this week.

That made it the longest business expansion in peacetime.

Some economists felt it was getting decrepit.

Still Robust to Some

Others contended it is still robust and has a considerably longer life ahead.

Majority opinion tended toward the belief that things look good for the months ahead.

M. R. Gainsbrugh, chief economist of the National Industrial Conference Board, expressed this opinion:

"Because there are none of the familiar signs of economic strain, I would say the top of this expansion isn't even in sight yet, especially considering the stimulating effect of the recent tax reducation."

The Chase Manhattan Bank of New York said:

"The odds are high that the economy will be operating at, or quite close to practical capacity later this year. This is likely to be true even with moderation in consumer markets, capital expenditure and inventories."

No Hampering Signs

At present, the upswing isn't hampered by the usual signs of an expansion's demise. Inventories aren't excessive, loans aren't difficult to obtain and prices are relatively stable.

This is despite the fact that the upturn well exceeds the 30-month average for all 26 previous U.S. business expansions since records were first kept in 1854.

It is being carried along by corporations' high sales and earnings, particularly in the automobile and steel industries, and heavy investment in new plant and equipment.

On the strength of this, the stock market has reached successive new highs, adding to the optimism.

American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and Sears, Roebuck and Co., among others, supplied evidence this week that business is moving along at a high level.

AT&T reported record earnings of $397,918,000 or $1.58 a share, for the three months ended Feb. 29, compared with $358,858,000, or $1.43 a share, a year earlier. Sales rose to $2,474,815,000 from $2,295,271,000 a year earlier.

Sears, Roebuck sales for the year ended Jan. 31 totaled $5.1 billion, crossing the $5-billion mark for the first time. The big mail-order chain earned $261 million, or $3.44 a share, against $234.6 million, or $3.10 a share, in the previous year.

HCL Drops

Consumers got a little good news when the cost of living declined in March for the first time since December 1961. It was just a little drop—one-tenth of one per cent—and the Bureau of Labor Statistics predicted a resumption of the rise this month.

The Census Bureau reported that manufacturers' new orders and shipments in February declined slightly from record levels in January.

Steel production climbed last week to the highest level since last June 29, totaling 2,406,000 tons, up 1.9 per cent from the previous week. Signs of a leveling off in steel demand appeared, however. Indications were that shipments will fall in May and June and rebound in July.

Rocky Discusses Special Session On Return Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller, back from a west coast campaign trip seeking the Republican presidential nomination, held a series of private meeetings Friday with aides concerning the special session of the Legislature he has called for April 15.

Rockefeller is recalling the lawmakers to reconsider liquor law changes which he proposed but which they rejected at the end of the regular legislative session last week.

The governor has not indicated whether he will accede to demands that he expand the special session's agenda to include subjects other than liquor.

Rockefeller's liquor program includes elimination of price-fixing, an end to restrictions on distance between liquor stores, and repeal of the food-serving requirement for bars.

The governor plans to spend this weekend at his estate in Pocantico Hills, N.Y.

Advise Medical Exam, Best Type Health Insurance

"Your best insurance against possible serious illness is a regular medical examination," Dr. Theodore S. Drachman, health commissioner of the County Department of Health said today.

Many conditions such as cancer, heart disease, TB, diabetes and eye disorders cast their shadows before them in advance of any obvious symptoms. As one example, 12 per cent of all blindness in the United States is due to the eye disorder, chronic simple glaucoma (in over 30,000 people) and an estimated 1,000,000 people are afflicted but do not know it. Most victims are over 40 and show no symptoms until serious loss of vision has occurred. But glaucoma can be easily detected and serious complications can be prevented.

A regular medical checkup by your own doctor can detect many unsuspected disorders in time to prevent them from becoming serious. Health checkups are particularly important for children and those over 40. It is wise for women over 35 to have an annual examination for possible cancer in the female system. If discovered early, such cancers are usually curable, preventing untold suffering and expense.

Regular health examinations also provide a good opportunity to check on the need for immunizations that can prevent several diseases, as well as proper advice on diet and nutrition.

If something is wrong, you will be ahead of the game to catch it early. If all is well, it is always good news to receive a clean bill of health.

Sets Fanny Farmer Vote

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A vote will be taken May 21 by stockholders of Fannny Farmer Candy Shops, Inc., on a proposal to increase the corporation's authorized shares of common stock from 450,000 to 750,000, directors of the firm said Friday.

Stockholder approval of the proposal would lead to a 5 for 4 stock dividend payable in late June to stockholders of record June 5, the directors reported.

Cancer Crusade Chairmen Named For Area Towns

Town chairmen and captains of teams of solicitors for the 1964 American Cancer Society Crusade to be conducted through April, today were announced by Lawrence A. Quilty, chairman of the Ulster County fund-raising committee, and Augustus S. Brinnier, county vice chairman.

The ACS again is using its time-tried theme — To Cure More, Give More for this year's drive. Scores of volunteer workers, well trained for their assignment, already have started their house-to-house visit in their communities, seeking donations which committee leaders hope will total more than the $35,000 set as the county goal.

The theme — To Cure More, Give More — according to Chairman Quilty, "reflects the society's determination to reach more people with life-saving facts about cancer; provide more physicians with the latest facts about detection and treatment; to support more scientists in the growing cancer research field, and to supply more service to cancer patients."

Town chairmen and district captains are:

Gardiner—Mrs. Clifford Hoppenstedt, chairman; Mrs. Ruger, co-chairman. Hurley—Mrs. R. D. Cole, and Mrs. Ronald Vannie. West Hurley; Mrs. Ellen Beecher, town of Kingston; Esopus—Robert Corcoran; district captains—Mrs. F. Kurtz, Esopus; Mrs. Frank Kelly, Rifton; Mrs. Margaret Jordan, St. Remy; Mrs. Madeline Ehrbar, West Esopus.

Marbletown — Ross K. Osterhoudt; Marlboro—Mrs. Lorenzo Diorio and Mrs. Pierre Renaud; New Paltz—Mrs. William Hurley; Olive—Mrs. Raymond Cruthers; Plattekill—Mrs. Milton C. VanDuzer, chairman, and Mrs. M. Jansen of Modena, district captain; Rosendale — Raymond LeFever, chairman, and Gerard DeFelicis, co-chairman.

Saugerties — Mrs. Virginia Carnright; Shawangunk — Mrs. Jesse McHugh, chairman, and Mrs. Joseph Morris, co-chairman; Shandaken — Mrs. Eleis Nuse; Ulster—Thaddeus Musialkiewicz; Wawarsing — Herbert Weinsoff; Woodstock—Mrs. Howard Kondolf.

Mrs. Arthur Freeman, director of the Ulster County Cancer Society, urges the public to make generous contributions to this year's crusade. She noted that in 1963, Ulster County residents contributed a total of $30,621.11 to the cause.

"More people than ever before are aware that cancer is an emergency problem," Mrs. Freeman said," and I am confident that we will do much better this year. The lives of some 48 million Americans now alive are at stake. That is the number who will eventually develop cancer if present rates continue. When people realize this, they will understand why we say 'To Cure More, Give More.' "

Shaken Silence After Moscow's Rally Call

Nikita's Speech Leaves Red Parties in State of Shock

EDITOR'S NOTE: Stanley Johnson, veteran Associated Press correspondent, spent six years in Moscow and one in Poland and journeyed through Western Europe studying Kremlin policy and its impact on both sides of the Iron Curtain. In this analysis he discusses the possible effect on the Communist world of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's call for a showdown with Red China.

An AP News Analysis
By STANLEY JOHNSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The world's Communist parties seemed to be in a state of shock today, pondering their fate and the future of their movement in the wake of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's publicized decision to force a showdown with Red China.

Rack and Ruin

Rack and ruin seemed to face some of them.

Khrushchev predicted that Red parties around the globe would rally to Moscow's side. But 24 hours after publication of his call for a world Communist conference to take up the Chinese issue, there was only a shaken silence in the Red ranks.

Division of the once monolithic Communist movement into two warring camps posed a whole new set of problems for the parties: It involved rethinking on a massive scale since obviously communism never could be the same again.

Adding to their confusion was publication of the news that three of their once-revered chiefs had been ousted from the Soviet Communist party.

If this can happen to former Premiers Georgi M. Malenkov and V. M. Molotov, to tough Stalinist former First Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich, what will be the fate of lesser luminaries at home and abroad who defy Khrushchev?

That question must have been in the minds of party leaders in both Communist and non-Communist countries.

Leery About Comments

It seemed obvious that party leaders were leery of saying anything until they could see Peking's reaction to the Soviet blast and meeting call.

The Red Chinese were silent, too, understandably, since it takes time to draw up a formal reply. But they produced one odd statement: warm congratulations to the Hungarian Communist party on the 19th anniversary of the liberation of Budapest from the Nazis.

This was a strange gesture because the Hungarians are the only ones who have yet pledged all-out support for Khrushchev and issued their own denunciation of Peking.

General feeling among those who follow Communist affairs closely was that the Hungarians had acted out of politeness because Khrushchev is a guest in their country.

What's upsetting many of the parties—and facing them with disaster—is the need for a showdown between "Chinese" and "Russians" in their own ranks before they can take sides internationally.

This is bound to weaken them and lower their effectiveness as a political force.

A foretaste came from Belgium, where the Communist party is already split. The pro-Chinese hailed the idea of a conference and claimed it was originally a Chinese idea, which, in fact, it was.

The pro-Russians, apparently not tipped off in advance, maintained an embarrassed silence and said it was too soon to comment.

Drainage Basins Of Ulster Area Are Classified

ALBANY — Official classifications for the drainage basins of streams entering the Hudson River in Orange, Ulster, Dutchess and Putnam counties have been established by the Water Resources Commission, Harold G. Wilm, chairman of the commission, announced today.

Seven different classes are assigned to fresh waters. These classes are based on different uses of the water, and standards are set to assure water quality at the classification level established.

Public hearings to classify these drainage basins were held April, 1961, in Newburgh and Poughkeepsie. Before the hearings, the waters of the basins were surveyed by State Health Department engineers. Their report was sent to each affected municipality and industry in the basins.

Copies of the official classifications for the basins have been sent to all persons who attended the hearings and to others who may be affected by the classifications. Copies also may be obtained from the State Health Department on request, or from any of the following local Health Department offices: Ulster, Westchester, Columbia, Rockland and Dutchess counties, the White Plains Regional Office and the Middletown and Oneonta District offices.

Unity of Church Hope of World: Vienna Cardinal

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—"The world of the future will not be the world of Europe and America or the world of the white man only," says Francis Cardinal Koenig, Roman Catholic archbishop of Vienna.

Cardinal Koenig, in Buffalo Friday to receive an honorary doctorate of laws degree from Canisius College, said Christian unity was being taken seriously today. He envisioned the day of "the church of all people, races and cultures."

The prelate, on a two-week tour of the United States, said the Vatican Ecumenical Council "will not realize formal unity." But, he said, it is more important now that "priority should be given the desire, the readiness and the will for unity."

"The unity of the church is the hope of the world," he said.

Fire Police Are To Choose Slate At Glasco Meet

Nomination of officers and final arrangements for the April 25 banquet will feature the meeting of the Volunteer Fire Police Association of Ulster County, Inc., next Wednesday night, April 8.

The meeting is scheduled for 8:30 p. m. in Glasco, according to John Sahloff, secretary.

The banquet will be held Saturday, April 25, a the Alpine starting at 7 p. m. Guest speaker will be Jerry Kornfelt, counselor for the New York State Fire Police Association.

Alvin Beatty of New Paltz, association advisor of the Ulster County Association, will be toastmaster. Among those attending are expected to include the Rev. Willet R. Porter of New Paltz, Mrs. Arthur Rice, West Hurley; Henry P. Eighmey and Winfred Snyder, county fire coordinator. Richard Marquard of Clintondale will furnish entertainment.

Final arrangements also are scheduled to be made for the New York State Fire Police convention set for New Paltz May 15-16.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My beds aren't made yet and my dishes are still in the sink, but I must sit down and get this off my chest. All this baloney about lung cancer has fallen flat. People will go right on smoking on the chance that it might not hit them. But I know something that is true of everyone who smokes that should convince people to quit. Now I've been to college and I realize this doesn't sound very polite, but I am going to say it in plain language. SMOKERS STINK! Their clothes, their hair, their skin and their breath just plain smell bad. All the money spent on perfume and deodorants is wasted. Most smokers don't notice it on themselves, but it bother everyone within two feet of them. If you are a heavy smoker, the next time you go to kiss your child, or grandchild, ask him how he likes it. He will tell you the truth.

Sincerely,

EX-SMOKER

DEAR ABBY: After reading the mailman's complaint that the women on his route wouldn't leave him alone, and then the young meter reader who said that most of the housewives had designs on him, I began to wonder what mailmen and meter readers had that carpenters don't have. I have worked inside and outside of houses for 30 years, and I have dealt with the lady of the house, directly, and I never one had this problem. Should I be insulted?

CARPENTER

DEAR CARPENTER: No. Maybe nobody else has had it, either.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe times have changed since I was a meter reader 25 years ago, but I was told that if I could not safely reach the meter to read it (vicious dogs or half-clad women) I should report it to the company, and they would send an estimated bill.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: What was the good-looking young meter reader, who had so much trouble beating off the love-starved housewife, doing in the house anyway? The meter is on the OUTSIDE.

CYNIC

DEAR CYNIC: Maybe he just wanted to meet her.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I have noted with amusement the letters from mailmen who claim they have had to employ a lot of fancy footwork in order to stay clear of those love-starved housewives who meet them on the porch and try to lure them inside. I have delivered mail for a long time, Abby, and if a woman comes to her door clad in only a bath towel (and some have) it doesn't bother me a bit. You see, I am a lady mailman!

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)— The business upturn reached the ripe old age of 38 months this week.

That made it the longest business expansion in peacetime.

Some economists felt it was getting decrepit.

Still Robust to Some

Others contended it is still robust and has a considerably longer life ahead.

Majority opinion tended toward the belief that things look good for the months ahead.

M. R. Gainsbrugh, chief economist of the National Industrial Conference Board, expressed this opinion:

"Because there are none of the familiar signs of economic strain, I would say the top of this expansion isn't even in sight yet, especially considering the stimulating effect of the recent tax reducation."

The Chase Manhattan Bank of New York said:

"The odds are high that the economy will be operating at, or quite close to practical capacity later this year. This is likely to be true even with moderation in consumer markets, capital expenditure and inventories."

No Hampering Signs

At present, the upswing isn't hampered by the usual signs of an expansion's demise. Inventories aren't excessive, loans aren't difficult to obtain and prices are relatively stable.

This is despite the fact that the upturn well exceeds the 30-month average for all 26 previous U.S. business expansions since records were first kept in 1854.

It is being carried along by corporations' high sales and earnings, particularly in the automobile and steel industries, and heavy investment in new plant and equipment.

On the strength of this, the stock market has reached successive new highs, adding to the optimism.

American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and Sears, Roebuck and Co., among others, supplied evidence this week that business is moving along at a high level.

AT&T reported record earnings of $397,918,000 or $1.58 a share, for the three months ended Feb. 29, compared with $358,858,000, or $1.43 a share, a year earlier. Sales rose to $2,474,815,000 from $2,295,271,000 a year earlier.

Sears, Roebuck sales for the year ended Jan. 31 totaled $5.1 billion, crossing the $5-billion mark for the first time. The big mail-order chain earned $261 million, or $3.44 a share, against $234.6 million, or $3.10 a share, in the previous year.

HCL Drops

Consumers got a little good news when the cost of living declined in March for the first time since December 1961. It was just a little drop—one-tenth of one per cent—and the Bureau of Labor Statistics predicted a resumption of the rise this month.

The Census Bureau reported that manufacturers' new orders and shipments in February declined slightly from record levels in January.

Steel production climbed last week to the highest level since last June 29, totaling 2,406,000 tons, up 1.9 per cent from the previous week. Signs of a leveling off in steel demand appeared, however. Indications were that shipments will fall in May and June and rebound in July.

Rocky Discusses Special Session On Return Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller, back from a west coast campaign trip seeking the Republican presidential nomination, held a series of private meeetings Friday with aides concerning the special session of the Legislature he has called for April 15.

Rockefeller is recalling the lawmakers to reconsider liquor law changes which he proposed but which they rejected at the end of the regular legislative session last week.

The governor has not indicated whether he will accede to demands that he expand the special session's agenda to include subjects other than liquor.

Rockefeller's liquor program includes elimination of price-fixing, an end to restrictions on distance between liquor stores, and repeal of the food-serving requirement for bars.

The governor plans to spend this weekend at his estate in Pocantico Hills, N.Y.

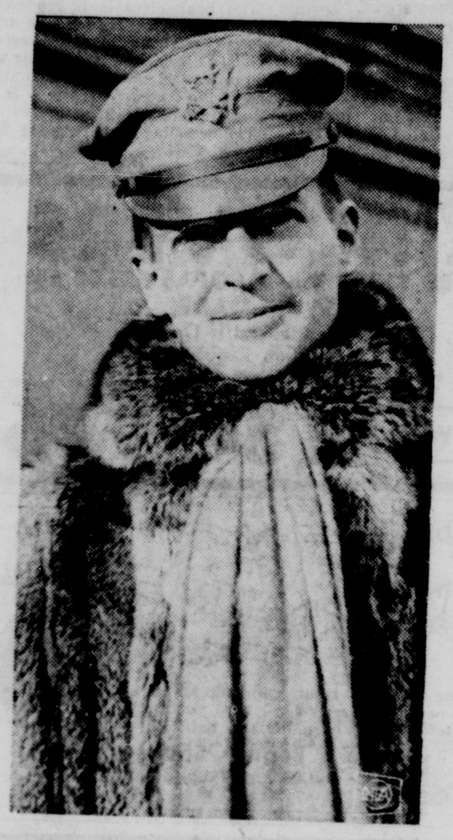
Memories of an Old Soldier . . .



He was always the dashing leader. In 1919, MacArthur returned from World War I a decorated hero, brigade commander of the famed Rainbow Division and a brigadier general.

This is MacArthur as the world remembers him. The photograph was taken in the South Pacific in 1945. The general designed his famous "scrambled egg" cap.

1880—Born Jan. 26, at Little Rock, Ark., Army barracks.

1903—Graduated from West Point with highest academic average.

1914—Accompanied U. S. expedition which seized Vera Cruz, Mexico.

1918—Wounded and gassed in France and promoted to brigadier general by Pershing.

1930—Appointed Army chief of staff, youngest in history. Routed bonus marchers from Washington in 1932.

1935—Loaned to the Philippines by Roosevelt to organize military defenses there.

1941—Recalled to active duty as major general and given a Pacific command; after Pearl Harbor he withdrew to Bataan.

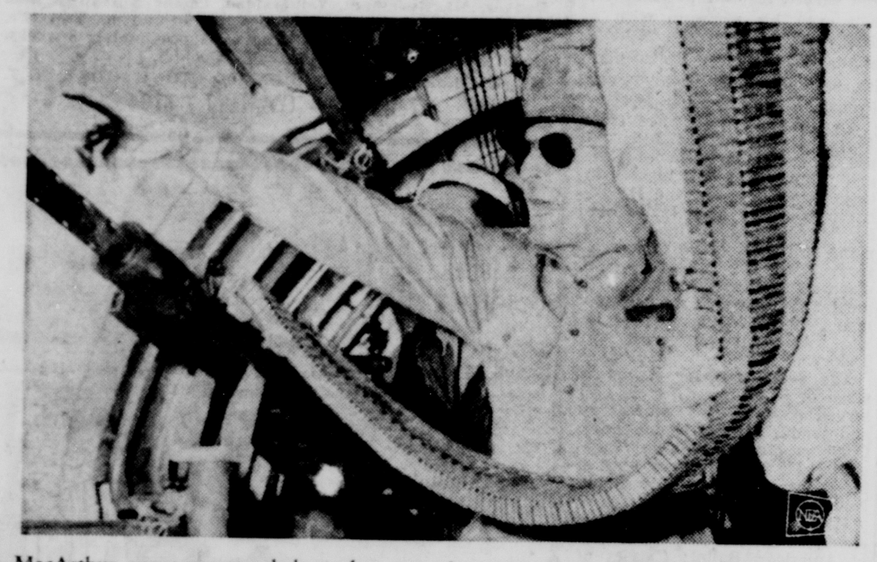
1942—Evacuated Bataan in March with wife, son and staff officers, declaring, "I shall return."

1945—Named commander of all U. S. Army forces in the Pacific; received surrender of Japan on Aug. 14 and named by Truman to command occupation forces.

1951—Commanded campaign against North Koreans when they crossed the 38th parallel dividing Korea.

1951—Removed from command by President Truman. Returned to the United States to defend his position before Congress.

As the Army's youngest chief of staff in 1932, General MacArthur was assigned by President Hoover the distasteful job of evicting the bonus marchers from Washington.



MacArthur never wore a helmet, but was always in the thick of battle. Here, he is directing the first U. S. paratroop operation in the South Pacific. The year is 1943.

Just after the first in a series of major operations in March, General MacArthur posed with President Johnson in the general's suite in Walter Reed hospital.

Overcame by Egoism

Mac Arthur's Glamorous Record Ended in Disaster

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—General of the Army Douglas MacArthur had brains, character, fabulous courage, grace, and a special quality which some men have had from antiquity. Anthropologists call it mana.

It means extraordinary magnetism and power to impress. Mixed with it was egoism. And this produced his personal disaster when he let the egoism collide with his judgment in disobeying the President.

It was a humiliating end to one of the most glamorous military records in American history, 52 years of service, longer than the combined military service of George Washington, Ulysses S. Grant and Andrew Jackson.

His battles in three wars were like a catalogue of encounters from the Iliad: The Marne, Meuse-Argonne, St. Mihiel, Sedan; Bataan, Corregidor, New Guinea, Leyte, Lingayen Gulf, Borneo, Luzon; Pusan, Inchon, Yalu River.

If he wore his decorations, which ranged down from the Medal of Honor, he would have been as resplendent as Achilles' shield. But he didn't wear them. This, one writer said, was part of his ostentation.

John Gunther, impressed by the "immense force of his character," quotes an officer as saying MacArthur was the only man in the world "who could walk into a room full of drunks and all would be sober in five minutes."

Aloof as Mikado

MacArthur was dramatic—arrogant, his critics said—and in his years of heading the occupation forces in Japan he stood as aloof as a mikado. But he had a glistening sense of history, including his own, and no wonder.

He traced his ancestry back to Scotland's clan MacArthur which, he said in Life magazine, finds a place in the "heroic lore of King Arthur and his knights of the round table."

One entranced biographer even made him an eighth cousin of Sir Winston Churchill, a sixth cousin of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and a descendant of Charlemagne.

King Arthur of the myth slew monsters with names like Twrch Trwyth. MacArthur's monsters were Russians, Red Chinese, and those in Washington he thought were conspiring to frustrate and undercut him.

The clan MacArthur and its pride came down through his father, Lt. Gen. Arthur MacArthur, who in the Civil War at Missionary Ridge won the Medal of Honor and became colonel of his regiment by the time he was 20.

Son of General

So from childhood soldiers were respectful to Douglas MacArthur, son of a general. Remembering this, one admiring officer who served under MacArthur in the Pacific in World War II said:

"If MacArthur never had the common touch, it's because he was never a common man himself. He was being called 'sir' from the time he was 3."

He became a symbol, the phoenix of the American spirit rising from the ashes of calamity when the Japanese drove him out of the Philippines and he said "I shall return," and did.

He was 70 when the Korean war began June 25, 1950. Victory would have been the soaring finish to the military symphony of his life. But the music soured, victory eluded him, and in seeking it he made mistakes of judgment.

First, he had an optimistic misunderstanding of the enemy, perhaps because he wished so hard to win.

He thought all he had to do was whip the North Koreans, that the war would be over by Christmas, that the Chinese would not come in. He was wrong on all counts.

Egoism Overcomes Him

Then his egoism overcame him. He pitted himself against President Harry S. Truman who had ordered him not to assert publicly his ideas on how to win the war. MacArthur didn't listen, didn't obey.

His ideas differed from Truman's. He wanted, among other things, to bomb the Chinese bases in Manchuria. Truman and his advisers feared this might mean World War III, with the Soviet Union coming in on China's side.

Truman considered MacArthur insubordinate and his statements injurious to the conduct of the war and relations with allies. Thus it became a contest between a general and his commander-in-chief, the president.

MacArthur lost, was fired. This time there was no return. Even in the legend the phoenix came out of the ashes only once.

General a Living Legend Even Before World War II

History May Count MacArthur's Occupation Stewardship as His Most Brilliant Victory

EDITOR'S NOTE — Associated Press writer Relman Morin, winner of two Pulitzer Prizes, has written a four-part series on the life and career of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur. The articles deal with MacArthur's career in the Army, with MacArthur the man, with his controversial leadership during the Korean conflict and with scenes of bravery from his life. Here is the first: MacArthur's Army career.

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Writer

"Peace hath its victories no less renowned than war."

Toward 1:30 in the afternoon, people began to gather on the sidewalk. They clustered on both sides of the steps leading to the main entrance of the Dai Ichi Insurance Co. building in downtown Tokyo.

MacArthur Their Man

Presently, a tall man hurried through the high-lintelled entrance. He walked with long, swinging strides. He returned the salutes of the two giant American sentries — always specially chosen for stature — and went down the steps, two at a time, to a waiting limousine.

You heard a murmur, "Mah-kah-sah."

The people were Japanese and they pronounced the man's name in Japanese fashion, "Mah-kah-sah."

A man lifted a little girl to his shoulder so that she could see over the crowd. Some bowed. There were instances when very old-fashioned Japanese would kneel, touching their foreheads on the sidewalk in the "ko-tow," the traditional Oriental act of obeisance.

They had come to see Gen. Douglas MacArthur. This was in September 1945.

This was during the years of the American military occupation of Japan. MacArthur, directing it, worked seven days a week and not infrequently seven nights a week. He kept more or less regular office hours. The Tokyo people became aware of his schedule. Thus, through more than five years, the odd little tableau on the sidewalk repeated itself every day.

Ordinary curiosity no doubt prompted it in part.

Greatest General: Briton

Here was the conqueror. Here was the man who had destroyed a mystic belief, held for nearly 2,000 years, that Japan was invincible in war. And here was the supreme authority in Japan, Zeus Olympias in the uniform of the United States Army.

At the time, MacArthur's gigantic image rested largely on his record as a soldier.

"MacArthur was the greatest general and best strategist that the war produced. He certainly outshone Marshall, Eisenhower and all other American and British generals including Montgomery.

The estimate comes from Field Marshal Lord Alanbrooke, wartime chief of the British Imperial General Staff, a man not given to lavishing praise on other commanders.

Even before World War II, however, MacArthur had become almost a living legend. He broke records, right and left.

Average Never Topped

There was the story that, on entering West Point, he announced two objectives—to finish at the head of his class, and to end his military career as chief of staff.

In accomplishing the first, he racked up a 98.14 percent average for four years in all subjects. It was never surpassed.

Later, he fulfilled the second objective. But his career did not end there.

There was the story that he also broke a nonscholastic record at the academy. Allegedly, MacArthur became engaged to eight girls at the same time. The previous mark had been seven.

There were innumerable stories of his personal courage, his reckless exposure to fire in the 84th Infantry Brigade of the Rainbow Division in World War I, and an associate said, "MacArthur is certain to go far in the Army if he doesn't get himself killed."

Youngest WP Superintendent

At 39, he was the youngest officer ever appointed superintendent of the Military Academy.

At 45, when he received his second star, he was the youngest major general in the Army.

He was only 50 when, true to his alleged prediction, he became chief of staff.

Five years later, when his military career presumably ended with retirement from this high office, he was summoned to the Philippines to organize the armed forces there. President Manuel Quezon gave him the rank of field marshal.

So, years before Pearl Harbor, MacArthur's reputation was larger than life size.

But it was, essentially, the reputation of a soldier.

As director of the occupation of Japan, starting in the fall of 1945, he confronted a wholly different problem. It was more complex, more difficult, and potentially more dangerous than any of the military assignments he ever tackled.

Task of Great Magnitude

And it may well be that, in assaying MacArthur's prodigious accomplishments, historians will count his stewardship of the occupation as the most brilliant of all his victories.

Consider the magnitude of the task.

The war left Japan physically battered. Thousands of homes had been destroyed. Hundreds of factories were out of action. Railroads and highways had been macerated and coastwise shipping all but paralyzed. Dislocated water and sanitation systems raised the spectre of epidemics in the cities.

These were physical problems that had to be swiftly resolved.

Even more delicate were the many-sided political and social problems.

For 50 years, Japan had been leading a kind of schizophrenic existence — half-feudal, half-modern. Parliamentary forms, borrowed from the West, had been grafted, but not successfully, on political traditions from the Middle Ages.

The Diet had been merely a debating society. Elections had been all but meaningless. Real power, owing to a curleycue in the constitution, was vested in the hands of the armed forces.

What kind of a constitution should now be written, what was to be the status of the emperor? How, in short, could Japan be transformed into at least a nominally democratic society?

Before the war, authoritarianism had spread a heavy hand over other areas of Japanese life as well.

Long Established Patterns

Giant cartels, the "Zaibatsu," controlled most of the industry and commerce. Labor unions had been a joke. In agriculture, only about 10 per cent of the farmers owned their own land; the majority worked as tenants.

How to change these long-established patterns?

The stakes were great. Japan is the most highly industrialized nation in the Far East. Potentially, it is a military powerhouse, the counterbalance to Communist China.

When the occupation ended, would it remain aligned with the West? Or would it drift into the Communist orbit? Much depended on MacArthur's decisions during the occupation. Military genius and training, alone, would not meet this great challenge.

Fortunately, MacArthur knew the history, the traditions, the psychology and the spirit of the efficient and enigmatic Japanese. When he was 24, he had gone to Japan with his father, Gen. Arthur MacArthur. During the Russo-Japanese war, he marched as an observer with Count Maresuki Nogi's troops in the bloody battle of Mukden. He had studied the Japanese in war and peace all his life.

He brought this background and understanding to bear on the delicate tasks of the occupation.

For one thing, he did not govern by fiat. A military man might be expected to simply issue iron-clad orders and demand that they be carried out at all cost. To have done this in Japan would only have aroused hostility and invisible but bitter resistance — much to

Memories of an Old Soldier . . .

He was always the dashing leader. In 1919, MacArthur returned from World War I a decorated hero, brigade commander of the famed Rainbow Division and a brigadier general.

This is MacArthur as the world remembers him. The photograph was taken in the South Pacific in 1945. The general designed his famous "scrambled egg" cap.

1880—Born Jan. 26, at Little Rock, Ark., Army barracks.

1903—Graduated from West Point with highest academic average.

1914—Accompanied U. S. expedition which seized Vera Cruz, Mexico.

1918—Wounded and gassed in France and promoted to brigadier general by Pershing.

1930—Appointed Army chief of staff, youngest in history. Routed bonus marchers from Washington in 1932.

1935—Loaned to the Philippines by Roosevelt to organize military defenses there.

1941—Recalled to active duty as major general and given a Pacific command; after Pearl Harbor he withdrew to Bataan.

1942—Evacuated Bataan in March with wife, son and staff officers, declaring, "I shall return."

1945—Named commander of all U. S. Army forces in the Pacific; received surrender of Japan on Aug. 14 and named by Truman to command occupation forces.

1951—Commanded campaign against North Koreans when they crossed the 38th parallel dividing Korea.

1951—Removed from command by President Truman. Returned to the United States to defend his position before Congress.

As the Army's youngest chief of staff in 1932, General MacArthur was assigned by President Hoover the distasteful job of evicting the bonus marchers from Washington.

MacArthur never wore a helmet, but was always in the thick of battle. Here, he is directing the first U. S. paratroop operation in the South Pacific. The year is 1943.

Just after the first in a series of major operations in March, General MacArthur posed with President Johnson in the general's suite in Walter Reed hospital.

Overcame by Egoism

Mac Arthur's Glamorous Record Ended in Disaster

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—General of the Army Douglas MacArthur had brains, character, fabulous courage, grace, and a special quality which some men have had from antiquity. Anthropologists call it mana.

It means extraordinary magnetism and power to impress. Mixed with it was egoism. And this produced his personal disaster when he let the egoism collide with his judgment in disobeying the President.

It was a humiliating end to one of the most glamorous military records in American history, 52 years of service, longer than the combined military service of George Washington, Ulysses S. Grant and Andrew Jackson.

His battles in three wars were like a catalogue of encounters from the Iliad: The Marne, Meuse-Argonne, St. Mihiel, Sedan; Bataan, Corregidor, New Guinea, Leyte, Lingayen Gulf, Borneo, Luzon; Pusan, Inchon, Yalu River.

If he wore his decorations, which ranged down from the Medal of Honor, he would have been as resplendent as Achilles' shield. But he didn't wear them. This, one writer said, was part of his ostentation.

John Gunther, impressed by the "immense force of his character," quotes an officer as saying MacArthur was the only man in the world "who could walk into a room full of drunks and all would be sober in five minutes."

Aloof as Mikado

MacArthur was dramatic—arrogant, his critics said—and in his years of heading the occupation forces in Japan he stood as aloof as a mikado. But he had a glistening sense of history, including his own, and no wonder.

He traced his ancestry back to Scotland's clan MacArthur which, he said in Life magazine, finds a place in the "heroic lore of King Arthur and his knights of the round table."

One entranced biographer even made him an eighth cousin of Sir Winston Churchill, a sixth cousin of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and a descendant of Charlemagne.

King Arthur of the myth slew monsters with names like Twrch Trwyth. MacArthur's monsters were Russians, Red Chinese, and those in Washington he thought were conspiring to frustrate and undercut him.

The clan MacArthur and its pride came down through his father, Lt. Gen. Arthur MacArthur, who in the Civil War at Missionary Ridge won the Medal of Honor and became colonel of his regiment by the time he was 20.

Son of General

So from childhood soldiers were respectful to Douglas MacArthur, son of a general. Remembering this, one admiring officer who served under MacArthur in the Pacific in World War II said:

"If MacArthur never had the common touch, it's because he was never a common man himself. He was being called 'sir' from the time he was 3."

He became a symbol, the phoenix of the American spirit rising from the ashes of calamity when the Japanese drove him out of the Philippines and he said "I shall return," and did.

He was 70 when the Korean war began June 25, 1950. Victory would have been the soaring finish to the military symphony of his life. But the music soured, victory eluded him, and in seeking it he made mistakes of judgment.

First, he had an optimistic misunderstanding of the enemy, perhaps because he wished so hard to win.

He thought all he had to do was whip the North Koreans, that the war would be over by Christmas, that the Chinese would not come in. He was wrong on all counts.

Egoism Overcomes Him

Then his egoism overcame him. He pitted himself against President Harry S. Truman who had ordered him not to assert publicly his ideas on how to win the war. MacArthur didn't listen, didn't obey.

His ideas differed from Truman's. He wanted, among other things, to bomb the Chinese bases in Manchuria. Truman and his advisers feared this might mean World War III, with the Soviet Union coming in on China's side.

Truman considered MacArthur insubordinate and his statements injurious to the conduct of the war and relations with allies. Thus it became a contest between a general and his commander-in-chief, the president.

MacArthur lost, was fired. This time there was no return. Even in the legend the phoenix came out of the ashes only once.

General a Living Legend Even Before World War II

History May Count MacArthur's Occupation Stewardship as His Most Brilliant Victory

EDITOR'S NOTE — Associated Press writer Relman Morin, winner of two Pulitzer Prizes, has written a four-part series on the life and career of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur. The articles deal with MacArthur's career in the Army, with MacArthur the man, with his controversial leadership during the Korean conflict and with scenes of bravery from his life. Here is the first: MacArthur's Army career.

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Writer

"Peace hath its victories no less renowned than war."

Toward 1:30 in the afternoon, people began to gather on the sidewalk. They clustered on both sides of the steps leading to the main entrance of the Dai Ichi Insurance Co. building in downtown Tokyo.

New Paltz Couple Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary at Family Dinner

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES E. RHINEHART

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Rhinehart of 16 Grove Street, New Paltz, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, March 15. Mrs. Clyde Roosa, Mrs. John Branche and Bert Rhinehart, children of the couple, were hosts at the family dinner attended by 80 relatives. The dinner was given in the VFW Hall at 1 p. m.

Guests came from Ohio, New Jersey, Connecticut, Albany, Kingston and Poughkeepsie, as well as from New Paltz and surrounding communities.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhinehart renewed their marriage vows in a special ceremony. Officiating was the Rev. George Van Emburg, pastor of the Gardiner Reformed Church. Mrs. Sarah Sears of Akron, Ohio, sister of Mrs. Rhinehart, was the attendant, just as she was 50 years ago. Lanson Rhinehart, brother of Mr. Rhinehart, was the other attendant and Lee Rhinehart, a grandson, played a trumpet solo accompanied by Merrill Small at the piano.

Open house was held from 3-5 p. m. at which time refreshments were served and Mr. and Mrs. Rhinehart received approximately 100 friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhinehart have three children, Marie Roosa of Lyonsville, Gladys Brancho of Albany and Bert Rhinehart of New Paltz. They also have four grandchildren, Wanda Roosa, Ronald Roosa, Lee Rhinehart and Jay Rhinehart.

Kathleen Soper, Wallace Fulford Exchange Vows in Rosendale Reformed Church

On March 28 at 2 p. m. in the Rosendale Reformed Church, marriage vows were taken by Miss Kathleen Soper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Soper of Long Beach, L. I., and Wallace W. Fulford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Fulford of High Falls. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Sylvester Van Oort.

White gladioli decorated the church for the occasion and Paul Whitten was soloist.

The bride was given by her father. She wore a gown of silk mist and lace over bridal taffeta. It was fashioned with a high scalloped neckline, long tapered sleeves and a molded empire bodice. The bell skirt was floor length and had a chapel train. The bodice and skirt were appliqued with lace medallions and sequins. Her veil of imported silk illusion was caught to a stylized headpiece of satin leaves edged in tiny seed pearls and Swedish cut crystals. She carried a cascade of white pompons.

Mrs. Vernon Boughton of Kingston was matron of honor. She wore a cocktail length gown of blue taffeta with scooped neckline, fitted bodice, three quarter length sleeves and a bouffant skirt. The gown also featured a watteau train. A matching crown of blue taffeta held a flirtation veil and Mrs. Boughton carried a cascade of white and pink pompons.

Mrs. Bernard Carney of High Falls and Miss Susan Soper of Long Beach, L. I., sister of the bride, were the attendants. They also wore gowns of blue taffeta and carried nosegays of white and pink pompons.

Bernard Carney of High Falls was best man and Vernon Boughton of Kingston and Dixon McGrath of Stone Ridge were the ushers.

A reception was given at Skytop Restaurant.

Mrs. Fulford was graduated from Kingston High School and Mildred Elley Secretarial School in Albany. She is employed by the New York State Employment Service. Mr. Fulford, an alumnus of Kingston High School, is employed by Hennehe Engineering Company in Stone Ridge.

When Mr. and Mrs. Fulford return from their trip to Virginia, they will reside at 83 Meadow Court, High Falls, New York.

INTRODUCING BOY FRIEND TO GUESTS AT A PARTY

Q: I took a young man with me to a party at the house of a friend. It was the first time the hostess had met him. As other guests arrived, I introduced him to them as I was well acquainted with the new arrivals. I was told that I should have let the hostess do the "honors" and that I belittled her by not letting her introduce him. Was I wrong?

A: You were right. In fact, unless your hostess is very adept at hearing and remembering new names, it is quite likely that you saved her from the awkwardness of those lame introductions in which the stranger is given no name but "you."

Second Helping at Buffet Party

Q: When invited to a buffet supper, may a guest go back to the table a second time and fill his plate with food? My husband contends that he may. I say that to take more is hoggish. I would like your opinion.

A: As long as there is plenty of food on the table, there is nothing hoggish in a guest's returning to it for a second helping. Quite to the contrary, the appreciation it shows of his hostess's food is a compliment to her.

Ending Telephone Conversation

Q: Is it true that when a girl and man talk to each other on the telephone she is expected to say good-bye first?

A: Ordinarily, yes. It is rather rude for a man to be the one to say good-bye unless, of course, he is at his office when it would be excusable for him to explain, "Sorry, but there is someone on the other telephone," or "Sorry, someone is coming in with whom I have an appointment." But if he is at home, it is difficult for him to do anything but listen at the other end until she has finished.

MRS. JOHN F. WHITAKER

Dolores E. Carroll, John F. Whitaker Exchange Marriage Vows at St. Joseph's

Miss Dolores Elizabeth Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Carroll of 68 Franklin Street, this city, exchanged marriage vows with John Francis Whitaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Whitaker of 218 Greenkill Avenue, this city, on Saturday, April 4.

The nuptial mass took place in St. Joseph's Church in Kingston with the Rev. James V. Keating officiating. The couple received the Papal Blessing.

Robert Gallo was soloist for the occasion and Mrs. Frank Rafferty played the organ.

Mr. Carroll gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of peau de soie in modified sheath fashion styled with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a circlet neckline. The sheath front skirt was floor length and featured a back fullness with a chapel length circular train. The bodice and skirt were enhanced with hand clipped motifs of Alencon lace. The triple tiered silk illusion veil was shirred to a coronet of seed pearls and insets of Alencon lace. The bride carried a mother-of-pearl bridal missal covered with gardenias with stephanotis and ivy streamers.

Miss Mary Jane McSpirit, cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of shanastik in aqua and the bodice had a sweetheart neckline with three quarter length sleeves trimmed with a bow. The skirt was a modified bell that fell into a full back ending with a bow at the back of the waistline. The headpiece was a bow of the same material attached to a circular illusion veil. She carried a crescent bouquet of pink rubrum lilies and feathered pink carnations.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Maureen Morris, Agatha Snyder and Collette McMcullough, all of Kingston. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the honor attendant and they carried crescent bouquets of pink rubrum lilies.

Richard Whitaker, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Nicholas Reis of Kingston, cousin of the bride; Thomas Oulton of Kingston, another cousin; and Daniel Michaels of Troy.

A reception was given at the Skytop Restaurant. Afterwards the couple left on a wedding trip. The bride wore a blue silk dress with white coat and matching accessories for traveling.

Mrs. Whitaker is a graduate of the Academy of St. Ursula and the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing. She is on the staff of the Benedictine.

The bridegroom is an alumnus of St. Patrick's Academy, Catskill and Broome Technical College, Binghamton, N. Y., and is now with the New York State Highway Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitaker will make their home in Kingston.

Fred Snyder Is On Dean's List at Georgetown Univ.

Frederick E. Snyder, son of Mrs. Agatha Snyder of 67 Maiden Lane, Kingston, and the late John Snyder, has merited enrollment on the academic Dean's List of Georgetown College of Arts and Sciences in Washington, D. C.

A sophomore at Georgetown, he is an AB history major in the Honors Program, a member of the International Relations Club, of his class council, and is News Editor of THE HOYA, the weekly undergraduate newspaper. In this capacity, he is in charge of a staff of 60 and the coverage of events both on the University Campus and elsewhere.

Pole or tree lamps, so popular today, are more suitable for decorative purposes than for task-lighting, Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration, agent, points out in the following article:

The adjustable lamps on the pole can be swiveled to offer attractive lighting for pictures, plantings, and decorative objects. For comfort and low-level illumination in a room, reflectors may be swiveled away from the direct line of vision. Pleasant indirect lighting can be achieved by aiming reflectors toward the ceiling.

Some of the new bullet lamps are of translucent materials that let light through, and thus add to the general lighting of the room.

Pole lamps may supplement other lighting for casual reading, but they are seldom satisfactory for prolonged reading or study because they frequently result in strong spots of light as well as glare in someone's eyes.

In selecting a pole lamp, look for one which has shades that are a minimum of 6 inches in diameter. This permits using a higher wattage bulb and assures more potential light than if the shade is smaller.

Choose a lamp in which the shades are ventilated so they will not heat up readily and will last longer. Look, too, for a lamp which has louvers or shields for the bulbs as this cuts down on glare.

The lamp needs to be of good quality if the swivel is to stay in the desired position whenever it is adjusted.

Kingston Auxiliary Planning Two Card Parties for Apr. 28

Mrs. George C. Rifenbary, chairman of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary's annual card party, recently entertained her committee at a luncheon meeting at her home on Flower Hill.

The committee decided to hold two card parties on the same day. The date selected is Tuesday, April 28 in the Nurses' Residence. The first party on that day will be held at 1 p. m., with the second to be held at 8 p. m. on the same day. This innovation is being introduced for the greater convenience of those wishing to attend. Both afternoon and evening affairs will have similar desserts and awards.

Democratic Women Report Activities; Hear Albany Man

The Ulster County Democratic Women's Club met recently in the Governor Clinton Hotel. Conducting the meeting was Mrs. Donald Quick, president.

Mrs. Jacob Myers reported on the sunshine committee and Mrs. Loughran, chairman of membership, announced her committee members. They are the Mmes. Helen Barry, Daniel Fochi, Lincoln Crosby, Alice Greene and Freda Martens. Membership drive was conducted during March and will continue through April.

A report on the fashion show, which is slated for April 21 at the Wiltwyck Country Club, was given by the general chairman, Mrs. Joseph McConnell.

The membership voted to donate in the club's name an award to two high schools. The award will be given to students with the highest averages in citizenship or history. Selection of the winners will be made by the respective schools.

Arrangements will be completed by Mrs. Crosby and Mrs. Clifford Sinsabaugh.

A report on the Good and Welfare Committee was given by Mrs. Charles Cole who read a list of articles needed at the Ulster County TB Hospital and Ulster County Infirmary.

The president also reported on the recent conference held in Albany. Accompanying her as delegate to the conference was Mrs. Aaron Klein.

The evening concluded with a lecture on birth defects and the programs instituted to foster research and aid in this direction. Guest speaker was Dr. William A. Petersen, director of the Birth Defects Center at Albany Medical Center. He is a native of Kingston and son of Mrs. William H. Petersen of 105 Clinton Avenue.

MR. AND MRS. WALLACE W. FULFORD

Kathleen Soper, Wallace Fulford Exchange Vows in Rosendale Reformed Church

On March 28 at 2 p. m. in the Rosendale Reformed Church, marriage vows were taken by Miss Kathleen Soper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Soper of Long Beach, L. I., and Wallace W. Fulford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Fulford of High Falls. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Sylvester Van Oort.

White gladioli decorated the church for the occasion and Paul Whitten was soloist.

The bride was given by her father. She wore a gown of silk mist and lace over bridal taffeta. It was fashioned with a high scalloped neckline, long tapered sleeves and a molded empire bodice. The bell skirt was floor length and had a chapel train. The bodice and skirt were appliqued with lace medallions and sequins. Her veil of imported silk illusion was caught to a stylized headpiece of satin leaves edged in tiny seed pearls and Swedish cut crystals. She carried a cascade of white pompons.

Mrs. Vernon Boughton of Kingston was matron of honor. She wore a cocktail length gown of blue taffeta with scooped neckline, fitted bodice, three quarter length sleeves and a bouffant skirt. The gown also featured a watteau train. A matching crown of blue taffeta held a flirtation veil and Mrs. Boughton carried a cascade of white and pink pompons.

Mrs. Bernard Carney of High Falls and Miss Susan Soper of Long Beach, L. I., sister of the bride, were the attendants. They also wore gowns of blue taffeta and carried nosegays of white and pink pompons.

Bernard Carney of High Falls was best man and Vernon Boughton of Kingston and Dixon McGrath of Stone Ridge were the ushers.

A reception was given at Skytop Restaurant.

Mrs. Fulford was graduated from Kingston High School and Mildred Elley Secretarial School in Albany. She is employed by the New York State Employment Service. Mr. Fulford, an alumnus of Kingston High School, is employed by Hennehe Engineering Company in Stone Ridge.

When Mr. and Mrs. Fulford return from their trip to Virginia, they will reside at 83 Meadow Court, High Falls, New York.

INTRODUCING BOY FRIEND TO GUESTS AT A PARTY

Q: I took a young man with me to a party at the house of a friend. It was the first time the hostess had met him. As other guests arrived, I introduced him to them as I was well acquainted with the new arrivals. I was told that I should have let the hostess do the "honors" and that I belittled her by not letting her introduce him. Was I wrong?

A: You were right. In fact, unless your hostess is very adept at hearing and remembering new names, it is quite likely that you saved her from the awkwardness of those lame introductions in which the stranger is given no name but "you."

Second Helping at Buffet Party

Q: When invited to a buffet supper, may a guest go back to the table a second time and fill his plate with food? My husband contends that he may. I say that to take more is hoggish. I would like your opinion.

A: As long as there is plenty of food on the table, there is nothing hoggish in a guest's returning to it for a second helping. Quite to the contrary, the appreciation it shows of his hostess's food is a compliment to her.

Ending Telephone Conversation

Q: Is it true that when a girl and man talk to each other on the telephone she is expected to say good-bye first?

A: Ordinarily, yes. It is rather rude for a man to be the one to say good-bye unless, of course, he is at his office when it would be excusable for him to explain, "Sorry, but there is someone on the other telephone," or "Sorry, someone is coming in with whom I have an appointment." But if he is at home, it is difficult for him to do anything but listen at the other end until she has finished.

Dolores E. Carroll, John F. Whitaker Exchange Marriage Vows at St. Joseph's

Miss Dolores Elizabeth Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Carroll of 68 Franklin Street, this city, exchanged marriage vows with John Francis Whitaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Whitaker of 218 Greenkill Avenue, this city, on Saturday, April 4.

The nuptial mass took place in St. Joseph's Church in Kingston with the Rev. James V. Keating officiating. The couple received the Papal Blessing.

Robert Gallo was soloist for the occasion and Mrs. Frank Rafferty played the organ.

Mr. Carroll gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of peau de soie in modified sheath fashion styled with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a circlet neckline. The sheath front skirt was floor length and featured a back fullness with a chapel length circular train. The bodice and skirt were enhanced with hand clipped motifs of Alencon lace. The triple tiered silk illusion veil was shirred to a coronet of seed pearls and insets of Alencon lace. The bride carried a mother-of-pearl bridal missal covered with gardenias with stephanotis and ivy streamers.

Miss Mary Jane McSpirit, cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of shanastik in aqua and the bodice had a sweetheart neckline with three quarter length sleeves trimmed with a bow. The skirt was a modified bell that fell into a full back ending with a bow at the back of the waistline. The headpiece was a bow of the same material attached to a circular illusion veil. She carried a crescent bouquet of pink rubrum lilies and feathered pink carnations.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Maureen Morris, Agatha Snyder and Collette McMcullough, all of Kingston. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the honor attendant and they carried crescent bouquets of pink rubrum lilies.

Richard Whitaker, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Nicholas Reis of Kingston, cousin of the bride; Thomas Oulton of Kingston, another cousin; and Daniel Michaels of Troy.

A reception was given at the Skytop Restaurant. Afterwards the couple left on a wedding trip. The bride wore a blue silk dress with white coat and matching accessories for traveling.

Mrs. Whitaker is a graduate of the Academy of St. Ursula and the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing. She is on the staff of the Benedictine.

The bridegroom is an alumnus of St. Patrick's Academy, Catskill and Broome Technical College, Binghamton, N. Y., and is now with the New York State Highway Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitaker will make their home in Kingston.

Fred Snyder Is On Dean's List at Georgetown Univ.

Frederick E. Snyder, son of Mrs. Agatha Snyder of 67 Maiden Lane, Kingston, and the late John Snyder, has merited enrollment on the academic Dean's List of Georgetown College of Arts and Sciences in Washington, D. C.

A sophomore at Georgetown, he is an AB history major in the Honors Program, a member of the International Relations Club, of his class council, and is News Editor of THE HOYA, the weekly undergraduate newspaper. In this capacity, he is in charge of a staff of 60 and the coverage of events both on the University Campus and elsewhere.

A preacher at a camp meeting was preaching on Joshua ordering the sun to stand still. My hearers, he said, there are three motions of the sun; the first is the straight-forward motion of the sun, the second is the retrograde or backward motion, and the third is the motion mentioned in the text—the sun stood still. Now, gentlemen, I do not know whether you see the application of that story to after-dinner oratory. I hope you do. The after-dinner orator at first begins and goes straight forward —that is the straight-forward motion of the sun; next he goes back and begins to repeat himself a little that is the retrograde or backward motion of the sun; and at last he has the good sense to bring himself to an end, and that is the motion mentioned in our next text of the sun standing still.

Raid Cock Fight, Arrest 32 Men, Confiscate Birds

MIDDLEBURG, N.Y. (AP)—Two men face charges today and 30 others already have paid fines totaling $310 after State Police raided a barn and broke up a cock fight six miles south of this Schoharie County village.

Justice of the Peace Robert Bohringer, of the Town of Fulton, who accompanied the troopers, arraigned 31 men on charges of witnessing the outlawed bird fights. Twenty nine pleaded guilty and were fined $10.

Burr Keyser of Middleburg pleaded guilty to a charge of keeping a place for animal fights and was fined $20, State Police said.

Police said they "crashed the party" Saturday just as a pair of the fighting cocks were being placed in the pit.

Forty-one fighting cocks, including 15 dead birds, were confiscated. Eleven sets of spurs, the knife-like weapons attached to the roosters' feet, also were found, police said.

The two men who pleaded innocent were freed on $20 bail pending a hearing today.

Cold Fugitive Didn't Mind Being Caught

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — An off-duty Missouri highway patrolman, returning home to Columbia from Jefferson City Saturday night in his private car, saw a cold, wet man standing on U.S. 63.

The patrolman, George Grazier, usually doesn't pick up hitchhikers, but this one looked so miserable he broke the rule.

A short time later Grazier realized his passenger was wearing prison clothes, and arrested him.

The fugitive, Delbert Cornett, 20, said he escaped from a prison farm near Jefferson City about 1 p.m., but was so cold by the time Grazier picked him up he didn't mind being caught.

Seward's Home Town Collecting for Alaska

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP) — A drive to raise money for residents of earthquake - battered Seward, Alaska is under way in this Upstate home of William H. Seward, the secretary of state who negotiated the purchase of Alaska in 1867.

Auburn postmaster Thomas H. Brogan is the head of the Seward Relief Fund. The honorary chairman is Mrs. William H. Seward III, widow of Seward's great-grandson, and a resident of Auburn.

The drive opened Saturday.

Seward, a native of Florida, N.Y., was governor of New York from 1938 to 1842. He was secretary of state under Presidents Abraham Lincoln and Andrew Johnson.

Couldn't Control Jet

TOKYO (AP) — A U.S. Marine pilot whose jet interceptor crashed into a Japanese town and killed four persons said today he ejected from the plane because he could no longer control it.

Capt. R. L. Bown of Seattle, Wash., said his F8U "went into an uncontrolled flight and pitched nose down."

"Since I was below recovery altitude and I had no control of the craft, I ejected," Bown said.

U.S. officials were investigating the cause of the crash Sunday.

Capital News In Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

CUBA McGeorge Bundy, President Johnson's special security affairs adviser, said Sunday the United States would continue surveillance flights over Cuba even if Soviet antiaircraft missiles were turned over to Cuban crews.

"We will find it essential to the peace of the hemisphere to maintain surveillance and anyone who interferes will create a very grave danger," Bundy said on the ABC radio-television interview program "Issues and Answers."

There have been reports that about May 1 the Soviet Union would put their antiaircraft missiles on the island under Cuban control.

HELP: President Johnson has wired Gov. William Egan of Alaska that he has released $5 million in federal disaster relief funds for the earthquake-stricken state.

Johnson also told the governor Saturday that additional federal money will be allocated later.

Johnson plans to ask Congress for $50 million in emergency funds for Alaska.

JOSTLING: During the Alaskan earthquake a number of air defense missiles containing nuclear warheads were dislodged from their launchers at Ft. Richardson, an Army base near Anchorage, a Pentagon spokesman said Saturday.

However, there was no fire, no explosion and no radioactive contamination, the spokesman said. He said that certain other nuclear weapons being stored at Kodiak Island were submerged in sea water due to the tidal wave.

The missiles and warheads at Ft. Richardson were replaced, the Defense Department said, and the weapons at Kodiak "may also require replacement after inspection is completed."

Choir Loses Billfolds And $190 as They Sing

SAUSALITO, Calif. (AP) — Fifteen women members of the Westminster College choir of Salt Lake City, Utah, lost their billfolds and $190 Sunday as they sang in Sausalito's First Presbyterian Church.

The women left their purses in Rev. David Jacobsen's house, where they changed clothes before their guest appearance in this church.

Mrs. Jacobsen said she saw a man in the church choir room during the service and she invited him in. He declined, but accepted her offer of food and a newspaper to read in the Jacobsen's house.

When the choir members returned to the house the man, 13 wallets and the cash were gone.

Saved From Pool

SALAMANCA, N.Y. (AP)—Diviona Smith, 9, was pulled unconscious Sunday from the swimming pool at Salamanca Central School and revived successfully.

She was reported in satisfactory condition. Authorities said they did not know how long Diviona, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Smith of Salamanca, had been unconscious in the nine-foot depth of the pool before she was rescued.

$150,000 Fire

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A fire that erupted in a kitchen grease duct destroyed a restaurant in suburban Kenmore and caused an estimated $150,000 damage.

Several firemen suffered minor injuries battling the flames Saturday at the Hour Glass restaurant.

No one was injured.

Owner Andrew L. Bazelia estimated the damage.

Fire Destroys Camp

Fire destroyed a frame summer camp owned by the Gillian family at Sholam Sunday. Napanoch Fire Co. in command of Chief Donald Brown responded to a call at about 10:30 a. m. and on arrival found the building engulfed in flames.

Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, 84, whose 52-year Army career spanned three wars, died Sunday at Walter Reed Army hospital where he had undergone three major operations since March 6. Army doctors said cause of death was acute renal and liver failure. He was born in Little Rock, Ark.

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP) — Verne E. Joy, 87, editor and publisher of the Centralia Evening Sentinel since 1906, died Sunday of a heart attack. Joy, a former president of the Inland Daily Press Association, was born in Carmi, Ill.

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Kofi Antubam, 41, Ghanaian artist who had exhibited paintings, murals and sculptures in London and the United States, died Saturday.

ROSS-ON-WYE, England (AP) —Alfred Leo Duggan, 61, historical novelist, died Saturday. Duggan made his name with his first novel, "Knight With Armor," a story of the crusades, published in 1950.

Mail Sorters Strike

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Sydney has been a city of no letters since Thursday and it looks like it will stay that way for some days.

No mail is going out of the city of more than 2 million people and nothing is being distributed.

The holdup is caused by a strike of 2,700 mail sorters protesting new schedules calling for more night work.

the satisfaction of the Japanese Communists.

Operated Subtly

MacArthur operated more subtly. He used a mixture of argument, persuasion, cajolment and threats to get what he wanted. He stayed behind the scenes as much as possible.

In addition, he consciously played a role.

Respect for authority is one of the deepest well-springs in Japanese character. For centuries, the smallest local lords, let alone the great shoguns and clan leaders, had commanded almost blind obedience from their retainers.

So MacArthur deliberately assumed the visage of an overlord, a grand seigneur, of the all-powerful proconsul. He became in Japanese eyes a kind of imperial figure.

Somewhat raffishly, American newspapermen in Tokyo called MacArthur's headquarters "The Palace" and referred to him as "The Presence."

His detractors often accused him of theatricalism, of overweening vanity and egotism, of playing to the gallery. In Japan, there was a sound reason for the public image he created. He became the needed symbol of authority.

Methods Produced Results

Swiftly, MacArthur's methods produced results.

As early as 1945, the first general election was held. Women voted for the first time and elected women to the Diet. Reforms in the constitution were effected. A civil liberties decree went in the books.

Meanwhile, MacArthur was modifying the "Zaibatsu" structure. He worked to establish a valid and healthy labor union movement. As his program of land reform took shape, the tenant-farmer all but disappeared in agriculture.

"Peace hath its victories no less renowned than war."

The occupation was MacArthur's greatest task. It may well be regarded as the greatest of all his achievements.

Next: MacArthur the man.

Raid Cock Fight, Arrest 32 Men, Confiscate Birds

MIDDLEBURG, N.Y. (AP)—Two men face charges today and 30 others already have paid fines totaling $310 after State Police raided a barn and broke up a cock fight six miles south of this Schoharie County village.

Justice of the Peace Robert Bohringer, of the Town of Fulton, who accompanied the troopers, arraigned 31 men on charges of witnessing the outlawed bird fights. Twenty nine pleaded guilty and were fined $10.

Burr Keyser of Middleburg pleaded guilty to a charge of keeping a place for animal fights and was fined $20, State Police said.

Police said they "crashed the party" Saturday just as a pair of the fighting cocks were being placed in the pit.

Forty-one fighting cocks, including 15 dead birds, were confiscated. Eleven sets of spurs, the knife-like weapons attached to the roosters' feet, also were found, police said.

The two men who pleaded innocent were freed on $20 bail pending a hearing today.

Cold Fugitive Didn't Mind Being Caught

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — An off-duty Missouri highway patrolman, returning home to Columbia from Jefferson City Saturday night in his private car, saw a cold, wet man standing on U.S. 63.

The patrolman, George Grazier, usually doesn't pick up hitchhikers, but this one looked so miserable he broke the rule.

A short time later Grazier realized his passenger was wearing prison clothes, and arrested him.

The fugitive, Delbert Cornett, 20, said he escaped from a prison farm near Jefferson City about 1 p.m., but was so cold by the time Grazier picked him up he didn't mind being caught.

Seward's Home Town Collecting for Alaska

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP) — A drive to raise money for residents of earthquake - battered Seward, Alaska is under way in this Upstate home of William H. Seward, the secretary of state who negotiated the purchase of Alaska in 1867.

Auburn postmaster Thomas H. Brogan is the head of the Seward Relief Fund. The honorary chairman is Mrs. William H. Seward III, widow of Seward's great-grandson, and a resident of Auburn.

The drive opened Saturday.

Seward, a native of Florida, N.Y., was governor of New York from 1938 to 1842. He was secretary of state under Presidents Abraham Lincoln and Andrew Johnson.

Couldn't Control Jet

TOKYO (AP) — A U.S. Marine pilot whose jet interceptor crashed into a Japanese town and killed four persons said today he ejected from the plane because he could no longer control it.

Capt. R. L. Bown of Seattle, Wash., said his F8U "went into an uncontrolled flight and pitched nose down."

"Since I was below recovery altitude and I had no control of the craft, I ejected," Bown said.

U.S. officials were investigating the cause of the crash Sunday.

Capital News In Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

CUBA McGeorge Bundy, President Johnson's special security affairs adviser, said Sunday the United States would continue surveillance flights over Cuba even if Soviet antiaircraft missiles were turned over to Cuban crews.

"We will find it essential to the peace of the hemisphere to maintain surveillance and anyone who interferes will create a very grave danger," Bundy said on the ABC radio-television interview program "Issues and Answers."

There have been reports that about May 1 the Soviet Union would put their antiaircraft missiles on the island under Cuban control.

HELP: President Johnson has wired Gov. William Egan of Alaska that he has released $5 million in federal disaster relief funds for the earthquake-stricken state.

Johnson also told the governor Saturday that additional federal money will be allocated later.

Johnson plans to ask Congress for $50 million in emergency funds for Alaska.

Tackle Shop Stops Rhinebeck, 77-60, For Rec Cage Title

Klonowski, Boice Pace Winners to Playoff Victory

Showing superiority right from the start, Ray's Tackle Shop clinched another Rec Basketball league championship with an easy, 77-60, win over Rhinebeck last night at the Municipal Auditorium.

Joe Klonowski scored nine of the first 11 points for his club and the Tackle Shop was never extended. The teams had finished the regular season in a deadlock for first place.

Rhinebeck clung to a 17-14 lead at the first quarter stop but the rest of the game belonged to the champions. Ray's moved in front, 38-30, after two periods and 54-46 going into the final stanza.

Hold Miller to 10

Klonowski and Chick Boice had 21 points each for the winners. Marty Kaye chipped in with 15 and Bob Bondar had a dozen. Joe Milinaro led Rhinebeck with 19 points and Wayne Moul added 15. Ron Miller, who averaged 24 points a game during the season, was held to 10.

The decision gave the Tackle Shop another sweep of city basketball honors. Previously, Ward Dunham's boys won the YMCA title.

Cepeda's Bat Remains Hot in SF 4-2 Triumph

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Orlando Cepeda wasn't a holdout this year, which may cause National League pitchers to wish they had been.

Cepeda, San Francisco's controversial slugger, is ripping his way through the best spring he has had in his seven-year career.

He smashed his sixth home run Sunday in the Giants' 5-2 exhibition baseball victory over Boston. He has a .419 batting average, three doubles and four triples to go along with the homers.

A major factor in Cepeda's exploding spring play very easily could be the lack of a contract battle with the Giants' front office. He signed for $53,000 and started training when everyone else did.

That was entirely different from last season when he held out for 24 days before signing for a token raise to an estimated $47,000.

He proceeded to hit .316, clout 34 homers and knock in 97 runs, a performance still well below his 1961 output when he batted .311, hit 46 homers and drove in 142 tallies.

The Giants lost to Los Angeles 10-7 last Wednesday, but Cepeda smashed a home run, a double and two singles. In a 5-3 triumph over Cleveland last Friday, he slugged two homers and a single, good for four runs batted in.

Two for Bailey

Elsewhere around the exhibition circuit, Bob Bailey hit two home runs and Jim Pagliaroni got a three-run blast, but Cincinnati stopped Pittsburgh 8-5 behind John Edwards' three doubles and a single.

Milwaukee swept past Washington 5-3 in 11 innings while Detroit nipped Philadelphia 3-2 in 10. St. Louis edged the New York Mets 2-1, the New York Yankees rallied for a 6-4 triumph against Houston and the Chicago Cubs came from behind for an 8-6 victory over Cleveland.

Minnesota defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-1, and Baltimore whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-1.

Scholz Captures European Title

DORTMUND, Germany (AP) Sonny Liston, who lost his heavyweight title sitting on a stool, could take some lessons from Gustav (Bubi) Scholz, who won the European light heavyweight crown in much the same manner.

Scholz was declared the winner in Saturday night's bout when Giulio Rinaldi was disqualified for a series of fouls which left the German virtually helpless after the eight round.

"When Scholz was unable to go on fighting," the referee said, "I had to disqualify Rinaldi."

The new champion, who had to be helped from the arena, was unhappy with his victory. "It's too bad it ended this way. I'm convinced I could have won the fight in a regular manner, too," Scholz said.

Scholz was hit first by a kidney punch and then by a knee in the eighth round and limped out to answer the bell for the ninth. That's when the referee stopped the fight.

Deer Forum Set For This Saturday

Region Eight of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of New York will hold a deer forum on Saturday at the Holiday Inn, Route 17K, Newburgh. Region Eight consists of the counties of Dutchess, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan, Ulster and Westchester.

Conservation officials from the Albany office will be on hand with results of the deer kill for the past season. The controversial deer permit system will be of prime interest at the forum.

Registration will begin at 9 a. m. and the program will be concluded at 5:30 p. m.

Because of the central location, it is hoped that attendance will be high.

Lorenzen Wins Stock Race for Third Place

ATLANTA (AP)—A decision to let others set the early, record-making pace paid off for Fred Lorenzen, the Elmhurst, Ill., Ford driver who captured his third straight Atlanta 500 stock car race.

Lorenzen set an Atlanta International Raceway record when he won the pole position by qualifying at a four-lap average of 146.470. He pushed his 1964 Ford to a record 134.25 miles per hour average Sunday in winning the NASCAR sanctioned race before an estimated 60,000 fans.

Lorenzen's first prize money was $15,150.

There was little competition during the last 150 miles as Lorenzen held a two-lap advantage for most of that distance over second place finisher Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N.C. in a Dodge. Isaac won $7,750.

Iba Satisfied With Cage Picks

NEW YORK (AP)—There are many basketball coaches around who'd love a chance to pick at the leftovers now that the 1964 Olympic basketball squad had been selected.

But Hank Iba, who'll coach the U.S. entry at Tokyo in October, has no complaints with the 12-man squad and seven alternates chosen after three days of trials at St. John's University.

"I got what I wanted," said Iba, the Oklahoma State coach who has achieved 700 collegiate victories.

What he got was two All-Americas heading a power-packed team which includes three members of the Goodyear Wingfoots, National AAU champions.

Walt Hazzard of UCLA and Bill Bradley of Princeton were the All-Americas chosen. The selection committee picked Pete McCaffrey, Larry Brown and Dic Davies from the Wingfoots.

Rounding out the squad were Jim Barnes of Texas Western, Joe Caldwell of Arizona State, Mel Counts of Oregon State, Lucious Jackson of Pan American College, Jeff Mullins of Duke, Jerry Shipp of the Phillips 66ers and George Wilson of the Jamaco Saints.

Picked as alternates who'll stand by to replace the top 12, were Gail Goodrich of UCLA, Bunk Adams of the U.S. Army, Fred Hetzel of Davidson, Willie Murrell of Kansas State, Cotton Nash of Kentucky, Reggie Minton of the U.S. Air Force and Dave Stallworth of Wichita.

Tackle Shop to Play Pine Plains In Cage Tourney

Ray's Tackle Shop runs smack into the powerful Pine Plains Bombardiers tonight in the semi-finals of the Hudson Valley Basketball tournament at the Poughkeepsie YMCA court.

The clubs will collide at 8:30 after Schatz-Federal meets defending champion Curren Lincoln-Mercury in the 7:15 opener. Winners will advance to the finals on Wednesday while the losers will meet the same night for third place.

The locals have their work cut out for them. They not only have to stop Nick Werkman, the all-time record breaker from Seton Hall, but several other outstanding performers as well.

Pine Plains gained the semi-final round by walloping Stony Point, 118-82. Ray's squeezed by Pat's Restaurant of Newburgh, 84-80.

Elmira Woman Paces All-Events

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Daisy Waight of Elmira moved into an unofficial first place in all-events in weekend competition at the New York State tournament here.

She rolled a 540 team triple, 602 doubles series and 559 single for a 1701 pinfall to lead all-events Sunday.

Her team, Waights supply, ranked 12th in Class A team events and she failed to place in the top five of doubles and singles events.

Maries of Johnson City moved into first place in the Class A team event with 2597, while the bowling five of Utica led Class B teams with 2396.

Buffalo Bowlers' Mary McClure, 580, Edna Mae Johnson, 578, and June Gentner, 574, dominated the top three places in Class A singles.

Francis Mooney of New York, who bowled earlier in the tournament, held her 579 lead in the Class B singles.

Connie Gawrys and Dorothy Taczak of Lockport rolled 1113 for top spot in Class A doubles and Barbara Wilson and Della Hudson of Nanuet continued to hold first place in Class B doubles with 1042.

The tournament will continue weekends through May 24.

Men's Tourney Retain Leaders

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — There were no changes in first place leaders at the end of weekend competition in the 39th annual New York Men's Bowling Tournament.

Little Harlem of Buffalo, however, moved into second place Sunday in handicap and scratch team events. The team had a 3166 handicap and 2938 scratch.

Mike Reidy of Elmira held to his first place scratch singles position with 729, while Andy Peiraino of Syracuse moved into second place with a 702 singles scratch. Both men bowl without a handicap. Al Goldberg of Lockport continued his 740 handicap singles lead.

Bob Moulter and Al Biggio of Elmira continued domination of doubles events, with a 1423 handicap and 1369 scratch.

The tournament will continue weekends through June 14.

Hawks Decision Detroit, 3-2, Take Cup Lead

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—No one will ever convince the Detroit Red Wings that a game-tying goal in their 3-2 Stanley Cup semifinal playoff loss to Chicago Sunday night was a bonafide score.

The goal, credited to Kenny Wharram, came at 5:25 of the final period, only 13 seconds after the Red Wings had taken a 2-1 lead on Andre Pronovost's goal and some 10 minutes before Stan Mikita clinched the victory with a 25-footer past goalie Roger Crozier.

The victory gave the Hawks a 3-2 lead in their best-of-seven series.

When Wharram scored the disputed goal, goal judge Grant Easson of Toronto did not signal the red light for several seconds. When the light did go on, referee Frank Udvari conferred with Easson.

Udvari then huddled with linesmen Ron Wicks and Matt Pavelich before again talking to Easson. Meanwhile, the crowd of 16,585 was getting impatient. Suddenly, Udvari signalled in favor of the Hawks and the Red Wings needed a few seconds before climbing all over Udvari.

Crozier, filling in for injured Terry Sawchuk, insisted that "Wharram put it in after Udvari had blown the whistle."

Both the Hawks and Montreal now are in position to end their semifinal series Tuesday night. Montreal took a 3-2 lead over Toronto with a 4-2 triumph Saturday night.

Hogan-Russell Bridge Winners

Mrs. Robert Hogan and Mrs. C. Russell Edwards, Kingston, posted a fine 64 per cent game to win first place in the Kingston Duplicate Bridge Club tournament at the Glenerie Studios, 271 Fair Street.

Second place went to Mrs. Chester VanGaasbeek and Mrs. Ernest LeFevre, Hurley, with a 55½ per cent game. Third was won by Miss Dorothy Maroon and Mrs. Irving Adner, Kingston, with a 53 per cent game. Dr. John Olivet and Irving H. (Laddie) Wheatcroft of Kingston posted a 50 per cent game for fourth high honors.

The club will hold its monthly master point game on Wednesday of this week.

Course in Bridge Slated This Month

A six week course in contract bridge will be held in Saugerties, beginning Thursday, April 23, at the VFW Hall on Livingston Street. Classes will be held from 8 to 10 p. m. on consecutive Thursdays.

Enrollment may be made by contacting Charles A. Rice prior to April 20. Any couple or single with no or limited experience are welcome.

The course will feature the basics of modern bidding and play technique. There will be approximately twenty minutes of homework assigned each week in conjunction with the class work.

Students will have an opportunity to test their progress in actual play throughout the course. A book on modern bidding will be included with the course.

Somebody actually stole one.

We were tickled pink to hear that somebody wanted a Volkswagen Station Wagon badly enough to go out and steal one.

It wasn't so long ago that we practically couldn't give them away.

So when Martin Carlson reported his loss to the police, we took it as a triumph.

In its own way, the VW Station Wagon is one of the world's best getaway cars.

You can escape north or south of the border. (The VW engine can't freeze up or boil over because it's cooled by air.)

You can go farther in a VW than in any police car (24 mpg is our average).

You have 21 windows to spot anyone who's tailing you.

And it carries more loot (1632 lbs.) than the biggest wagon you can steal.

Sadly, the whole theory blew apart when Mr. Carlson found his VW abandoned in the very spot he had left it.

Maybe everyone isn't ready for it, after all.

Tackle Shop Stops Rhinebeck, 77-60, For Rec Cage Title

Klonowski, Boice Pace Winners to Playoff Victory

Showing superiority right from the start, Ray's Tackle Shop clinched another Rec Basketball league championship with an easy, 77-60, win over Rhinebeck last night at the Municipal Auditorium.

Joe Klonowski scored nine of the first 11 points for his club and the Tackle Shop was never extended. The teams had finished the regular season in a deadlock for first place.

Rhinebeck clung to a 17-14 lead at the first quarter stop but the rest of the game belonged to the champions. Ray's moved in front, 38-30, after two periods and 54-46 going into the final stanza.

Hold Miller to 10

Klonowski and Chick Boice had 21 points each for the winners. Marty Kaye chipped in with 15 and Bob Bondar had a dozen. Joe Milinaro led Rhinebeck with 19 points and Wayne Moul added 15. Ron Miller, who averaged 24 points a game during the season, was held to 10.

The decision gave the Tackle Shop another sweep of city basketball honors. Previously, Ward Dunham's boys won the YMCA title.

Cepeda's Bat Remains Hot in SF 4-2 Triumph

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Orlando Cepeda wasn't a holdout this year, which may cause National League pitchers to wish they had been.

Cepeda, San Francisco's controversial slugger, is ripping his way through the best spring he has had in his seven-year career.

He smashed his sixth home run Sunday in the Giants' 5-2 exhibition baseball victory over Boston. He has a .419 batting average, three doubles and four triples to go along with the homers.

A major factor in Cepeda's exploding spring play very easily could be the lack of a contract battle with the Giants' front office. He signed for $53,000 and started training when everyone else did.

That was entirely different from last season when he held out for 24 days before signing for a token raise to an estimated $47,000.

He proceeded to hit .316, clout 34 homers and knock in 97 runs, a performance still well below his 1961 output when he batted .311, hit 46 homers and drove in 142 tallies.

The Giants lost to Los Angeles 10-7 last Wednesday, but Cepeda smashed a home run, a double and two singles. In a 5-3 triumph over Cleveland last Friday, he slugged two homers and a single, good for four runs batted in.

Two for Bailey

Elsewhere around the exhibition circuit, Bob Bailey hit two home runs and Jim Pagliaroni got a three-run blast, but Cincinnati stopped Pittsburgh 8-5 behind John Edwards' three doubles and a single.

Milwaukee swept past Washington 5-3 in 11 innings while Detroit nipped Philadelphia 3-2 in 10. St. Louis edged the New York Mets 2-1, the New York Yankees rallied for a 6-4 triumph against Houston and the Chicago Cubs came from behind for an 8-6 victory over Cleveland.

Minnesota defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-1, and Baltimore whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-1.

Scholz Captures European Title

DORTMUND, Germany (AP) Sonny Liston, who lost his heavyweight title sitting on a stool, could take some lessons from Gustav (Bubi) Scholz, who won the European light heavyweight crown in much the same manner.

Scholz was declared the winner in Saturday night's bout when Giulio Rinaldi was disqualified for a series of fouls which left the German virtually helpless after the eight round.

"When Scholz was unable to go on fighting," the referee said, "I had to disqualify Rinaldi."

The new champion, who had to be helped from the arena, was unhappy with his victory. "It's too bad it ended this way. I'm convinced I could have won the fight in a regular manner, too," Scholz said.

Scholz was hit first by a kidney punch and then by a knee in the eighth round and limped out to answer the bell for the ninth. That's when the referee stopped the fight.

Deer Forum Set For This Saturday

Region Eight of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of New York will hold a deer forum on Saturday at the Holiday Inn, Route 17K, Newburgh. Region Eight consists of the counties of Dutchess, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan, Ulster and Westchester.

Conservation officials from the Albany office will be on hand with results of the deer kill for the past season. The controversial deer permit system will be of prime interest at the forum.

Registration will begin at 9 a. m. and the program will be concluded at 5:30 p. m.

Because of the central location, it is hoped that attendance will be high.

Sport Club Booters Win 48th Straight League Game, 8-1

Celts Rap Royals for 3rd Time

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oscar Robertson has regained his scoring touch and Jerry Lucas is rebounding again but the magic is gone and so, it appears, are the Cincinnati Royals.

The Boston Celtics, shooting for a sixth straight National Basketball Association championship, trimmed the Royals 102-92 Sunday night and need one more victory for an unprecedented four-game sweep of the Eastern Division final playoff series.

In the Western Division finals, the St. Louis Hawks shrugged off a 46-point effort by San Francisco's Wilt Chamberlain and edged the Warriors 113-109 for a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven set.

Gets 34 Points

Robertson broke out of a "slump" to score 34 points and Lucas, despite an ailing back, grabbed 24 rebounds. But the Royals shot only 33 per cent from the field and Boston broke the game open before halftime.

Bill Russell led a second-quarter rally that left Cincinnati 18 points behind at intermission. The Royals missed 40 of 51 shots in the first half. Russell finished with 22 points and 28 rebounds.

A goaltending call against Chamberlain, who scored San Francisco's last five points, and two free throws eac' by Bob Pettit and Richie Guerin in the closing minutes kept St. Louis ahead of the fast-closing Warriors.

Charlie Vaughn came off the St. Louis bench and contributed several key baskets.

Pettit topped a balanced attack with 26 points. Vaughn and Beatty had 22 each and Guerin added 19.

The fourth games in the two series will be played at Cincinnati Tuesday and St. Louis Wednesday.

Millbrook Pupil Rockne Winner

JEFFREY B. CUNNINGHAM

Jeffrey B. Cunningham, a senior at Millbrook Central School, has been awarded the 1964 Knute Rockne award of the Notre Dame Club of the Mid-Hudson Valley.

The award is given to a high school boy from the four county area of Dutchess, Putnam, Orange and Ulster counties who best combines scholastic and academic achievement and commemorates the former Notre Dame coach.

Cunningham is valedictorian of his class, is the recipient of a New York State Regents Scholarship and has earned four varsity letters in baskketball and baseball and three in football. He was co-captain of the football and basketball teams this year.

Cunningham will receive his award tonight, at a dinner of the Notre Dame club, scheduled at the Treasure Chest in Poughkeepsie. The presentation will be made by Edward W. (Moose) Krause, athletic director at the South Bend school.

The 1963 winner was Sid Osofsky of Pine Plains Central school.

Mary Lena Faulk St. Pete Winner

ST. PETERSBURGH, Fla. (AP)—Mary Lena Faulk, winner of the $10,000 St. Petersburg Women's Open Golf championship, says things are looking up after a victory drought of nearly two years.

"It's a good way to start the new year," she said Sunday after picking up $1,500 first prize money for her three-stroke victory over 37 professionals and 123 amateurs.

Miss Faulk, of Thomasville, Ga., tied for seventh two weeks ago in the Western Women's Open at Pensacola, the opening event of the 1964 Ladies Professional Golfers Association tour.

Her second St. Petersburg title—she won the event in 1957—came on rounds of 74-71-70-74 for a 72-hole total of 289, five over men's par.

Second place was shared by Clifford Ann Creed and Betsy Rawls. Both finished with 292 and collected $1,085 each.

President Johnson To Attend Inaugural

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Johnson will keep tradition and attend the opening game of the American League baseball season April 13 and toss out the first ball.

Through the years this has been a standard presidential procedure, with misses occasionally.

The Washington Senators will play the Los Angeles Angels in the District of Columbia Stadium April 13.

Option Player

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Dave Johnson, a rookie second baseman, was optioned to Baltimore's Rochester farm team in the International League Monday, paring the Oriole roster to one man above the opening-day limit.

The 22-year-old Johnson hit .326 for Elmira in the Eastern League and .246 for Rochester last season.

Locals Have Easy Contest Against Utica S of I Team

It's a new season but the same old story for Central New York Soccer Assn. foes of the Kingston Sport Club.

The defending champions extended their winning streak to 48 games with an easy, 8-1, win over the Utica Sons of Italy under sunny skies Sunday at Oehler's Mt. Lodge field.

Coach Bob Graves' booters were in superlative shape as they completely outplayed the visitors. The lone Utica goal came in the final minute of the game and by that time it was way too late.

Carlo Bustamente started the Sport Club to the win by scoring at the 24 minute mark. Peter Fuchsen tallied a minute later and Bustamente added two more, one at the 30 minute mark and another at the 32 minute mark.

Al DiBella, Bill Newershinsky, Fuchsen and Alex Dirks (2) finished the scoring for the winners. The Utica goal came as the result of a penalty shot.

Harry Baquai of the Sport Club suffered a broken leg and Peter Fuchs injured his knee during the game. They are expected to be out for several weeks.

Next week, the locals journey to Utica for a game with the Internationals.

Many of the Sport Club players will travel to New York on May 17 to play an all-star team of the Central New York league against the Long Island league. This will be the preliminary game on Randalls Island with Hamburg of Germany facing German American league all-star team in the feature.

Those interested in going to the contest can make arrangements by calling the club.

Sport Club lineup:

Boros Wins Title in Playoff

By KEN ALYTA
Associated Press Sports Writer

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — Julius Boros generated a hot 66 in a 45-degree temerature to catch Doug Sanders and then went on to beat him in a one-hole playoff in winning the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament Sunday. It was a sharp final competitive tuneup for the Masters Championship.

Last year when Jack Nicklaus won at Augusta, Boros finished third, two shots off the pace.

The 44-year-old U.S. Open champion said "I'm putting much better than last year, although I'm not playing as well otherwise as I did at Augusta. With my improved putting and this win behind me, maybe I can go down there with greater confidence."

Nicklaus, who defends the Masters title starting Thursday, began the final round here with a three-shot edge over his nearest rivals and was five in front of Boros.

Nicklaus Falters

But Nicklaus shot a double bogey 5 on the third hole and struggled the rest of the way. He finished two over par with 73 for 279 and fourth place.

Another Masters favorite, Arnold Palmer, ended in a tie for 13th place with 286. He shot par 71 for his final trip over the Club course.

Boros accepted the $6,600 top prize money with the notation, "We have five children down in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and can use it." He won an additional $400 for the low score of the final round.

Tournament sponsors boosted the prize money an additional $10,000 Saturday night after three days of record crowds.

Boros, with rounds of 68-70-73-66 for a 277 total, was seven under par. Sanders shot 277 in 73-70-66-68. He won $3,800 in defense of the title he won last spring.

Elect Palladino Head Of Harness Writers

ED PALLADINO

Ed Palladino, a member of the Freeman sports staff since October, 1958, and a charter member of the Monticello chapter, U. S. Harness Writers Assn., was elected president of that organization at its annual meeting Saturday at the Concord Hotel, Kiamesha Lake.

Palladino succeeds Allen J. Finkelson of Monticello Raceway. Finkelson was elected to the dual post of secretary-treasurer. Dick Raskin, news director of Station WGNY in Newburgh was elected vice-president.

A native of Poughkeepsie, Palladino graduated from schools in that city. He is a veteran of the U. S. Marine Corps, having served for three years. He spent 13 months in Korea and was discharged with the rank of Sergeant.

Before coming to Kingston, the new president was employed on the staff of the Poughkeepsie Journal and Middletown T-H Record. He is the Monticello Raceway handicapper for the Freeman.

Palladino previously served as secretary for two years and vice president for two years before being elected as the president of the writers group.

In addition to his association with the Harness Writers, he is a member of the DUSO Sportswriters' and Broadcasters' Assn., a member of the Football Writers Assn. of America, a member and former secretary of the Kingston Newspaper Guild, secretary of the Kingston Umpires Assn., first chairman of the Dutchess County Young Democratic Club, a member and former secretary of the Mt. Carmel (Poughkeepsie) Holy Name Society and former commander of the Mt. Carmel Catholic War Veterans.

Sport Club Booters Win 48th Straight League Game, 8-1

Celts Rap Royals for 3rd Time

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oscar Robertson has regained his scoring touch and Jerry Lucas is rebounding again but the magic is gone and so, it appears, are the Cincinnati Royals.

The Boston Celtics, shooting for a sixth straight National Basketball Association championship, trimmed the Royals 102-92 Sunday night and need one more victory for an unprecedented four-game sweep of the Eastern Division final playoff series.

In the Western Division finals, the St. Louis Hawks shrugged off a 46-point effort by San Francisco's Wilt Chamberlain and edged the Warriors 113-109 for a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven set.

Gets 34 Points

Robertson broke out of a "slump" to score 34 points and Lucas, despite an ailing back, grabbed 24 rebounds. But the Royals shot only 33 per cent from the field and Boston broke the game open before halftime.

Bill Russell led a second-quarter rally that left Cincinnati 18 points behind at intermission. The Royals missed 40 of 51 shots in the first half. Russell finished with 22 points and 28 rebounds.

A goaltending call against Chamberlain, who scored San Francisco's last five points, and two free throws eac' by Bob Pettit and Richie Guerin in the closing minutes kept St. Louis ahead of the fast-closing Warriors.

Charlie Vaughn came off the St. Louis bench and contributed several key baskets.

Pettit topped a balanced attack with 26 points. Vaughn and Beatty had 22 each and Guerin added 19.

The fourth games in the two series will be played at Cincinnati Tuesday and St. Louis Wednesday.

Port Ewen Methodist Wins 1st Round Title

Port Ewen Methodist scored early and went on to beat Fair Street Reformed, 73-55, to capture the first round championship of the Senior Protestant Church Basketball league.

Led by 6-1 Jim Maynard, the winners were the superior team all the way at the YMCA gym. Maynard scored 24 points, many of them from underneath the hoop. He also plucked off his share of the rebounds.

By winning the first round, Port Ewen qualifies for the chance to meet the second round winner on Saturday, April 18, for the circuit title. The Junior league will oppose an all-star team in a reliminary the same night.

Woodstock Boy Hurt While Wrestling

An 11-year-old Woodstock boy was injured Saturday while wrestling with his brother in the back yard of their home on Ohayo Mountain.

Thomas J. Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Telford Graham, 99 Broadview Road, Ohayo Mountain, was treated at his home by a physician and later removed to Benedictine Hospital by Doctors ambulance.

Thomas suffered strained muscles. At first it was feared he received injuries of the collarbone and leg, but today his mother told a Freeman reporter, the boy was X-rayed and no fractures were found.

Mrs. Graham said Thomas and his brother, Rogan, 15, were wrestling in the yard and the younger boy toppled down an embankment. The injured boy was discharged from the hospital and returned to his home.

Jim Taylor Signs With Green Bay Team

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Fullback Jim Taylor signed his seventh National Football League contract with the Green Bay Packers today. Taylor, the Packers No. 2 draft choice in 1958 after he starred for Louisiana State, led the NFL in rushing in 1962, and was runner-up to Cleveland's Jimmy Brown last season.

Ideal Park

NEW YORK (NEA) — Bill Veeck, the Peck's Bad Boy of big league baseball, has popped up with his idea of the perfect park.

It would have platforms like conveyor belts to take customers to and from their cars, automatic ticket and hog dog vendors, foam-cushioned seats and a retractable transparent dome.

And, a typical Veeck gesture, a platform for fireworks displays.

Guard Mount

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. (NEA) —Twenty-five wild turkeys on the White Sands Missile Range near here are well protected. Military authorities will guard the birds from predators and feed them. The turkeys were released in the Oscura Mountains to re-establish the game bird on the 4,000-square-mile reservation. There were no turkeys there prior to the release.

Kingston Teams Lead RVW

Bill Lawrence fired a 620 series and Charlie's Rocket Car Wash shot a 3290 gross series to take an early lead in the 6th annual Rip Van Winkle league tournament, being held the next five weekends at the Bowlerama.

Oehler's Mt. Lodge moved in front in both net and gross in the women's division with a 2400 net and 2928 gross score.

The men's net leader after the first weekend is Irving Albright Fuel Oil Co. of Coxsackie with a 2905 score. This doesn't figure to stay on top.

Lawrence stroked 211, 218 and 191 for his series. Ed Esposito wasn't far behind with 618 while Charlie Tiano rapped a 588 series.

The Car Wash hit gross scores of 1162, 1056 and 1072 in a bid for the $1,500 first prize.

Beverly Sleight shot 164, 209 and 195 for 568 to pace the Oehler Mt. team. The locals hit 924, 990 and 1014 in taking over the top spot.

Guy Vizze of Coxsackie has high single and triple, 244-621. Beverly Sleight's single and triple are the leaders in the women's division.

Forst Shutout In Mid-Hudson

Forst Formost, a near certain winner only three weeks ago, continued its slide downward in the Mid Hudson Major league by losing three games to first place Modern Vending Friday at the Campi-Tarsio Lanes.

In another local match, Sangi's Bowlero won a game from Tompkins and Baxter Insurance and lost two more by a total of six pins.

Jake Charter blistered the wood for a 671 triple and Jack and John Ferraro also had 600s but the locals couldn't match the defending champions. Lou Campi rolled 657, Clarence Youngberg and Bill Tarsio 619s and Bob DeLaney 608.

Pat Tarsio scored 617 and Greg Voci 605 for Tompkins and Baxter while Vince Carpino rolled 615 and Dick Howard 606 for Sangi's.

Modern Vending has a 1½ game margin over runnerup Tompkins and Baxter while Forst is still in contention, only three games from the top.

Meeting on Buses

Residents of the Sawkill and Zena Road sections of the Town of Kingston, interested in bus transportation facilities from those areas to the City of Kingston, are urged to attend a meeting tonight of the Town of Kingston Board.

Councilman John Kloepping said he has information about possible bus facilities between Sawkill and Kingston, which he will present at the session scheduled for 8 p. m. at the Town of Kingston Hall.

Bobcat Caught

A 27-pound, three-foot long bobcat was caught Saturday in a trap set by Lynn King, assistant gamekeeper at the Clove Valley Road and Gun Club in Dutchess County, for a marauding raccoon.

King, who said a bobcat is a much more uncommon animal than a raccoon in this area, said the bobcat was trapped near the pheasant pens on the gun club property. Deaths of five of the club's pheasants, other birds and a pet sheep had been reported recently.

Blamed for Assault

Alexander Miller, 59, of 21 Ann Street, was arrested Saturday evening at Port Ewen on a bench warrant charging second and third degree assault. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriffs John Daly and Ernest Longyear and Officers Thomas Coffey and Curtis Van Demark of the Kingston Police Department.

RedHookBuilding Destroyed by Fire

A two-story building occupied by a grocery store, delicatessen, restaurant and an apartment at 108 South Broadway, Red Hook, was destroyed by fire Sunday night, despite the efforts of volunteer fire companies from nearby districts.

Joseph McNulty, a partner of the J. and H. McNulty Co., operators of the store and other establishments involved in the fire, said the blaze originated near a stove in the kitchen of the restaurant.

"The fire spread rapidly and swept through the entire building," McNulty told a Freeman reporter. "The fire burned as though gasoline was being poured on it instead of water."

McNulty said the building and business establishments it housed, was a total loss. No estimate of the damage was available. McNulty also stated that occupants of an apartment over the stores escaped unharmed.

Fire companies from Red Hook, Rhinebeck, Tivoli and other nearby districts responded to Mutual Aid calls. The property is owned by the J. J. & A. Colburn Inc., which operates a service station and trailer park nearby.

While fire apparatus was at the scene, Rhinebeck state troopers assisted local police in rerouting traffic from Route 9 through a cold storage plant parking area. No injures were reported.

"The firemen did a wonderful job," McNulty commented.

Wins $77,767

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex. (AP) —Walter McNally, a Los Angeles food broker, won $77,767 on a pool ticket at the Caliente horse race track Sunday.

His was the only ticket with all six winners in the fifth through 10th races. The ticket cost $2.

Declines Comment

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Ed Lopat, manager of the Kansas City Athletics, declined to comment Sunday on the announcement by owner Charles O. Finley that the right field fence in Kansas City will be shortened to the dimensions of the fence in Yankee Stadium.

Three Persons Injured In Two-Car Collision

Three persons were injured Saturday afternoon in a two-car collision which occured on the Glasco Turnpike, Town of Woodstock according to state police.

Victor L. Wood, 47, of Walden, operator of one vehicle was taken to Kingston Hospital. He suffered a fractured pelvis, broken jaw, and multiple lacerations, according to troopers at the Kingston sub-station.

The other car was driven by Frederick C. Shader, 27, of Woodstock. Two passengers, Gary Shader, two, and Carl Shader, three, were treated for facial lacerations.

Troopers reported the collision occured on a curve. It was reported that Shader was charged with failing to keep to the right. Trooper Craig Bremer investigated.

Charged After Accident

Port Ewen Methodist Wins 1st Round Title

Port Ewen Methodist scored early and went on to beat Fair Street Reformed, 73-55, to capture the first round championship of the Senior Protestant Church Basketball league.

Led by 6-1 Jim Maynard, the winners were the superior team all the way at the YMCA gym. Maynard scored 24 points, many of them from underneath the hoop. He also plucked off his share of the rebounds.

By winning the first round, Port Ewen qualifies for the chance to meet the second round winner on Saturday, April 18, for the circuit title. The Junior league will oppose an all-star team in a reliminary the same night.

Woodstock Boy Hurt While Wrestling

An 11-year-old Woodstock boy was injured Saturday while wrestling with his brother in the back yard of their home on Ohayo Mountain.

Thomas J. Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Telford Graham, 99 Broadview Road, Ohayo Mountain, was treated at his home by a physician and later removed to Benedictine Hospital by Doctors ambulance.

Thomas suffered strained muscles. At first it was feared he received injuries of the collarbone and leg, but today his mother told a Freeman reporter, the boy was X-rayed and no fractures were found.

Mrs. Graham said Thomas and his brother, Rogan, 15, were wrestling in the yard and the younger boy toppled down an embankment. The injured boy was discharged from the hospital and returned to his home.

Jim Taylor Signs With Green Bay Team

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Fullback Jim Taylor signed his seventh National Football League contract with the Green Bay Packers today. Taylor, the Packers No. 2 draft choice in 1958 after he starred for Louisiana State, led the NFL in rushing in 1962, and was runner-up to Cleveland's Jimmy Brown last season.

Ideal Park

NEW YORK (NEA) — Bill Veeck, the Peck's Bad Boy of big league baseball, has popped up with his idea of the perfect park.

It would have platforms like conveyor belts to take customers to and from their cars, automatic ticket and hog dog vendors, foam-cushioned seats and a retractable transparent dome.

And, a typical Veeck gesture, a platform for fireworks displays.

Guard Mount

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. (NEA) —Twenty-five wild turkeys on the White Sands Missile Range near here are well protected. Military authorities will guard the birds from predators and feed them. The turkeys were released in the Oscura Mountains to re-establish the game bird on the 4,000-square-mile reservation. There were no turkeys there prior to the release.

BOWLING

Kingston Teams Lead RVW

Bill Lawrence fired a 620 series and Charlie's Rocket Car Wash shot a 3290 gross series to take an early lead in the 6th annual Rip Van Winkle league tournament, being held the next five weekends at the Bowlerama.

Oehler's Mt. Lodge moved in front in both net and gross in the women's division with a 2400 net and 2928 gross score.

The men's net leader after the first weekend is Irving Albright Fuel Oil Co. of Coxsackie with a 2905 score. This doesn't figure to stay on top.

Lawrence stroked 211, 218 and 191 for his series. Ed Esposito wasn't far behind with 618 while Charlie Tiano rapped a 588 series.

The Car Wash hit gross scores of 1162, 1056 and 1072 in a bid for the $1,500 first prize.

Beverly Sleight shot 164, 209 and 195 for 568 to pace the Oehler Mt. team. The locals hit 924, 990 and 1014 in taking over the top spot.

Guy Vizze of Coxsackie has high single and triple, 244-621. Beverly Sleight's single and triple are the leaders in the women's division.

Forst Shutout In Mid-Hudson

Forst Formost, a near certain winner only three weeks ago, continued its slide downward in the Mid Hudson Major league by losing three games to first place Modern Vending Friday at the Campi-Tarsio Lanes.

In another local match, Sangi's Bowlero won a game from Tompkins and Baxter Insurance and lost two more by a total of six pins.

Jake Charter blistered the wood for a 671 triple and Jack and John Ferraro also had 600s but the locals couldn't match the defending champions. Lou Campi rolled 657, Clarence Youngberg and Bill Tarsio 619s and Bob DeLaney 608.

Pat Tarsio scored 617 and Greg Voci 605 for Tompkins and Baxter while Vince Carpino rolled 615 and Dick Howard 606 for Sangi's.

Modern Vending has a 1½ game margin over runnerup Tompkins and Baxter while Forst is still in contention, only three games from the top.

Meeting on Buses

Residents of the Sawkill and Zena Road sections of the Town of Kingston, interested in bus transportation facilities from those areas to the City of Kingston, are urged to attend a meeting tonight of the Town of Kingston Board.

Councilman John Kloepping said he has information about possible bus facilities between Sawkill and Kingston, which he will present at the session scheduled for 8 p. m. at the Town of Kingston Hall.

Bobcat Caught

A 27-pound, three-foot long bobcat was caught Saturday in a trap set by Lynn King, assistant gamekeeper at the Clove Valley Road and Gun Club in Dutchess County, for a marauding raccoon.

King, who said a bobcat is a much more uncommon animal than a raccoon in this area, said the bobcat was trapped near the pheasant pens on the gun club property. Deaths of five of the club's pheasants, other birds and a pet sheep had been reported recently.

Blamed for Assault

Alexander Miller, 59, of 21 Ann Street, was arrested Saturday evening at Port Ewen on a bench warrant charging second and third degree assault. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriffs John Daly and Ernest Longyear and Officers Thomas Coffey and Curtis Van Demark of the Kingston Police Department.

RedHookBuilding Destroyed by Fire

A two-story building occupied by a grocery store, delicatessen, restaurant and an apartment at 108 South Broadway, Red Hook, was destroyed by fire Sunday night, despite the efforts of volunteer fire companies from nearby districts.

Joseph McNulty, a partner of the J. and H. McNulty Co., operators of the store and other establishments involved in the fire, said the blaze originated near a stove in the kitchen of the restaurant.

"The fire spread rapidly and swept through the entire building," McNulty told a Freeman reporter. "The fire burned as though gasoline was being poured on it instead of water."

McNulty said the building and business establishments it housed, was a total loss. No estimate of the damage was available. McNulty also stated that occupants of an apartment over the stores escaped unharmed.

Fire companies from Red Hook, Rhinebeck, Tivoli and other nearby districts responded to Mutual Aid calls. The property is owned by the J. J. & A. Colburn Inc., which operates a service station and trailer park nearby.

While fire apparatus was at the scene, Rhinebeck state troopers assisted local police in rerouting traffic from Route 9 through a cold storage plant parking area. No injures were reported.

"The firemen did a wonderful job," McNulty commented.

Wins $77,767

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex. (AP) —Walter McNally, a Los Angeles food broker, won $77,767 on a pool ticket at the Caliente horse race track Sunday.

His was the only ticket with all six winners in the fifth through 10th races. The ticket cost $2.

Declines Comment

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Ed Lopat, manager of the Kansas City Athletics, declined to comment Sunday on the announcement by owner Charles O. Finley that the right field fence in Kansas City will be shortened to the dimensions of the fence in Yankee Stadium.

Three Persons Injured In Two-Car Collision

Three persons were injured Saturday afternoon in a two-car collision which occured on the Glasco Turnpike, Town of Woodstock according to state police.

Victor L. Wood, 47, of Walden, operator of one vehicle was taken to Kingston Hospital. He suffered a fractured pelvis, broken jaw, and multiple lacerations, according to troopers at the Kingston sub-station.

The other car was driven by Frederick C. Shader, 27, of Woodstock. Two passengers, Gary Shader, two, and Carl Shader, three, were treated for facial lacerations.

Troopers reported the collision occured on a curve. It was reported that Shader was charged with failing to keep to the right. Trooper Craig Bremer investigated.

Charged After Accident

Charles Abrahamsen, 19, Saugerties, was charged with driving a motor vehicle at a speed not reasonable or prudent, after his car left Glasco Turnpike, Town of Saugerties, and went down an embankment. Trooper William Ruth issued the summons, which is returnable before Justice of the Peace William Brinnier. The mishap occurred at 3:55 a. m. today.

St. Joseph's

in his address expressed the desire that the school would continue to produce the leaders of tomorrow for the community.

Dedicatory Address

The dedicatory address followed and was delivered by the Very Rev. Monsignor John P. Breheny, principal of Cardinal Spellman High School, in the Bronx.

In his remarks, Monsignor Breheny stated that almost 60 years ago when St. Joseph's School at 1 Pearl Street was dedicated on Labor Day 1906, the speaker was the Jesuit Father Daniel Quinn, president of Fordham University. Monsignor Breheny, born in Newburgh, was associated with Monsignor O'Reilly when on December 10, 1946, Monsignor O'Reilly succeeded Monsignor Breheny as an assistant in the parish of St. Boniface, New York City, where he later became pastor when the parish had assumed the name of its other church and had become Holy Family Parish.

In his talk Msgr. Breheny reviewed the history of St. Joseph's School, referring to plans which were made in 1905 for the opening of a school at 1 Pearl Street to replace the old school at Franklin and Fair Streets. He referred to the founding of St. Joseph's parish, almost a century ago, when the parish was founded by Father James Dougherty. He said "there as first a school and then a church." The first parochial school in Kingston proper, at Fair and Franklin Streets, was used as a church from December 1868 until July 1869 when the armory of the city of Kingston was purchased and converted to a church. The church has been located at the site since.

Education Should Be First

Reviewing briefly the history of Kingston, Msgr. Breheny said that the year 1777 was a "dark yet golden year" in the history of the city. In October of that year the British attacked and burned a goodly portion of the settlement but before that "occurred in the spring and early summer of 1777, Kingston was the setting of a remarkable series of firsts.

"He referred to the establishment here of the provisional state government, moving from place to place to escape the British advance on central New York, and said that government was temporarily established in Kingston, occupying the now historic Senate House on Clinton Avenue. There the first constitution of New York was adopted. The first government was inaugurated at the court house, the first jury under the new constitution was impaneled and the first session of the state legislature was held in Kingston. He also referred to the establishment of Kingston Academy in 1774, the first academy in New York state was opened at the corner of Crown and John Streets.

"In other words the history of Kingston suggests that education should precede and accompany the development of democracy. If we wish this nation to prosper and grow strong, then we must provide an education for the young suited to that end."

His Excellency then closed the program with a short talk on the value of a Catholic education.

Cool Summer

visiting the Washington zoo and throwing peanuts around but the squirrels were not interested in storing them which meant no winter. Also the old bear had very little fur and if there was a bad winter he would have to buy an overcoat. We don't know where he got a coat, but must have had to wear it about all winter," is Shultis's comment on a prediction of a "mild" winter last season. He had predicted a cold winter, extending through March.

Italian Reds

Khrushchev retorted that after the deprivations of Stalin's time, he was helping the Soviet people "to begin to live like human beings."

"If our people begin to be better dressed, to have better shoes, to be better fed, to have better houses, to increase their incomes toward satisfaction of their needs and cultural requirements, that is, to begin to live like human beings, that is the rebirth," he said.

GOP Nominations

Decker, James J. Murray, and Charles Piluso, all of Ellenville.

State GOP Committee members—Assembly Wilson and Mrs. Doris G. Stang.

The convention chairman, Assemblyman Wilson, chairman of Ulster County Republican Committee, greeted the assemblage of delegates and Republican friends.

Temporary Chairman

Jesse McHugh, former supervisor of the Town of Shawangunk, who served as chairman of Ulster County Board of Supervisors and present vice-chairman of Ulster County Republican Committee, acted as chairman of the convention for the nomination of Assemblyman Wilson to succeed himself.

Nominees of the convention will run as GOP candidates in the June 2 primary election.

Lloyd Newcombe of Catskill, Greene County choice of the GOP for state senator, whose name was not mentioned at the Saturday unofficial convention here says he will oppose Senator Bush in the primary, and is making an intense drive for the Republican candidacy.

Attorney Maurice Goldberg of Woodstock, former assistant attorney general who has an office in Kingston, nominated Assemblyman Wilson to succeed himself in a speech covering the highlights of Wilson's 12 years in the State Assembly and as county leader of the Republican party.

The nomination was seconded by two outstanding Republicans, Supervisor Joseph Martorana, Town of Plattekill and Mrs. Hilda Krum, president of the Ulster County Republican Women's Club.

High Praise for Torraca

Assistant District Attorney Torraca was nominated for the district attorney post by District Attorney David W. Corwin of New Paltz, who called him well qualified. He cited Torraca's service for two years on the staff of District Attorney Frank Hogan of New York County and as an assistant district attorney in Ulster County for eight years, three and a half during the tenure of Corwin.

"I've had a real opportunity to observe him as an understanding public prosecutor," said District Attorney Corwin. "He's held in high respect by law enforcement officers of the county.

"He's a man of high integrity, legal ability and human feeling, who'll make, I am confident, a great district attorney for Ulster County."

Kingston City's Corporation Counsel Harry Gold, a former assistant district attorney, seconded the nomination.

He said that Assistant District Attorney Torraca knows the office is one of trust that must keep Ulster County free of crime. "He'll conduct the office without fear or favor," Gold said.

Stressed Experience

Gold stressed Torraca's experience in presenting evidence to the grand jury and stressed that he is a man of integrity, ability and knowledge of criminal law.

"Experience is the best teacher," Attorney Gold stressed as he pointed to Torraca's two years as a prosecutor in New York and eight years in Ulster County.

Torraca's nomination was seconded by Benjamin Schecter of Kingston.

Doris Van Aken of Shandaken and Arthur Reilly, justice of the peace of the Town of Ulster, escorted the nominee to the rostrum.

In his remarks of appreciation, Torraca said he realized that the district attorney's duties must be carried out with a sense of balance in dealing with human lives, reputation of an individual and his or her human liberties.

He mentioned names of prominent lawyers who have been district attorneys of the county and later went on to higher plains in the judicial field and said he intended to emulate then in the DA's post.

Treasurer Renominated

Attorney James J. Murray of the Town of Wawarsing nominated County Treasurer DuBois for another term, pointing to his efficiency and that of his staff, and to his policy since 1959 of distributing county monies to accounts in the various banks of the county.

"He's an excellent guardian of our records," said Attorney Murray, "a fine public servant with the background of a farmer and businessman, a humble person with an understanding of all the problems that may come into his office."

Supervisor James A. Rapp of Kingston's First Ward seconded the nomination, saying that he, in his position, found DuBois well qualified and dedicated to his job.

In his speech of acceptance, Treasurer DuBois was thankful for the consideration of the delegates and said it was always a privilege "to serve all of the people of Ulster County in the office of county treasurer."

Date Is Changed

Pointing to the fact that the change from July to April for the unofficial county convention of the GOP means that there is a longer span to keep interest alive in the political life of the county, and he urged that all make every effort in the extended time to support the Republican candidates.

County Clerk Lawrence D. Craft of Wawarsing asked for the endorsement of J. Ernest Wharton for member of Congress from the 28th Congressional District.

Craft said Congressman Wharton has ably represented the 28th Congressional District for the past 14 years and has faithfully served his nation, state and district.

Attorney Frederick H. Stang, a former mayor of Kingston asked for convention endorsement of Sen. E. Ogden Bush of Delancey for state senator from the 34th Senatorial District.

Stang said Sen. Bush has diligently and faithfully represented the interests of all the people of his district since 1957, and it is in the best interests of the constituents of the 34th Senatorial District, that Sen. Bush be returned to office.

The National Anthem was sung by Miss Mildred Newkirk of Saugerties, accompanied by her sister, Miss Marion Newkirk, who is Saugerties town clerk.

The invocation was by the Rev. Harold F. Schadewald, pastor of Hurley Reformed Church.

Prior to the nominations and the reading of the roll, a resolution was presented by Henry Marl of Shawangunk for the departed members.

Downtown Tavern Is Scene of Fight, Two Are Charged

A reported downtown fight Sunday night resulted in charges against three allegedly involved and hospitalization of one of them.

Leon Washington, 19, of 238 East Union Street, and Andrew Harper, 32, of 88 Broadway, who police allege ,fought at the Commanche Club, Canal Street, were charged with disorderly conduct. City court hearing today was put over to Tuesday to permit them time to obtain counsel.

Joseph Washington Jr., 17, of 238 East Union Street, brother of Leon, after he allegedly became involved, was charged with attempting to prevent an officer from performing his duty. Officer Curtis VanDemark, who was off duty, lodged the charge.

A report at 9:30 p. m. Sunday also noted that officers George Barringer, Joseph Kivlan and Leon Fitzgerald were dispatched to the tavern.

Joseph Washington, under treatment at Kingston Hospital for head and face injuries, was reported in satisfactory condition today. He is due in city court Thursday, and until then is in the custody of his mother.

Officer VanDemark suffered hand and other injuries. He was at police headquarters and in court today.

Wilson Is Cited

eral Laws Committee. He is second in the seniority in the Insurance Committee.

In addition, he is a member of two Joint Legislative Committees and Commissions, of one vice-chairman. It was his bill,, enacted into law, that gave our county a separate Family Court Judge. He was sponsor of the Split Payment Tax Bill, the Ellenville Urban Renewal Agency Bill and many other salutary bills, especially some connected with the Deppartment of Correction, all enacted into law.

Monuments to Service

"His continued and persistant efforts—pressures should be the word—have produced miracles of road building improvement in this county during the past year. The Route 209-Route 28 complex; the Route 32 re-construction; the new bridge road over the Esopus—these are just a few of his accomplishments in this field. The proposed Wittenberg Valley State Park, supported by practically every civic organization in the area, and the ever increasing popularity and improvement of Belleayre will stand as monuments to Ken's service.

An executve ommittee member of the Republican State Committee representing this vast Third Judicial District, he stands like Gibraltar in Policy matters. As one example of this I cite to you Ken's designation as chairman of an eight-county region of the newly formed Assembly Republican Campaign Committee— only nine Assemblymen are on that committee in the entire State of over 17,000,000 people.

Task Not Easy One

"Our assemblyman and county leader is a pivotal force in the State Republican Party. He is like a rock and a foundation to the many who follow his leadership and counsel.

"During all his long 12 years of service in thhe Assembly, his task has not been an easy one. Most people are not aware of what it means to be a legislator, what it takes out of him, what soul-searching and mind-torture he has to go through before he records his vote in the affirmative or the negative on a controversial bill.

Here is one person who believes that a political office is a public trust—and acts accordingly.

"Fellow delegates, our assemblyman has served long and well — he is truly a public servant who has served the public devotedly, diligently and honorably."

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite irregularity, the stock market showed a small gain on average early this afternoon. Trading was fairly acuve.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional.

The list was moving at a level just above its record peaks established by popular market averages Friday.

Stock groups seemed to lack incentive for sharp moves eitheir way. Coppers were mixed, some recovering from the scare selling on Friday when a leftist politician in Chile threatened nationalization. Steels were about unchanged despite reports of strong sales expected this month. Rails were up on balance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .6 at 303.9 with industrials up 1.2, rails up .5 and utilties off .3.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.15 at 824.14.

A 2-point jump by Woolworth and fractional gains by Sears Roebuck, Chrysler, United Aircraft, American Smelting and New York Central, as well as a rise approaching a point by Liggett & Myers, helped bolster the averages.

American Telephone was down more than a point.

IBM made a recovery high of 600 but backed away, holding only a fractional gain.

To Have Hearing About Shooting On Public Road

Accused of discharging a firearm across a public highway, a violation of the State Conservation Law, Charles Everett Lennon, 37, of Union Center Road, Ulster Park, is scheduled to appear before Justice of the Peace Allan Dargie, Town of Esopus.

Troopers William Wiedemann and William Ruth, assisted by Conservation Officer Philip Gillen, summoned Lennon to appear at 6 p. m. today. In lieu of $100 bail, the accused man was ordered held.

Trooper William Ruth reported Lennon was accused of discharging a 12-gauge shotgun across Route 213 in front of Shannon's Hotel, Rifton, at about midnight Sunday. Lennon reportedly shot at a tin can.

Hoover Confirms

contacted in the respective cases and often even the parents request that the school take disciplinary action when their children fail to observe school rules and regulations.

Says Rumor False

It had been rumored that nine MJM pupils were expelled from the school for drinking some form of intoxicant on school grounds. Dr. Hoover said he had talked with Donald Anderson MJM principal and learned that this was not true. He said, "I am sure that if such a serious incident had occurred, it would have been brought to my attention. It has not." He emphasized that such occurrances as the suspensions were handled by the school administrators and would not normally be brought to his attention unless they were of a serious nature.

Meanwhile, it was learned that efforts were being continued to place pupils expelled in the "SMOCK" case in other area schools.

Attorney Robert A. Ronder, representing two of the four boys expelled in the case, told The Freeman two weeks ago that unless the school administrators reconsidered the expulsions, they — the administrators—would "leave no other choice but to take the matter to court." He called a hearing before the school council a "kangaroo court."

He said today that efforts started after the expulsions to get the youngsters into other schools were being continued.

Pre-Forum Meet Today

In another school-connected development, Thomas Mannix, president of the Kingston Teachers Federation, said a meeting had been scheduled for 4:30 p. m. today with Dr. Hoover in the superintendent's office, to discuss a "format" for a proposed forum on teachers salary schedules approved recently by the Board of Education. Mannix, just prior to the Easter recess, had requested Dr. Hoover and Randolph Siegel, president of the Kingston Teachers Association, to participate in a forum at a mutually agreed time to discuss teachers' salaries. The Board of Education voted to grant the teachers a raise, but there were indications that the latter preferred an opportunity to discuss the salary schedule before it was adopted.

Stolen Car Recovered

A car reported stolen last Saturday night from near the Trailways bus terminal, central Broadway, was reported recovered some 15 minutes later in an area at the rear of the terminal. Vernon Halwick, of 79 Lincoln Street, owner, had apparently noticed shortly before midnight that the car was missing. Detective Gurnsey Burger reported at 12:15 a. m. that the car was found and returned to its owner.

Cyclical Shares Are Not In The Growth Category

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "My husband is 57 and earns $7,500 a year. Our house is free and clear, and we have $10,000 in savings accounts. If God gives him his health, there are 7 income-producing years left. Do you advise us to continue with the stocks we have, or can you suggest better growth stocks? We own 100 Republic Steel, 100 U.S. Steel, 50 Copperweld Steel, 50 National Steel, 200 Family Finance, 200 Long Island Lighting, 100 Fruehauf Trailer." S.Z.

A) I sincerely hope your husband will have his health for many years to come.

None of the stocks you own are bad, but you are too heavily represented in steel issues, which are not growth situations, but are rather cyclical ones—heavily dependent on business conditions. The same description applies to Fruehauf Trailer.

I advise you to sell Republic, Copperweld, National Steel, and Fruehauf. The proceeds should be placed in Texaco, Sears, Roebuck and Corn Products, which — like Long Island Lighting — have compiled impressive records of earnings, dividends, and price gains over a period of years.

Q) "Recently in your column, a father of a retarded son had a question about investing for his son's future: If he doesn't already receive social security, I suggest he inquire about this. I have a brother who is mentally retarded and receives social security and will for the rest of his life." S.D.

A) I am very grateful to you for bringing this matter to my attention.

The father of the retarded son you speak about was retired, but made no mention of social security.

If he is receiving social security he should apply for benefits for his son which—if certain rigid requirements are met—will bring the son one-half of the father's social security payments during that parent's lifetime and 75 per cent after his father's death.

Mr. Spear cannot anwser all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Ike Senior General

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the death Sunday of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower became the senior general in the U.S. Army.

Eisenhower, who was restored to his five-star rank after he left the presidency, and General of the Army Omar Bradley are the only five-star generals in the Army.

Eisenhower's date of rank is Dec. 20, 1944; Bradley's is Sept. 20, 1950.

LEGAL NOTICES — LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Please take notice that the Town Planning Board of the Town of Ulster, New York, will hold a public hearing, pursuant to Section 272 of the Town Law on the following proposed amendments to the "Requirements for the Approval of Subdivision Plans in the Town of Ulster, as amended."

AMEND Section III. Procedure—so that paragraphs A, B. C and E shall read as follows:

A. Whenever any subdivision of land is proposed to be made and before any contract for the sale of or any offer to sell such subdivision or any part thereof is made, and before any permit for the erection of a structure shall be granted, the subdivider, or owner thereof, or his agent, shall apply for and secure approval of such subdivision. In accordance with these regulations and applicable provisions of State Law.

B. The following procedure consists basically of two steps—(a) Preliminary Layout review, (b) Subdivision Plat and Improvements Plan—review, public hearing, and final action.

Step 1—The applicant shall file an application for Preliminary Layout review as follows:

1. Be made on forms supplied by the Planning Board, or Office of the Town Clerk.
2. Include all land owned by the applicant proposed to be subdivided.
3. Be accompanied by three copies of the Preliminary Layout with topographic information and street profiles, as described by Section 5 herein, scale not more than one inch to one hundred feet.
4. Be presented to the Chairman of the Planning Board.
5. Be accompanied by a fee of $25.00, plus $3.00 per acre for each acre, or part thereof, that the subdivision exceeds five acres in area. If the applicant subsequently elects not to file an application for final approval of the Subdivision Plat, one-third of the fee shall be returned upon written request of the applicant for the same.

C. The preliminary layout, topographic map, street profiles and formal subdivision plat and all procedure relating thereto shall in all respects be in full compliance with the provisions of Section 277 of the Town Law, and these regulations except where variation therefrom may be specifically authorized by the Board. The Board shall then study the preliminary layout and proposed street profiles in connection with the topography of the area, the existing requirements of the zoning ordinance, if any, the Master Plan and the Official Map, if any, and shall take into consideration the general requirements of the community and the best use of the land to be subdivided. Particular attention shall be given to matters enumerated in Section 277 of the Town Law, as well as to specific requirements for parks, playgrounds, school sites, boulevards and main thoroughfares, the adequacy of street connections and the suitability of the land for development.

E. Step 2—The subdivider, after official notification by the Board with respect to the preliminary layout and the changes, if any to be made therein, shall within six months thereafter file with the Board original drawings of the formal subdivision plat and street profiles. These drawings shall be on tracing cloth in sheets not larger than 36 inches by 48 inches, and to a scale of not more than 100 feet to the inch. When more than one sheet is required, an additional index sheet of the same size shall be filed showing to appropriate scale the entire subdivision on one sheet with lot and block numbers. Before the Board acts on the formal subdivision plat it shall hold a formal hearing thereon in compliance with Section 276 of the Town Law. The Planning Board shall then, within 45 days from and after the time of the hearing, approve, modify and approve or disapprove such plat. Such approval shall, however, not be deemed final until the subdivider has complied with the provisions of the following paragraph.

AMEND Section V. The Preliminary Layout, item 6 thereunder to read as follows:

6. Location, names and present widths of existing and proposed streets, highways, easements, building lines, alleys, parks and other public open spaces and similar facts regarding property adjacent. All street names to be approved by the Planning Board to avoid duplication.

AMEND Section VI. The subdivision plat, so that paragraph "A" shall read as follows:

A. The subdivision plat submitted for approval and subsequent recording shall be clearly and legibly drawn in ink upon tracing cloth. The size of the sheets shall be not larger than 36 inches by 48 inches, including a margin of one inch outside ruled border lines on three sides and two inches border along the left side of the inch side for binding.

Said Hearing will be held on the thirteenth day of April, 1964, at the Grange Hall, Lake Katrine, New York at 8:00 p. m., at which time all interested persons will be given an opportunity to be heard.

By order of the Town of Ulster Planning Board,

E. J. DEVINE
Chairman

St. Joseph's

in his address expressed the desire that the school would continue to produce the leaders of tomorrow for the community.

Dedicatory Address

The dedicatory address followed and was delivered by the Very Rev. Monsignor John P. Breheny, principal of Cardinal Spellman High School, in the Bronx.

In his remarks, Monsignor Breheny stated that almost 60 years ago when St. Joseph's School at 1 Pearl Street was dedicated on Labor Day 1906, the speaker was the Jesuit Father Daniel Quinn, president of Fordham University. Monsignor Breheny, born in Newburgh, was associated with Monsignor O'Reilly when on December 10, 1946, Monsignor O'Reilly succeeded Monsignor Breheny as an assistant in the parish of St. Boniface, New York City, where he later became pastor when the parish had assumed the name of its other church and had become Holy Family Parish.

In his talk Msgr. Breheny reviewed the history of St. Joseph's School, referring to plans which were made in 1905 for the opening of a school at 1 Pearl Street to replace the old school at Franklin and Fair Streets. He referred to the founding of St. Joseph's parish, almost a century ago, when the parish was founded by Father James Dougherty. He said "there as first a school and then a church." The first parochial school in Kingston proper, at Fair and Franklin Streets, was used as a church from December 1868 until July 1869 when the armory of the city of Kingston was purchased and converted to a church. The church has been located at the site since.

Education Should Be First

Reviewing briefly the history of Kingston, Msgr. Breheny said that the year 1777 was a "dark yet golden year" in the history of the city. In October of that year the British attacked and burned a goodly portion of the settlement but before that "occurred in the spring and early summer of 1777, Kingston was the setting of a remarkable series of firsts.

"He referred to the establishment here of the provisional state government, moving from place to place to escape the British advance on central New York, and said that government was temporarily established in Kingston, occupying the now historic Senate House on Clinton Avenue. There the first constitution of New York was adopted. The first government was inaugurated at the court house, the first jury under the new constitution was impaneled and the first session of the state legislature was held in Kingston. He also referred to the establishment of Kingston Academy in 1774, the first academy in New York state was opened at the corner of Crown and John Streets.

"In other words the history of Kingston suggests that education should precede and accompany the development of democracy. If we wish this nation to prosper and grow strong, then we must provide an education for the young suited to that end."

His Excellency then closed the program with a short talk on the value of a Catholic education.

Cool Summer

visiting the Washington zoo and throwing peanuts around but the squirrels were not interested in storing them which meant no winter. Also the old bear had very little fur and if there was a bad winter he would have to buy an overcoat. We don't know where he got a coat, but must have had to wear it about all winter," is Shultis's comment on a prediction of a "mild" winter last season. He had predicted a cold winter, extending through March.

Italian Reds

Khrushchev retorted that after the deprivations of Stalin's time, he was helping the Soviet people "to begin to live like human beings."

"If our people begin to be better dressed, to have better shoes, to be better fed, to have better houses, to increase their incomes toward satisfaction of their needs and cultural requirements, that is, to begin to live like human beings, that is the rebirth," he said.

GOP Nominations

Decker, James J. Murray, and Charles Piluso, all of Ellenville.

State GOP Committee members—Assembly Wilson and Mrs. Doris G. Stang.

The convention chairman, Assemblyman Wilson, chairman of Ulster County Republican Committee, greeted the assemblage of delegates and Republican friends.

Temporary Chairman

Jesse McHugh, former supervisor of the Town of Shawangunk, who served as chairman of Ulster County Board of Supervisors and present vice-chairman of Ulster County Republican Committee, acted as chairman of the convention for the nomination of Assemblyman Wilson to succeed himself.

Nominees of the convention will run as GOP candidates in the June 2 primary election.

Lloyd Newcombe of Catskill, Greene County choice of the GOP for state senator, whose name was not mentioned at the Saturday unofficial convention here says he will oppose Senator Bush in the primary, and is making an intense drive for the Republican candidacy.

Attorney Maurice Goldberg of Woodstock, former assistant attorney general who has an office in Kingston, nominated Assemblyman Wilson to succeed himself in a speech covering the highlights of Wilson's 12 years in the State Assembly and as county leader of the Republican party.

The nomination was seconded by two outstanding Republicans, Supervisor Joseph Martorana, Town of Plattekill and Mrs. Hilda Krum, president of the Ulster County Republican Women's Club.

High Praise for Torraca

Assistant District Attorney Torraca was nominated for the district attorney post by District Attorney David W. Corwin of New Paltz, who called him well qualified. He cited Torraca's service for two years on the staff of District Attorney Frank Hogan of New York County and as an assistant district attorney in Ulster County for eight years, three and a half during the tenure of Corwin.

"I've had a real opportunity to observe him as an understanding public prosecutor," said District Attorney Corwin. "He's held in high respect by law enforcement officers of the county.

"He's a man of high integrity, legal ability and human feeling, who'll make, I am confident, a great district attorney for Ulster County."

Kingston City's Corporation Counsel Harry Gold, a former assistant district attorney, seconded the nomination.

He said that Assistant District Attorney Torraca knows the office is one of trust that must keep Ulster County free of crime. "He'll conduct the office without fear or favor," Gold said.

Stressed Experience

Gold stressed Torraca's experience in presenting evidence to the grand jury and stressed that he is a man of integrity, ability and knowledge of criminal law.

"Experience is the best teacher," Attorney Gold stressed as he pointed to Torraca's two years as a prosecutor in New York and eight years in Ulster County.

Torraca's nomination was seconded by Benjamin Schecter of Kingston.

Doris Van Aken of Shandaken and Arthur Reilly, justice of the peace of the Town of Ulster, escorted the nominee to the rostrum.

In his remarks of appreciation, Torraca said he realized that the district attorney's duties must be carried out with a sense of balance in dealing with human lives, reputation of an individual and his or her human liberties.

He mentioned names of prominent lawyers who have been district attorneys of the county and later went on to higher plains in the judicial field and said he intended to emulate then in the DA's post.

Treasurer Renominated

Attorney James J. Murray of the Town of Wawarsing nominated County Treasurer DuBois for another term, pointing to his efficiency and that of his staff, and to his policy since 1959 of distributing county monies to accounts in the various banks of the county.

"He's an excellent guardian of our records," said Attorney Murray, "a fine public servant with the background of a farmer and businessman, a humble person with an understanding of all the problems that may come into his office."

Supervisor James A. Rapp of Kingston's First Ward seconded the nomination, saying that he, in his position, found DuBois well qualified and dedicated to his job.

In his speech of acceptance, Treasurer DuBois was thankful for the consideration of the delegates and said it was always a privilege "to serve all of the people of Ulster County in the office of county treasurer."

Date Is Changed

Pointing to the fact that the change from July to April for the unofficial county convention of the GOP means that there is a longer span to keep interest alive in the political life of the county, and he urged that all make every effort in the extended time to support the Republican candidates.

County Clerk Lawrence D. Craft of Wawarsing asked for the endorsement of J. Ernest Wharton for member of Congress from the 28th Congressional District.

Craft said Congressman Wharton has ably represented the 28th Congressional District for the past 14 years and has faithfully served his nation, state and district.

Attorney Frederick H. Stang, a former mayor of Kingston asked for convention endorsement of Sen. E. Ogden Bush of Delancey for state senator from the 34th Senatorial District.

Stang said Sen. Bush has diligently and faithfully represented the interests of all the people of his district since 1957, and it is in the best interests of the constituents of the 34th Senatorial District, that Sen. Bush be returned to office.

The National Anthem was sung by Miss Mildred Newkirk of Saugerties, accompanied by her sister, Miss Marion Newkirk, who is Saugerties town clerk.

The invocation was by the Rev. Harold F. Schadewald, pastor of Hurley Reformed Church.

Prior to the nominations and the reading of the roll, a resolution was presented by Henry Marl of Shawangunk for the departed members.

DowntownTavern Is Scene of Fight, Two Are Charged

A reported downtown fight Sunday night resulted in charges against three allegedly involved and hospitalization of one of them.

Leon Washington, 19, of 238 East Union Street, and Andrew Harper, 32, of 88 Broadway, who police allege ,fought at the Commanche Club, Canal Street, were charged with disorderly conduct. City court hearing today was put over to Tuesday to permit them time to obtain counsel.

Joseph Washington Jr., 17, of 238 East Union Street, brother of Leon, after he allegedly became involved, was charged with attempting to prevent an officer from performing his duty. Officer Curtis VanDemark, who was off duty, lodged the charge.

A report at 9:30 p. m. Sunday also noted that officers George Barringer, Joseph Kivian and Leon Fitzgerald were dispatched to the tavern.

Joseph Washington, under treatment at Kingston Hospital for head and face injuries, was reported in satisfactory condition today. He is due in city court Thursday, and until then is in the custody of his mother.

Officer VanDemark suffered hand and other injuries. He was at police headquarters and in court today.

Wilson Is Cited

eral Laws Committee. He is second in the seniority in the Insurance Committee.

In addition, he is a member of two Joint Legislative Committees and Commissions, of one vice-chairman. It was his bill, enacted into law, that gave our county a separate Family Court Judge. He was sponsor of the Split Payment Tax Bill, the Ellenville Urban Renewal Agency Bill and many other salutary bills, especially some connected with the Deppartment of Correction, all enacted into law.

Monuments to Service

"His continued and persistant efforts—pressures should be the word—have produced miracles of road building improvement in this county during the past year. The Route 209-Route 28 complex; the Route 32 re-construction; the new bridge road over the Esopus—these are just a few of his accomplishments in this field. The proposed Wittenberg Valley State Park, supported by practically every civic organization in the area, and the ever increasing popularity and improvement of Belleayre will stand as monuments to Ken's service.

An executve committee member of the Republican State Committee representing this vast Third Judicial District, he stands like Gibralter in Policy matters. As one example of this I cite to you Ken's designation as chairman of an eight-county region of the newly formed Assembly Republican Campaign Committee— only nine Assemblymen are on that committee in the entire State of over 17,000,000 people.

Task Not Easy One

"Our assemblyman and county leader is a pivotal force in the State Republican Party. He is like a rock and a foundation to the many who follow his leadership and counsel.

"During all his long 12 years of service in thhe Assembly, his task has not been an easy one. Most people are not aware of what it means to be a legislator, what it takes out of him, what soul-searching and mind-torture he has to go through before he records his vote in the affirmative or the negative on a controversial bill.

Here is one person who believes that a political office is a public trust—and acts accordingly.

"Fellow delegates, our assemblyman has served long and well — he is truly a public servant who has served the public devotedly, diligently and honorably."

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite irregularity, the stock market showed a small gain on average early this afternoon. Trading was fairly acuve.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional.

The list was moving at a level just above its record peaks established by popular market averages Friday.

Stock groups seemed to lack incentive for sharp moves eitheir way. Coppers were mixed, some recovering from the scare selling on Friday when a leftist politician in Chile threatened nationalization. Steels were about unchanged despite reports of strong sales expected this month. Rails were up on balance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .6 at 303.9 with industrials up 1.2, rails up .5 and utilties off .3.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.15 at 824.14.

A 2-point jump by Woolworth and fractional gains by Sears Roebuck, Chrysler, United Aircraft, American Smelting and New York Central, as well as a rise approaching a point by Liggett & Myers, helped bolster the averages.

American Telephone was down more than a point.

IBM made a recovery high of 600 but backed away, holding only a fractional gain.

To Have Hearing About Shooting On Public Road

Accused of discharging a firearm across a public highway, a violation of the State Conservation Law, Charles Everett Lennon, 37, of Union Center Road, Ulster Park, is scheduled to appear before Justice of the Peace Allan Dargie, Town of Esopus.

Troopers William Wiedemann and William Ruth, assisted by Conservation Officer Philip Gillen, summoned Lennon to appear at 6 p. m. today. In lieu of $100 bail, the accused man was ordered held.

Trooper William Ruth reported Lennon was accused of discharging a 12-gauge shotgun across Route 213 in front of Shannon's Hotel, Rifton, at about midnight Sunday. Lennon reportedly shot at a tin can.

Hoover Confirms

contacted in the respective cases and often even the parents request that the school take disciplinary action when their children fail to observe school rules and regulations.

Says Rumor False

It had been rumored that nine MJM pupils were expelled from the school for drinking some form of intoxicant on school grounds. Dr. Hoover said he had talked with Donald Anderson MJM principal and learned that this was not true. He said, "I am sure that if such a serious incident had occurred, it would have been brought to my attention. It has not." He emphasized that such occurrances as the suspensions were handled by the school administrators and would not normally be brought to his attention unless they were of a serious nature.

Meanwhile, it was learned that efforts were being continued to place pupils expelled in the "SMOCK" case in other area schools.

Attorney Robert A. Ronder, representing two of the four boys expelled in the case, told The Freeman two weeks ago that unless the school administrators reconsidered the expulsions, they — the administrators—would "leave no other choice but to take the matter to court." He called a hearing before the school council a "kangaroo court."

He said today that efforts started after the expulsions to get the youngsters into other schools were being continued.

Pre-Forum Meet Today

In another school-connected development, Thomas Mannix, president of the Kingston Teachers Federation, said a meeting had been scheduled for 4:30 p. m. today with Dr. Hoover in the superintendent's office, to discuss a "format" for a proposed forum on teachers salary schedules approved recently by the Board of Education. Mannix, just prior to the Easter recess, had requested Dr. Hoover and Randolph Siegel, president of the Kingston Teachers Association, to participate in a forum at a mutually agreed time to discuss teachers' salaries. The Board of Education voted to grant the teachers a raise, but there were indications that the latter preferred an opportunity to discuss the salary schedule before it was adopted.

Stolen Car Recovered

A car reported stolen last Saturday night from near the Trailways bus terminal, central Broadway, was reported recovered some 15 minutes later in an area at the rear of the terminal. Vernon Halwick, of 79 Lincoln Street, owner, had apparently noticed shortly before midnight that the car was missing. Detective Gurnsey Burger reported at 12:15 a. m. that the car was found and returned to its owner.

Cyclical Shares Are Not In The Growth Category

Q) "My husband is 57 and earns $7,500 a year. Our house is free and clear, and we have $10,000 in savings accounts. If God gives him his health, there are 7 income-producing years left. Do you advise us to continue with the stocks we have, or can you suggest better growth stocks? We own 100 Republic Steel, 100 U.S. Steel, 50 Copperweld Steel, 50 National Steel, 200 Family Finance, 200 Long Island Lighting, 100 Fruehauf Trailer." S.Z.

A) I sincerely hope your husband will have his health for many years to come.

None of the stocks you own are bad, but you are too heavily represented in steel issues, which are not growth situations, but are rather cyclical ones—heavily dependent on business conditions. The same description applies to Fruehauf Trailer.

I advise you to sell Republic, Copperweld, National Steel, and Fruehauf. The proceeds should be placed in Texaco, Sears, Roebuck and Corn Products, which — like Long Island Lighting — have compiled impressive records of earnings, dividends, and price gains over a period of years.

Q) "Recently in your column, a father of a retarded son had a question about investing for his son's future: If he doesn't already receive social security, I suggest he inquire about this. I have a brother who is mentally retarded and receives social security and will for the rest of his life." S.D.

A) I am very grateful to you for bringing this matter to my attention.

The father of the retarded son you speak about was retired, but made no mention of social security.

If he is receiving social security he should apply for benefits for his son which—if certain rigid requirements are met—will bring the son one-half of the father's social security payments during that parent's lifetime and 75 per cent after his father's death.

Mr. Spear cannot anwser all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Please take notice that the Town Planning Board of the Town of Ulster, New York, will hold a public hearing, pursuant to Section 272 of the Town Law on the following proposed amendments to the "Requirements for the Approval of Subdivision Plans in the Town of Ulster, as amended."

AMEND Section III. Procedure—so that paragraphs A, B, C and E shall read as follows:

A. Whenever any subdivision of land is proposed to be made and before any contract for the sale of or any offer to sell such subdivision or any part thereof is made, and before any permit for the erection of a structure shall be granted, the subdivider, or owner thereof, or his agent, shall apply for and secure approval of such subdivision in accordance with these regulations and applicable provisions of State Law.

B. The following procedure consists basically of two steps—(a) Preliminary Layout review, (b) Subdivision Plat and Improvements Plan—review, public hearing, and final action.

Step 1—The applicant shall file an application for Preliminary Layout review as follows:

1. Be made on forms supplied by the Planning Board, or Office of the Town Clerk.
2. Include all land owned by the applicant proposed to be subdivided.
3. Be accompanied by three copies of the Preliminary Layout with topographic information and street profiles, as described by Section 5 herein, scale not more than one inch to one hundred feet.
4. Be presented to the Chairman of the Planning Board.
5. Be accompanied by a fee of $25.00, plus $3.00 per acre for each acre, or part thereof, that the subdivision exceeds five acres in area. If the applicant subsequently elects not to file an application for final approval of the Subdivision Plat, one-third of the fee shall be returned upon written request of the applicant for the same.

C. The preliminary layout, topographic map, street profiles and formal subdivision plat and all procedure relating thereto shall in all respects be in full compliance with the provisions of Section 277 of the Town Law, and these regulations except where variation therefrom may be specifically authorized by the Board. The Board shall then study the preliminary layout and proposed street profiles in connection with the topography of the area, the existing requirements of the zoning ordinance, if any, the Master Plan and the Official Map, if any, and shall take into consideration the general requirements of the community and the best use of the land to be subdivided. Particular attention shall be given to matters enumerated in Section 277 of the Town Law, as well as to specific requirements for parks, playgrounds, school sites, boulevards and main thoroughfares, the adequacy of street connections and the suitability of the land for development.

E. Step 2—The subdivider, after official notification by the Board with respect to the preliminary layout and the changes, if any to be made therein, shall within six months thereafter file with the Board original drawings of the formal subdivision plat and street profiles. These drawings shall be on tracing cloth in sheets not larger than 36 inches by 48 inches, and to a scale of not more than 100 feet to the inch. When more than one sheet is required, an additional index sheet of the same size shall be filed showing to appropriate scale the entire subdivision on one sheet with lot and block numbers. Before the Board acts on the formal subdivision plat it shall hold a formal hearing thereon in compliance with Section 276 of the Town Law. The Planning Board shall then, within 45 days from and after the time of the hearing, approve, modify and approve or disapprove such plat. Such approval shall, however, not be deemed final until the subdivider has complied with the provisions of the following paragraph.

AMEND Section V. The Preliminary Layout, item 6 thereunder to read as follows:

6. Location, names and present widths of existing and proposed streets, highways, easements, building lines, alleys, parks and other public open spaces and similar facts regarding property adjacent. All street names to be approved by the Planning Board to avoid duplication.

AMEND Section VI. The subdivision plat, so that paragraph "A" shall read as follows:

A. The subdivision plat submitted for approval and subsequent recording shall be clearly and legibly drawn in ink upon tracing cloth. The size of the sheets shall be not larger than 36 inches by 48 inches, including a margin of one inch outside ruled border lines on three sides and two inches border along the left side of the inch side for binding.

Said Hearing will be held on the thirteenth day of April, 1964, at the Grange Hall, Lake Katrine, New York at 8:00 p. m., at which time all interested persons will be given an opportunity to be heard.

By order of the Town of Ulster Planning Board,

E. J. DEVINE
Chairman

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help-Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Most employes engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and at least one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for hours worked after a maximum workweek of 40 hours, unless specifically exempt. Also, most employes in certain large retail, service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce, who have been entitled to a minimum wage of at least $1.00 an hour since September 3, 1961, must be paid overtime pay of not less than one and one-half times their regular rates for all hours worked after a maximum workweek of 44 hours, unless specifically exempt. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452 WYandotte 2-1235.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help-Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wager. Most employes engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and at least one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for hours worked after a maximum workweek of 40 hours, unless specifically exempt. Also, most employes in certain large retail, service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce, who have been entitled to a minimum wage of at least $1.00 an hour since September 3, 1961, must be paid overtime pay of not less than one and one-half times their regular rates for all hours worked after a maximum workweek of 44 hours, unless specifically exempt. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10452 WYandotte 2-1235.

Upstate Interchurch Center Begins Drive

William S. Vaughn, president of Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, will be the principal speaker at a luncheon of prominent business and industrial leaders today at the Hotel Syracuse.

Robert J. Sloan, president of Crouse Hinds Company and Benjamin E. Shove, prominent Syracuse attorney, are co-sponsoring the luncheon which will signal the inauguration of a $600,000 fund raising effort to build a new Interchurch Center in Syracuse to serve the State of New York.

Mr. Vaughn, in addition to being a nationally prominent industrialist, has been widely active in Rochester community affairs and is a dedicated churchman. He is chairman of the board of trustees of Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, a trustee of the University of Rochester, and is a member of the board of managers of the Eastman School of Music.

Upstate Interchurch Center Begins Drive

William S. Vaughn, president of Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, will be the principal speaker at a luncheon of prominent business and industrial leaders today at the Hotel Syracuse.

Robert J. Sloan, president of Crouse Hinds Company and Benjamin E. Shove, prominent Syracuse attorney, are co-sponsoring the luncheon which will signal the inauguration of a $600,000 fund raising effort to build a new Interchurch Center in Syracuse to serve the State of New York.

Mr. Vaughn, in addition to being a nationally prominent industrialist, has been widely active in Rochester community affairs and is a dedicated churchman. He is chairman of the board of trustees of Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, a trustee of the University of Rochester, and is a member of the board of managers of the Eastman School of Music.

Khrush Says War Talk by China Shows Poor Brain

KAZINCBARCIKA, Hungary (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev declared today only a child or an idiot does not fear war and that people who think like the Red Chinese leaders about war "do not show an overabundance of brains." He said he thought U.S. President Johnson had similar views to those of the late President John F. Kennedy, which he called reasonable.

"The Chinese leaders say it would not be a bad thing to have a war — one-half of the people in the world would be destroyed and the other would survive," Khrushchev said in a speech to several thousand workers of a chemical plant in this northeastern Hungarian industrial center.

"They say that after some time women again would bear children and mankind would be as before. People who think like that do not show an overabundance of brains, but rather a lack of them."

Khrushchev said he had been accused by the Chinese of being afraid of war.

WORK WITH DIRECTORY PUBLISHER—Officials of area banks and chambers of commerce are working with publisher of new Ulster County Directory in compiling information for publication in directory, which will provide readers with facilities, services and accommodation in the county. Visits have been set up this week at three southern county banks to help hotel, resort and bungalow operators promote their business places. Among officials present at recent meeting were, from the left, David Karp, director of Kerhonkson Chamber of Commerce; Michael Starkman, directory publisher; A. J. Anderson, president of Kerhonkson National Bank, and Joseph A. Babiarz, secretary of Kerhonkson C of C.

Three Area Banks Accepting Data for County Directory

Information and listings for the new Ulster County Directory will be accepted this week at three area banks, it was announced today by directory officials.

Michael Starkman, publisher of the new information guide, said that hotel, resort and bungalow people in the townships of Wawarsing and Rochester, would be able to visit the following banks this week at the respective dates, to promote their business places: Kerhonkson National Bank, today and Friday; Ellenville National Bank, Tuesday, and the First National Bank of Ellenville, Wednesday.

The new county directory has the official endorsement and approval of various chambers of commerce and the Board of Supervisors as a necessary piece of literature providing listings of available facilities and accomodations. Starkman said the booklet, which will fill a void that exists today, will be mailed out and copies will be sent to the New York World's Fair, which opens this month.

Starkman said, "We are pleased to accept the offer of these three area institutions and any other bank or area office that would like to have us. It will assist the resort and service people in reaching us, and vice versa. Only by such cooordinated effort can the directory hope to carry maximum listings and thus produce more travel and vacataion business."

Area businesses of all types were urged to come to one of the area banks mentioned, or to contact the county Directory offices at U. P. O. Box 543, Kingston, N.Y. for information and descriptive literature and costs.

Volunteers Busy With 22 Grass Fires

Twenty-two calls for grass and brush fires on Sunday kept volunteer firemen busy most of the day. Mutual Aid dispatchers reported Marlboro, Gardiner, Glasco, Ellenville and Hurley volunteer companies each responded to two alarms. Other grass and brush fires were reported at Wallkill, Port Ewen, Wawarsing, New Paltz, Stone Ridge, Accord, Walker Valley, Shawangunk Valley, Ruby, Highland, Saxton, and Mt. Marion. Glasco firemen were called to the old Washburn brickyard at 2 p. m. to quell a grass fire, and at 4:30 p. m. the company answered the second alarm for grass fires on the property of Roman Wolff off Route 9W at Glenerie.

Failure to Yield Charged

After a two-car collision at the Route 28 traffic circle at 2 p. m. Sunday, John F. Bohan, 17, of Washington Avenue, was issued a summons charging failure to yield the right of way. State Trooper Craig Bremer of the Kingston sub-station, said the cars involved were driven by Warren Smith, 66, of 93 John Street, and Bohan. Smith was driving north within the traffic circle and Bohan was entering the circle from Route 587 when the vehicles collided, Bremer said.

Victoria Falls, 355 feet high in Africa, is nearly double the width of Niagara Falls and twice as high.

Accidentally Wounded After Target Practice

While returning to his parked car after target practice at the Rhinecliff dump off Norton Road, Town of Rhinebeck, Sunday afternoon, Richard Herbert Newkirk Jr., 25, of Ackert Hook Road, that township, was accidentally wounded.

Rhinebeck State Troopers Frank Hallock and Frank Christensen, reported Newkirk and Henry Anthony Poje, 14, of West Market Street, Rhinebeck, had been target shooting at the dump. Newkirk started to walk back to his car, followed by the boy, when the latter's .22 caliber rifle accidentally discharged.

Newkirk suffered fractures and lacerations of fingers on his left hand and a perforated wound of the upper left thigh. He drove his car to the Northern Dutchess Hospital, where he was treated and admitted for further observation.

Pays $185 Fines For 3 Violations Of Traffic Laws

A 21-year-old Highland young man was fined $185 Saturday afternoon, after he pleaded guilty before a Town of Marlboro justice of the peace to three vehicle and traffic violations.

State Police said Vernon A. Baker Jr., of Highland, was charged with driving a car with switched plates, without insurance and operating a motor vehicle at a speed not reasonable or prudent. Fines were imposed by Justice of the Peace John Mataraza.

Troopers reported Baker was driving south on Route 9W north of Marlboro, when the vehicle veered into a parking lot at the Blossom Farm Inn, hit a parked car, forced it into another and then Baker's car hit a pole and tree and overturned.

Baker apparently escaped injury. A passenger, 14-year-old Beverly Orlando, Highland, was taken to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, and treated for a fractured leg. Ralph Brown, 17, also of Highland, and passenger in the Baker car, received injuries of his right leg.

It was reported Baker's father paid the fines.

Wet and Cloudy Weather Covers Wide Area Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wet and cloudy weather covered wide areas of the nation today, with rain in many areas in the eastern half of the country and snow in north and western sections.

The wet belt extended from the eastern Gulf states through the upper Great Lakes region and into the northern Rockies and southward into Utah.

Heavy rain Sunday pelted areas in the Southeast and from the central Gulf states northward into the middle Mississippi Valley. Heaviest rains during the night were in parts of Mississippi and northern Alabama. More than three inches fell in Meridian, Miss., and nearly two inches in Birmingham, Ala., during a six-hour period.

Snow fell in parts of Montana, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska. Strong northeasterly winds caused much blowing and drifting of snow. Cold air spread across most of the snow-covered areas.

Tornadoes struck near Ruston in northern Louisiana and Mineola in eastern Texas Sunday, causing property damage but no injuries.

WORK WITH DIRECTORY PUBLISHER—Officials of area banks and chambers of commerce are working with publisher of new Ulster County Directory in compiling information for publication in directory, which will provide readers with facilities, services and accommodation in the county. Visits have been set up this week at three southern county banks to help hotel, resort and bungalow operators promote their business places. Among officials present at recent meeting were, from the left, David Karp, director of Kerhonkson Chamber of Commerce; Michael Starkman, directory publisher; A. J. Anderson, president of Kerhonkson National Bank, and Joseph A. Babiarz, secretary of Kerhonkson C of C.

Three Area Banks Accepting Data for County Directory

Information and listings for the new Ulster County Directory will be accepted this week at three area banks, it was announced today by directory officials.

Michael Starkman, publisher of the new information guide, said that hotel, resort and bungalow people in the townships of Wawarsing and Rochester, would be able to visit the following banks this week at the respective dates, to promote their business places: Kerhonkson National Bank, today and Friday; Ellenville National Bank, Tuesday, and the First National Bank of Ellenville, Wednesday.

The new county directory has the official endorsement and approval of various chambers of commerce and the Board of Supervisors as a necessary piece of literature providing listings of available facilities and accomodations. Starkman said the booklet, which will fill a void that exists today, will be mailed out and copies will be sent to the New York World's Fair, which opens this month.

Starkman said, "We are pleased to accept the offer of these three area institutions and any other bank or area office that would like to have us. It will assist the resort and service people in reaching us, and vice versa. Only by such cooordinated effort can the directory hope to carry maximum listings and thus produce more travel and vacataion business."

Area businesses of all types were urged to come to one of the area banks mentioned, or to contact the county Directory offices at U. P. O. Box 543, Kingston, N.Y. for information and descriptive literature and costs.

Volunteers Busy With 22 Grass Fires

Twenty-two calls for grass and brush fires on Sunday kept volunteer firemen busy most of the day. Mutual Aid dispatchers reported Marlboro, Gardiner, Glasco, Ellenville and Hurley volunteer companies each responded to two alarms. Other grass and brush fires were reported at Wallkill, Port Ewen, Wawarsing, New Paltz, Stone Ridge, Accord, Walker Valley, Shawangunk Valley, Ruby, Highland, Saxton, and Mt. Marion. Glasco firemen were called to the old Washburn brickyard at 2 p. m. to quell a grass fire, and at 4:30 p. m. the company answered the second alarm for grass fires on the property of Roman Wolff off Route 9W at Glenerie.

Failure to Yield Charged

After a two-car collision at the Route 28 traffic circle at 2 p. m. Sunday, John F. Bohan, 17, of Washington Avenue, was issued a summons charging failure to yield the right of way. State Trooper Craig Bremer of the Kingston sub-station, said the cars involved were driven by Warren Smith, 66, of 93 John Street, and Bohan. Smith was driving north within the traffic circle and Bohan was entering the circle from Route 587 when the vehicles collided, Bremer said.

Accidentally Wounded After Target Practice

While returning to his parked car after target practice at the Rhinecliff dump off Norton Road, Town of Rhinebeck, Sunday afternoon, Richard Herbert Newkirk Jr., 25, of Ackert Hook Road, that township, was accidentally wounded.

Rhinebeck State Troopers Frank Hallock and Frank Christensen, reported Newkirk and Henry Anthony Poje, 14, of West Market Street, Rhinebeck, had been target shooting at the dump. Newkirk started to walk back to his car, followed by the boy, when the latter's .22 caliber rifle accidentally discharged.

Newkirk suffered fractures and lacerations of fingers on his left hand and a perforated wound of the upper left thigh. He drove his car to the Northern Dutchess Hospital, where he was treated and admitted for further observation.

Pays $185 Fines For 3 Violations Of Traffic Laws

A 21-year-old Highland young man was fined $185 Saturday afternoon, after he pleaded guilty before a Town of Marlboro justice of the peace to three vehicle and traffic violations.

State Police said Vernon A. Baker Jr., of Highland, was charged with driving a car with switched plates, without insurance and operating a motor vehicle at a speed not reasonable or prudent. Fines were imposed by Justice of the Peace John Mataraza.

Troopers reported Baker was driving south on Route 9W north of Marlboro, when the vehicle veered into a parking lot at the Blossom Farm Inn, hit a parked car, forced it into another and then Baker's car hit a pole and tree and overturned.

Baker apparently escaped injury. A passenger, 14-year-old Beverly Orlando, Highland, was taken to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, and treated for a fractured leg. Ralph Brown, 17, also of Highland, and passenger in the Baker car, received injuries of his right leg.

It was reported Baker's father paid the fines.

Wet and Cloudy Weather Covers Wide Area Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wet and cloudy weather covered wide areas of the nation today, with rain in many areas in the eastern half of the country and snow in north and western sections.

The wet belt extended from the eastern Gulf states through the upper Great Lakes region and into the northern Rockies and southward into Utah.

Heavy rain Sunday pelted areas in the Southeast and from the central Gulf states northward into the middle Mississippi Valley. Heaviest rains during the night were in parts of Mississippi and northern Alabama. More than three inches fell in Meridian, Miss., and nearly two inches in Birmingham, Ala., during a six-hour period.

Snow fell in parts of Montana, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska. Strong northeasterly winds caused much blowing and drifting of snow. Cold air spread across most of the snow-covered areas.

Tornadoes struck near Ruston in northern Louisiana and Mineola in eastern Texas Sunday, causing property damage but no injuries.
